EAGLE'S WING OVER PANAMA

Junta Hears Threats of Colombian Delegates With Calmness.

FUTILE PLEA MADE

COMMISSIONERS IN NEW YORK

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

Colon, Nov. 17.—Panama's delegates to the peace conference today flatly rejected all overtures of the republic of Colombia to again place their country under the rule of that republic. The conference was held here on board the Mayflower and lasted several hours, every detail in the controversy being thrashed out before the answer was given.

During the conference, Nicanor Insignares, a brother of the governor of the state of Bolivar, who was the spokesman of the Colombians, made a strong appeal to the Panamanians not to disrupt the republic of Colombia and he supplemented his appeal by the solemn assurance that Colombia would grant all the rights demanded by the Isthmians and eventually carry out their grand porject of building the canal.

Replying to Senor Insignares, Senor Toams Arias, representing the junta, said that the Bogota government and the Colombians generally did not appear to grasp the actual conditions prevailing on the isthmus. The revolution, Senor Arias said, was born absolutely of the unanimous desire of the entire people of Panama and was irrevocable. It was the act of a now independent government already thoroughly organized and formally recognized by the United States government in receiving its representative, Senor M. Philippe Bunau-Varilla, as well as by the governments of France and Italy.

Colombians Make Threats.

Senor Arias then read telegrams which had been sent to General Salazer, former governor of the department of Panama and now governor of Cauca, one of the United States of Colombia, containing statements to the same effect. Continuing, Senor Arias said:

"Colombia will always find in this country the most sincere brotherly feeling. The political ties binding the isthmus to Colombia have been broken, but the fault is not that of the isthmus. The ties of affection, however, never can be broken off."

Senor Insignares in answer expressed his deep sorrow at finding that the hopes of reconciliation were impossible of realization and that the actions of the people of the isthmus of Panama were irrevocable. He declared that all the people of Colombia would unite in an effort to enforce the rights of the republic on the isthmus of Panama even at the cost of great sacrifices. Senores Arosemona and Morales then delivered addresses in which they expressed views similar to those enunciated by Senor Arias.

The threat of Senor Insignares that the republic of Colombia would enforce its alleged rights in isthmian territory did not cause apprehension to the Panamanian commissioners who received it with equanimity and did not give it any serious consideration.

It was unofficially announced by the

GUATEMALA SENTIMENT FAVORABLE TO PANAMA

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—The following cablegram has been received by the Herald in reply to a request for a statement of the attitude of the government of Guatemala toward the new republic of Panama:

"In Guatemala the recognition of the republic of Panama as a nation by the United States is regarded as a matter wholly within its rights. In Guatemala, Panama's sovereignty will be observed and respected.

"This nation, as a matter of fact, believes that the resolution for the establishment of the republic is valid under international law. Guatemala, however, up to the present time, has received no information or communication from the people of Panama or Colombia other than such as is contained in the public press.

VEILED HAND IN THE CASE

ENEMIES AT WORK

SUMMER'S PLACE THREATENED

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

Omaha, Neb., Nov. 17.—The indictments by the federal grand jury in the Dietrich-Fisher case give promise of bringing a climax to a partisan warfare in the state Republican party that has been waged since United States Senator Dietrich was governor of this state and refused to pardon the defaulting ex-state treasurer, "Joe" Bartley.

Developments today were few here, but Senator Dietrich has enlisted Senator Hanna in his interest and those in touch with the situation assert District Attorney Summers will not be given an opportunity to try the case. Postmaster Fisher today furnished bonds in the sum of $1,000 in each of the indictments, and Senator Dietrich has sent word that he will waive the protection afforded United States senators from arrest and demand an immediate trial.

The indictments grew out of the establishment of the postoffice in a building owned by Senator Dietrich at Hastings, and the appointment of Fisher as postmaster. The rental of the building was in excess of that asked for another location and Fisher and his deputy agreed to pay the difference to Senator Dietrich.

According to the story of the friends of the two indicted officials, as soon as it was found that there was irregularity in the proceeding, the payments were stopped and the money returned. Strong political enmity is said to be back of the prosecution and Senator Dietrich's bold statement of persecution is received here with enthusiasm by his supporters.

District Attorney Summers refused to give any information concerning the indictments but the charge that he had been abusive to witnesses called forth a vigorous denial. However, William Dutton and Elliott Lowe, who were before the grand jury allege unfair treatment.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—Senator Dietrich, accompanied by Senator Hanna and Editor Rosewater of the Omaha Bee, called on Attorney General Knox today and conferred with him regarding the case of District Attorney Summers, and the trial of the charge of conspiracy and bribery against the senator, in connection with the appointment of Postmaster Fisher. The senator said he intended to go to Nebraska to stand trial but felt that his case would be prejudiced if Summers has charge of the prosecution.

May Remove Summers.

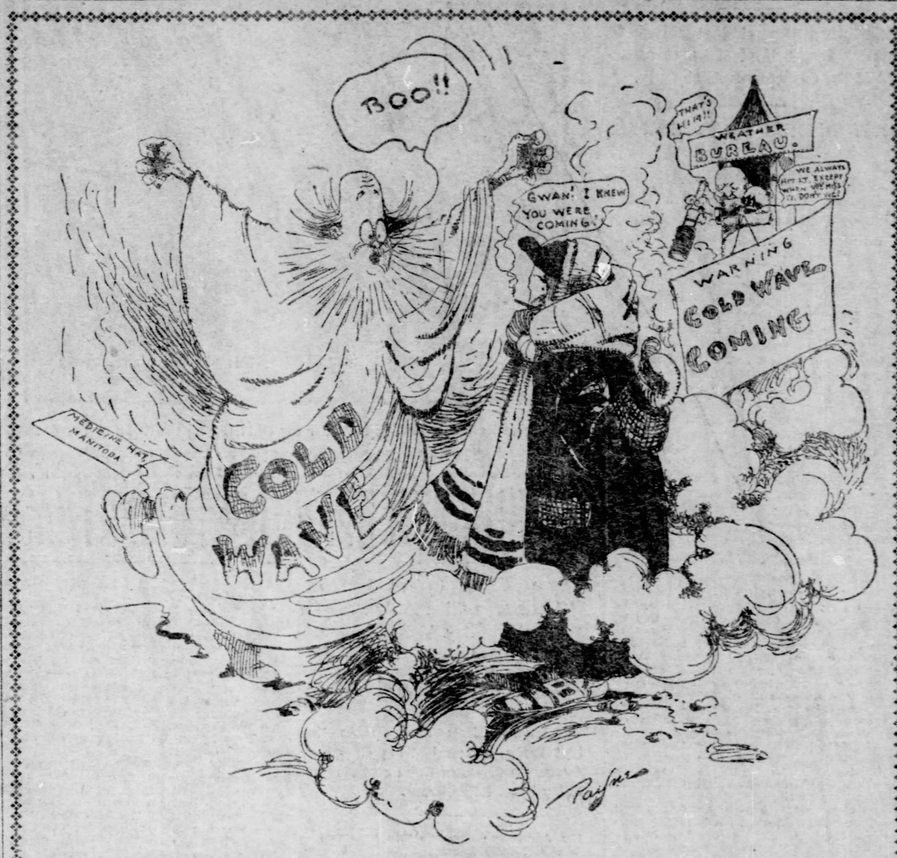
As a result of the talk with the attorney general, the latter will consult with the president and it is probable that Summers will be relieved from the conduct of the Dietrich case and that Assistant District Attorney Rush of Nebraska, or some attorney from the department of justice at Washington will be detailed to manage the prosecution. The question of District Attorney Summer's retention in office also came up, but it cannot be learned that any promise was made by the attorney general in the matter.

Senator Dietrich tonight, in speaking about the indictment against him, said:

I shall immediately go to Nebraska and insist upon a trial. I am confident that my innocence will be easily established. For 25 years I have figured in Nebraska as a private citizen, governor and senator, and my aim has always been for the promotion of the state's good name. This charge is absolutely false.

Bitter factional fights have existed in my home county for many years, and as a result of these differences I have naturally incurred many enmities, not only in politics, but in business. My refusal, while governor, to pardon Joseph Bartley, a defaulter to the state for $600,000, incurred the displeasure of powerful interests and I have since been antagonized by them. I incurred the inveterate enmity of the former postmaster of Hastings by the appointment of Mr. Fisher, my intimate friend for 20 years.

I have also incurred the active hostility of W. S. Summers, the United States district attorney for Nebraska, by my efforts to bring about his removal from office, not because I favored another, but because I believed for many reasons he should have been removed long ago, and the machinery of the federal court has been set in motion and clearly directed to injure me and continue himself in office.



NO SURPRISE.

TOWER OPERATOR SHOT BY ITALIAN

ASSAILANT MADE HIS ESCAPE

Bellevernon, Pa., Nov. 17.—William Kelsey, aged 23, of Jamestown, N. Y., was probably fatally shot this evening at East Charleroi station, receiving a bullet intended for John Love, a Pittsburgh & Lake Erie conductor. The shot was fired by an Italian, who had been ejected from a train for refusing to pay his fare. The man escaped. Kelsey was removed to the McKeesport hospital on a special train. He was wounded in the back.

The Italian who did the shooting boarded southbound train No. 36 at Monessen with a number of his countrymen. When Conductor Love asked for his fare the Italian refused to pay and began to use abusive language. When the train arrived at East Charleroi he was put off. Conductor Love also got off to register. Kelsey, who is day operator at the tower, boarded the train and was watching the foreigner going down over the hill. Just at the moment Kelsey reached the platform the Italian turned around, pulled a revolver and fired at Brakeman C. H. Hurst, evidently mistaking him for the conductor. The bullet struck Kelsey almost in the middle of the neck.

As soon as he saw Kelsey fall the Italian fled in the direction of Monessen. Officers in all the surrounding towns have been notified to be on the lookout for him.

Kelsey has been on this division only a few weeks, coming here from the main line. During the summer he was located at Aliquippa. His father, E. E. Kelsey, of Jamestown, N. Y., is an old soldier and a retired railroad man, residing on East Second street. Kelsey was married only two months ago.

SOCIETY WOMEN ASK POLICE PROTECTION

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—Stirred by the appeal of society women at the horse show for protection from the annoyance of dressmakers, who pursue them around the promenade and stand in front of the arena boxes making notes and sketches of their gowns, Inspector McClusky this afternoon sent 14 detectives from the central office to Madison Square garden. One of the detectives said:

"We consider it our duty to see that society women who happen to wear strikingly beautiful costumes are not annoyed. Anyone who lays a hand on a woman's gown for the purpose of ascertaining the texture of the fabric or who persistently follows the wearer, causing her annoyance, will be arrested for malicious mischief. We shall keep our eyes open for such offenders."

Among those who have been compelled to ask for police interference, are said to be Mrs. Alfred G. Vanderbilt and her mother, Mrs. Frances French. Many of the other prominent boxholders have been similarly annoyed with resultant complaints. One woman today stood directly in front of Mrs. Alfred G. Vanderbilt's box and in full view of the passing throng made diagrams of the hats and gowns worn by Mrs. Vanderbilt and her mother.

Detective Hurries East from Utah With Evidence for Anti-Smoot Fight.

SALT LAKE, UTAH., Nov. 17.—(Special.)—Charles M. Owen, the detective who has been working up the polygamy cases for the club women of New York and Brooklyn, received rush orders today from the managers of the anti-Smoot fight to report in Washington. Owen started east today with a choice selection of polygamy evidence. It is understood that this proof will be presented to the easterners and if they approve, more arrests will be made.

Owen is employed by a combination of leading women's clubs in the east. Mrs. Darwin J. James of Brooklyn is at the head of the movement and heavy contributions have been made by Helen Gould. These have made it possible for the clubs to set the detective on the trail of the polygamists. Owen's sudden call to Washington indicates that things are reaching a climax in the Smoot case and that there will be some surprising developments when he reaches the capital.

CHRISTIAN WORKERS WARNED BY PATTON

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—President Patton of Princeton Theological seminary made an address tonight on "A Century of Presbyterian Doctrine" at the centennial services of the New York Avenue Presbyterian church. He deplored the state of the so-called Christianity of today, characterized it as "a dire disease," and foretold a "great defection," which would come to all churches in the future. He ridiculed those who, he declared, reduced Christianity to a mere set of morals and lost sight of the individual soul in their efforts to reform society as a whole.

BONE OF A MONSTER STALLS STEAM DREDGE

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—(Special.)—While workmen were dredging at Rockaway the dredge bucket stuck and all efforts failed to move it. A huge bone was found deeply embedded in the sand. The bone is 14 feet in length, flat on one side, and about four feet in circumference. Several scientists have examined the bone, but so far no one has been able to tell what fish or animal it was once a part of.

MADE NO MOVE IN PENNSY WAR

Attorney General Carson Denies That He Has Acted for the Rockefeller Interests.

NO LETTERS WERE WRITTEN

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau,
Press Building.
PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 17.

The report that Attorney General Hampton L. Carson had written the Pennsylvania Railroad Company in regard to the construction of a railroad in the southern section of the state was denied by him today.

It was asserted that Mr. Carson had acted in behalf of the "Rockefeller-Gould-Carnegie interests," who, it was said, would build the road, unless A. J. Cassatt, president of the Pennsylvania railroad, resigned and turned the management of the great system over to the Standard Oil interests. In other words, Mr. Carson had been used to act as a lever to an ultimatum laid down by John D. Rockefeller. In speaking of the report Mr. Carson said:

"This story, so far as I am concerned, is entirely false. I have never received any communication from the 'Rockefeller-Gould-Carnegie interests,' nor have I communicated with the Pennsylvania Railroad Company in any way.

"I may add that this detail of the story is ridiculous. There is only one way to get before the attorney general of Pennsylvania. The persons interested would have to draw up a formal petition. Then they would have to serve 'the other side' with a copy. When I was convinced that this had been done, I would set a day for a formal hearing in the case."

INSURGENTS BOMBARDING THE CITY OF SAN DOMINGO

Political Situation Is Serious and Street Fighting Is Expected—United States Minister Powell Has Little Protection.

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

SAN DOMINGO, Nov. 17.—The political situation is serious. The insurgents are bombarding the city. Gens. Wenceslao Figuero and Juan Francisco Sanchez are refugees in the foreign legations. The city is completely invested by 4,000 men under Pichardo and four other generals.

A general attack is expected within the next few days. Gen. Wos y Gil refuses to capitulate, and it is believed that the fighting will be severe.

The United States cruiser Baltimore has been compelled to leave to recoal. United States Minister Powell is endeavoring to protect American interests with the limited means at his disposal. A German naval vessel is ready to land troops at a moment's notice. The insurgents endeavored to have Minister Powell recognize them, but this the minister refused to do.

The revolutionists fired on the Clyde line steamer New York as she was entering the port of Samana. The vessel was uninjured.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—The revolutionists of San Domingo today applied to the state department for recognition by the United States. The application was presented to the department by J. M. Giordan. The state department informed Mr. Giordan that it is the policy of the state department to recognize only de facto governments.

AMERICA GETS BRITISH TRADE

Yankees Outwit English in Supplying South Africa.

IMPORTS INCREASING

United States Manufacturers Prepared to Meet Rapidly Growing Demands.

BRITONS LACK ENTERPRISE

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

London, Nov. 17.—The board of trade today issued an interesting blue book containing the report of Henry Birchenough, a writer on statistical and political subjects, who was sent to South Africa as a special commissioner to inquire into the present condition and prospects of British trade in that country.

In his report Commissioner Birchenough lays stress on the magnitude of the South African market, which, he says has increased 250 per cent in 10 years, the greatest increase, however, having been shown in the last two years. The value of this trade exceeds $235,000,000 and the commissioner says that the rapidity with which South Africa has come to the front as a great market for the exploitation of British manufactures is almost startling.

Commissioner Birchenough points out that a decade ago British exports to South Africa were under $45,000,000 while during the last year they exceeded $130,000,000. In 1893 South Africa stood sixth in the list of Great Britain's customers, but last year it was only beaten by India. The commissioner predicts that South Africa will this year be the largest buyer in the world of the produce and manufactures of the mother country.

While there is a strong sentiment in favor of British goods, British manufacturers, especially those in the engineering trade, show a decided lack of vigor and enterprise. Their most serious competitors are the manufacturers of the United States and Germany. American rivalry is in concentrated and well defined branches of trade, but in the natural products, such as foodstuffs, timber and paraffine which forms a large proportion of American imports to South Africa, the United States competes with Australia and Canada but not with Great Britain.

Commissioner Birchenough points out that competition from the United States is materially aided by the low freight rates at which competing British vessels carry American cargoes. The commissioner summarizes the causes of successful foreign competition, naming among them the superiority of some of the natural resources of foreign countries, the greater exercise of ingenuity and inventiveness, a closer study of the requirements of those with whom they deal, greater alertness and less conservatism, the superiority of some of their business methods, their closer adherence to contract dates of delivery, the adoption of standardization and the better finish and makeup of their goods, as well as the fact that their products are dumped from protected home markets.

MRS. ROOSEVELT MEETS SISTER AT THE PIER

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—(Special.)—Miss Emily Carew, sister of Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, for whom the wife of the president has been waiting in this city for several days, returned to America today on the Holland-American liner Staatendam after an 18 months' residence on the Italian Riviera. Mrs. Roosevelt was at the pier in Hoboken to meet her sister. The baggage of the party was checked for Washington, where Mrs. Roosevelt returned with Miss Carew this afternoon.

ENGINEER M'CABE WAS STRUCK DEAD IN CAB

Tragic, but Simple Accident on the Pennsylvania Railroad—A Life Lost, but Hardly Any Damage Was Done.

After having passed through many a railroad accident unscathed, John W. McCabe, one of the oldest engineers in point of service on the Pennsylvania railroad, was instantly killed last night. It was a peculiar accident, one that is rare, although every railroad engineer is exposed to it at all times. Because a freight car on an adjoining track jumped the rails, McCabe was killed. The fireman in the same cab was not injured.

McCabe was the engineer of the second section of the westbound mail train, due in Pittsburgh at 7 p. m. The train was composed entirely of mail cars. It had reached Thirty-third street. On the adjoining track was a freight train going east. One of the cars of the freight train, loaded with machinery from the Westinghouse works, jumped the track and one end of it was twisted toward the track on which the mail train was running. The end of the freight car did not project far enough to touch the boiler of the mail train locomotive, but it caught the cab, which projects about a foot beyond the boiler. McCabe was sitting on that side. The car tore out the entire side of the cab striking McCabe on the forehead felling him at the feet of the fireman and killed him instantly. The end of the car struck the edge of the tender, but did not wreck it.

The mail train stopped within the length of the engine. McCabe's body was removed and an investigation made. It was found that the setting of the airbrakes had caused the train to stop, and as the collision had torn out the air brake valve in the cab it was at first thought that perhaps the loss of the valve in the cab had caused the brakes to set automatically. Railroad men, however, believe that McCabe saw the freight car leave the track and set the air brakes himself, thus losing the moment of time which would have permitted him to spring to safety on the other side.

The engineer's corpse was removed to Samson's undertaking establishment, where it was identified by his brother, George McCabe, a Panhandle railroad engineer, who had just come off duty and heard of the accident. The body was not mangled, only the forehead being slightly crushed.

McCabe lived at No. 416 Euclid avenue with his wife, his only child, a daughter, being married. He was 51 years old and had been with the Pennsylvania railroad 33 years as fireman and engineer. In his career he had been suspended only two days, and that penalty was imposed because he ran his locomotive for several minutes, not knowing that the fireman had forgotten to hang out the proper lights. He never took a drop of intoxicating liquor in his life. He was born near the site of the present Larimer station in Westmoreland county.

KING OF THE BELGIANS TO VISIT UNITED STATES

BRUSSELS, Nov. 17.—It is definitely decided that King Leopold will visit the United States in the spring and attend the St. Louis exposition.

FIVE HUNDRED WITHOUT PAY

No Money for Highway and Sewer Employes This Month.

LARKIN VERY ANGRY

AROUSED BY ATTACKS ON HIM

"There are nearly 500 employes in the bureau of highways and sewers who cannot be paid this month, because there is not enough money left in the appropriation for the bureau, and Director E. M. Bigelow is responsible for the deficiency," said Controller Larkin yesterday.

"This is the first time that I have said this. Mr. Bigelow has been trying to put the blame for the deficiency upon the finance committee and myself, and I have become tired of it. The fact is when we were making up the appropriations for this year Dr. McCandless, who was then director of public works asked for an appropriation of $361,833 for the bureau of highways and sewers, which was more by $100,000 than he had spent in 1902 and $270,000 than had been appropriated in 1901.

'For the reason that Mr. Bigelow had 10 years' experience in the public works department, his advice was asked in making up the appropriations for the public works department. Another reason for consulting him was because he was expected to be appointed director of public works.

"Mr. Bigelow appeared before the finance committee twice and asked for only $325,000. He said with $325,000 he could run his department all right and 'make money;' to use his own words. We gave him $41,000 more than he asked, to allow for an increase in the wages of the laborers. He said by increasing the wages he could get a better class of men and would not need so large a force as had been employed formerly. It had been the custom to employ old men principally, and Mr. Bigelow said that with 400 good men he could do as much work as he could with 450 or 500 men of the class that had formerly been employed.

"We, therefore, gave him just what he asked for, with the understanding that he would not employ more than 400 men and that $366,000 would be sufficient to see him through the entire year.

"Instead of lasting him for the whole year, the funds for this bureau are all gone with three more months of the year left. I don't see where the money to pay the men this month even is to come from.

"'Director Bigelow was given more money this year to spend than he ever got before. Never until 1902, when $474,000 was spent by Director McCandless, was the appropriation more than $318,000."

The quotations on black steel sheets will hereafter be $47 a ton on number 28 gauge, as a basis. The former price was $55. No Settlement in Sight.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—Henry Wellman, counsel for the bondholders of the United States Shipbuilding Company tonight denied that any negotiations were in progress for a settlement of the controversy over the receivership. He claims the only settlement that can be made is one that will reorganize the corporation and properly protect the bondholders.

SENATORS SEEM INDIFFERENT TO FLOOD OF SMOOT PETITIONS

Conviction Is Expressed That the Mormon Will Retain His Senate Seat.

UTAH MAN DEFENDS HIS CASE

Insists He's No Polygamist and That His Church Is Not Political Hierarchy as Charged—Has Confidence in the Result.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU, Room 10, Postal Building, WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 17.

Another flood of Smoot petitions descended upon the senate today. They came from all sections of the country, signed by church organizations, debating societies, temperance unions and plain citizens. Some demanded the expulsion of Senator Smoot from his seat, others asked for an amendment of the Constitution to prohibit polygamy, and others merely petitioned the senate to examine into the facts and deal promptly with the Mormon senator as it saw fit. Senators Quay and Penrose both introduced a large number of these petitions, which, with others, were referred to the committee on privileges and elections.

The campaign against Senator Smoot is being conducted earnestly and with energy. But will it result in the expulsion of Mr. Smoot from the senate? That is the question that is being asked in the face of the flood of public opinion that is being poured in upon the committee. It can be said that the opinion of the majority of the members of the senate at this time is that Senator Smoot will retain his seat. Developments that may come with the consideration of the case by the committee on privileges and elections may change the sentiment, but at present it is strongly in favor of Senator Smoot. Senators will not permit themselves to be quoted on object this time for obvious reasons and few of them will say definitely how they expect to vote when the report of the committee is made, but from a word here and there and from the tiny straws that indicate the direction of the wind, it is easily seen that the general impression is that the case against Smoot will be too weak to warrant his expulsion.

Senator Smoot himself has faith that his colleagues will stand by him. When asked today if he thought he would have a majority with him when his case come up, he said: "I am sure a majority of the senators will vote in my favor. Why should they not? There is no reason for my expulsion unless it is that I am a Mormon, and I am not ashamed of that. The only charge that has been made against me is the false one of polygamy, and that cannot be substantiated. I am no polygamist. My life is open to investigation and I am not afraid to have it examined.

"The charge that the Mormon church is a political hierarchy is absolutely false. One of the articles of faith to which all Mormons must subscribe says that members of the church must be true and loyal to the laws of the country in which they reside. This of itself answers the charge that the church is a political hierarchy.

"If I am unseated there can only be one reason given for it, and that is I am a member of the Mormon church. I am not in the least worried about the matter, for I know that there is no just reason for unseating me and therefore believe that no such action will be taken."

Cabinet Considers Canal Matter.

The cabinet meeting today was confined to a discussion of the question whether the president is able to proceed with the Panama canal project under the terms of the Spooner amendment or whether it will be necessary for the congress to enact new legislation. The Spooner amendment provides for the construction of the canal by the Panama route, if the president could acquire from the republic of Colombia perpetual control of a strip of land not less than six miles wide on such terms as might be deemed reasonable. Failing in this the people should proceed to construct the canal by the Nicaraguan route, securing terms from Nicaragua and Costa Rica that would be mutually agreeable. Now since the negotiations with Colombia came to naught and the sovereignty over the canal strip has passed from Colombia to the republic of Panama there is a difference of opinion as to whether the president has the right to make the necessary arrangements with the new government or whether a new act substituting the republic of Panama for Colombia will be required. The administration is committed to the Panama route and intends to use the route so that the only question is the one of authority under the Spooner amendment. Senator Spooner had an interview with the president but he declined to give his views on the subject for publication.

At today's meeting Secretary Hay laid before the cabinet the protest against the action of this government forwarded to the president of the senate by President Marroquin of Colombia. It has not yet been decided whether this communication will be formally recognized by President Roosevelt owing to the irregular channel through which it was sent.

Champ Clark Champs His Bit.

The Hon. Champ Clark, the deep-voiced Democratic orator from Missouri, stirred up some fun in the house today when he made a speech on the Cuban tariff bill. The first part of his remarks were devoted to the rule under which the bill was considered and to the speech of Representative Dalzell referring to the drastic rule under which the Wilson bill was passed.

"In beginning," said Mr. Clark, "I want to congratulate my friend from Pittsburgh, Mr. Dalzell, upon his delivery for the thirty-seventh time of that remarkable speech on the results of the Wilson tariff bill. If practice makes perfect, that should be the most remarkable piece of oratory that ever fell from the lips of man."

The he proceeded to enumerate the offenses that Mr. Dalzell had committed in reporting rules that displeased the minority, bellowing his disapproval in a voice that could be heard almost at the opposite end of the capitol. The house enjoyed it and nobody more than Mr. Dalzell, who remarked, "My, if I had known it was going to hurt so, I would not have done it."

This stirred the Hon. Champ to more vociferous remarks, in which he predicted the election of a Democratic president and a Democratic congress next year and the utter dissolution of the Republican party, all of which was put down as one of the Hon. Champ's jokes.

tion in the house of representatives was held at the capitol this morning at which 24 out of 32 members were present. An organization was effected by the election of Gen. Bingham of Philadelphia as chairman and Arthur T. Bates of Meadville secretary.

A resolution was passed expressing the sense of the delegation that a rivers and harbors bill should be enacted at this session and that a provision should be made for a 35-foot channel from Philadelphia to the sea. Another resolution was passed urging upon the speaker that all contested election cases should be disposed of as soon as possible. This action refers especially to the contest of William Connell of Scranton for the seat of George Hawell, although this case is not specially mentioned. In this meeting Philadelphia has set an example for the promoters of the 9-foot channel of the Ohio river. The action today puts the Pennsylvania delegation on record as favorable to the improvement asked by Philadelphia. If the Ohio River Improvement association could secure such united action upon the part of delegations from the states that are interested in the improvement of the Ohio river, there would be more chance of getting the appropriation desired for making the survey, that is the first step in the project.

Charleroi Wants Public Building.

Representative Acheson today introduced a bill appropriating $125,000 for the public building at Charleroi, Pa. The "model city of the Monongahela," as Mr. Acheson calls it. The gross receipts for this postoffice and nine other small offices within a radius of two miles of it were $42,620 last year. Mr. Acheson also introduced a bill granting the Mercantile Bridge Company the right to build a bridge across the Monongahela river between North Charleroi, Washington county, and Rostraver township, West Moreland county. He also requested Second Assistant Postmaster General Shallenberger to put a postal car on the Pittsburgh and Charleroi division of the Pittsburgh Railways Company.

The nomination of John C. Bailey to be postmaster at Ford City, Pa., was withdrawn from the senate yesterday. It was done by the president and the excuse given was that the name had been sent in by mistake. David Reynolds, Sr., has been recommended for the place, and his nomination will be sent to the senate soon.

Capital News in Paragraphs.

The senate committees appointed by the Republican caucus to fill vacancies on standing committee held its first meeting today. The report that Senator Morgan will withdraw from the committee when he is deposed from the chairmanship, which it has been decided shall go to Senator Hanna, is not credited by either Republicans or Democrats.

Representative Richardson of Tennessee introduced a bill to place all the trust made articles on the free list and to reduce the rate for duty on all articles manufactured in the United States and sold more cheaply abroad than in this country.

A memorial was laid before the house today by Speaker Cannon informing the world that the 300th anniversary of the first English-speaking settlement in America at Jamestown, Va., would be celebrated by a naval, marine and industrial exposition at Hampton Roads, Va., beginning May 13, 1907.

The Democratic steering committee spent three hours today in filling minority vacancies on committees. Senator Teller will retire from the committee on finance and resume his old place on the judiciary committee. This will leave three Democratic vacancies on the finance committee and they will be filled by Senators Dubois, Gorman and Bailey.

ALTOONA BILL'S PLEA.

Urges Cause of Aged Mother When Sentenced for Ohio Postoffice Robbery.

CLEVELAND, Nov. 17.—(Special.)—William Daily, known as "Altoona Bill," convicted of complicity in the Garretsville postoffice robbery, was today sentenced to five years in the Ohio penitentiary.

"If your honor please, I am innocent of this charge," Daily said, when the court asked him if he had anything to say for himself.

"I admit that I have done wrong at times in the past, but I had reformed before I was arrested. I have been persecuted by certain police officials and had nothing to do with the Garretsville postoffice robbery. I had been supporting my aged mother. I was on my way home when I was arrested. I don't ask any favors for myself, but my mother needs me for her support and I was trying to earn money for her when the law put me in jail."

STREET CAR MEN WANT TO CONFER

Executive Board Instructed to Try to Adjust Differences With Company Amicably.

LAST NIGHT'S MASS MEETING

Demand for Increased Wages Has Been Dropped, but Indications Are That a Stand Will Be Made for Recognition of the Union.

An important mass meeting of the members of division No. 85, Amalgamated Association of Street Electrical Employes of America, was held at Old city hall last night. It was a secret session, beginning at 8 o'clock and continuing until nearly midnight. About 1,200 of the reputed membership of 2,500 were present.

It was voted to give the executive board full power to act in dealing with the Pittsburgh Railways Company in the matter of demands that have been made. Rezin Orr, the national secretary arrived during the meeting and he will head the board in deciding what methods to pursue. The board will confer with the officials of the railways company today and endeavor to arrive at a settlement.

Due Notice of Strike Will Be Given.

If the company refuses to recognize the union and grant some of the demands made, then another mass meeting will be held at which a referendum vote will be taken on the question whether or not to strike. If the vote results in favor of a strike then the national executive board will be asked to sanction it and the local executive board will notify the company when the strike will go into effect. It was brought out at the meeting that the employes as a body do not want a strike, but there is a sentiment that is making itself felt which demands that a recognition of the organization as a union be insisted upon, and that this recognition be made not only verbally, but in black and white as well.

The object of last night's meeting was to discuss the demands made of the railways company. The original demands called for an increase in wages among other things, but this feature was promptly waived yesterday afternoon.

Wages Are Satisfactory.

This was done when it was learned that the officials of the Railways company had in their possession four largely signed papers, voluntarily presented by employes working on the West End, the South Side and two of the Allegheny divisions, in which it was set forth that the employes were satisfied with the conditions and wages now existing and that they were not interested in any move to demand more wages and better hours.

The receipt of these papers was a genuine surprise to the company, and it was equally surprising to the committeemen of Division No. 85 who were making the demands. The committee men were shown the papers during a conference with the company officials and the increased wage feature was thereafter promptly dropped.

Union Will Not Be Recognized.

The company at the outset, at the time the proposed new agreement was presented, Saturday, refused to sign and made it plain that at no time would the union be recognized.

Three propositions were presented for discussion at last night's meeting. The first, and most important was whether or not the company should be forced to recognize the union. Second, whether all matters connected with the demand should be left in the hands of arbitrators, and third, whether the company should be allowed to grant certain demands without signing an agreement.

Yesterday morning Business Agent H. C. Williams, and the executive board called in a Mr. Callery, vice president of the Railways company. Mr. Callery informed them that he could not confer with them as an executive body, but suggested that five representative men meet him at 2 o'clock. C. Williams, John Dooley, S. V. Reeves, William Hoff and J. J. Thorp were appointed for this purpose.

Callery Listened to Grievances.

The executive board had arranged for a meeting at the same hour but postponed it. The committee was received by President Callery and General Superintendent Murphy. President Callery asked the men if they had any grievances. He was told that several workmen had been discharged because they were members of the union and the committee cited names and circumstances which were alleged to prove this contention. President Callery stated that he would have these cases investigated.

Next the committee asked that two straight turns be established and the "swing runs" be abolished. This President Callery could not agree to. In the morning and evening when the people go to and from work every car is put on the road. The men having charge of the extra cars during the morning and evening rush are filling the so-called "swing runs." By putting on two straight turns there would be the same number of cars running through the day as there are in the rush hours.

Moderation Was Advised.

Several minor grievances, which had never reached President Callery, were brought out at the conference. Before the meeting adjourned President Callery advised the committee not to take any serious action until he had been given time to investigate the grievances. He also informed them that he would immediately look into the schedule and if possible improve the runs so as to abolish as many "swing runs" as practicable.

The committee went to the headquarters of the union and met the executive board. The board went into session at 5 o'clock and mapped out a plan for the mass meeting. It was decided to state to the members what took place at the conference with the company and suggest that a referendum vote be taken on the three questions mentioned.

TWO CONFERENCES HELD

Mayor Harrison and a Peace Committee Meet the Strikers and the Traction Managers—Attempt Made to Force the System Into the Hands of a Receiver.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 17.—Bright and hopeful indications crowned the efforts of Mayor Carter Harrison and the special city council committee who listened to the statements from the street railroad officials and representatives of the unions this afternoon in the mayor's office.

At the close of a three hours' examination into the strike situation, Mayor Harrison and members of the committee said that tomorrow might see a common ground established between the railroad and the union, upon which arbitration could take place.

"I think we have made progress," said Mayor Harrison at the close of the meeting. "I might say I was agreeably disappointed in the progress apparently made. Whether tomorrow will lead a settlement I do not want to say. The prospects are very much better than I had believed they would be."

Arbitration failing in the present crisis thrust upon Chicago by the South Side street car men, eight divisions of organized trainmen on all the lines in Chicago, South Chicago and the Calumet region threaten to plunge the community into the greatest street railway strike in the city's history.

It is predicted such action would end in the calling of a general strike against the Union Traction Company, all the elevated companies, the South Chicago Electric Company, the Calumet Electric Company, the Chicago General Company, the Suburban Electric Company and the Chicago Electric Traction Company. This includes all the lines in Chicago and besides the trainmen, involves the shop and sheet iron men who are affiliated with the trainmen's organization.

The question of arbitration will be broached to the company's representatives tomorrow. The representatives of the union declared when before the committee today that they are ready to submit questions in dispute to arbitration. The work of the committee will be to secure the company's consent to arbitration and to narrow the estrangements down to differences of opinion.

President D. G. Hamilton, Joseph Leiter and General Counsel E. R. Bliss of the street railway company, did not meet the representatives of the unions before the committee. The trio, in response to Mayor Harrison's formal request, reached the mayor's office at 3:30 o'clock, and went immediately before the committee.

At the close of the interview, which lasted until 4:45 o'clock, they left the mayor's office hurriedly, by the private entrance. None would discuss what took place before the committee, though that no direct proposition of arbitration had been made was admitted by Mr. Bliss.

Mr. Hamilton and Mr. Leiter both shook their heads and refused to talk about the matter, but stepped into their carriages and were driven rapidly away.

As the three prominent men left the room by the private entrance of Mayor Harrison's office, Judge Prentis, Mr. Darrow and President Mahon of the union went through the public entrance.

The representatives of the unions were plied with the questions as to conditions, wages and the formation of the union. They said as to the purposes and uses, and all questions that would lead to the facts on their side of the case.

Another Meeting Today.

At their departure all three firmly declined to discuss the conference or divulge what took place except in a general way.

"I cannot tell how this will end," said Judge Prentiss. "It certainly looks bright but we cannot tell from here what can come of it. I am glad this opportunity has been afforded for a settlement, however."

The committee left the room shortly after 4 o'clock. All expressed themselves as hopeful of good results from the efforts of the committee. Tomorrow morning at 10:30 the street railroad men will again go before the committee, and when they have submitted their side of the subject the union's representatives will be called and given all the time necessary to go into the details of their condition.

The other important developments in the strike today were: A bill filed in the superior court asking that a receiver be appointed for the Chicago City railroad company and challenging the company's right to operate its lines, on the ground that its franchises expired last July and that the ninety-nine year act claim is invalid.

DEMOCRATS RAKE OVER OLD STRAW

LIVELY SESSION IN THE HOUSE

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—The house today resumed consideration of the Cuban bill. The only notable incidents of the day were the speeches of Mr. Stevens, a Republican member from Minnesota, who spoke in opposition to the bill and the speech of Mayor-elect McClellan of New York.

Mr. Stevens opposed the measure for reciprocity with Cuba at the last session. Today he argued that the bill was a "cruel blow" at one of the most promising agricultural industries of this country and that the measure will impede our vast foreign trade. Mr. McClellan delivered his valedictory to the house, making an argument in favor of the bill during the course of which he criticised the administration of Gen. Wood in Cuba and charged the Republicans with responsibility for what is lacking in the fulfillment of the duty of the United States to Cuba. Four hours were devoted today to debate on the measure, ten members speaking. Under the rule two days more are given for speeches.

Mr. Clark (Dem. Mo.) believed it the first duty of a Democrat to congratulate the Republicans "as the light is breaking in on them. Speaking of the rule cutting off amendments to the bill, Mr. Clark said the probability is that the Democrats will control the next house and elect the next president, adding, "The more of these ironclad rules you ram down our throats, the more you will have rammed down yours."

Respects to Uncle Mark.

Turning his attention to the Cuban bill, Mr. Clark declared with emphasis that the Republicans could not pass the bill without the Democratic vote in the house, adding, "And you know it."

Mr. Clark then got back to politics and quoted what he termed "Republican battle cries."

"Your Uncle Mark invented 'Let well enough alone.' He afterward converted this into 'Stand pat,' and then the able chairman of the ways and means committee, Mr. Payne, added a little 'Keep on letting well enough alone,' and then, when your Uncle Mark was being punched over the ropes out in Ohio, by Col. Theodore Roosevelt and Senator Joseph B. Forsker, he added, 'For God's sake let us keep on letting well enough alone.'"

Mr. McClellan, who will soon retire from congress to assume the duties of mayor of Greater New York, followed. He said there was an argument in favor of the enactment of the bill which rose above all others, and involved the duty and honor of the United States.

"As we have made it impossible for Cuba," said Mr. McClellan, "to seek alliances elsewhere, it is a duty we cannot shirk, to permit her to enter into the closest political and commercial relations with us."

Says Wood Was Extravagant.

"Two years ago Cuba was on the verge of bankruptcy, and that she has escaped ruin is not of our own doing. Any credit that she has been able to exist on all during the last two years is because of two reasons: First, the change in her government; second the marketing of an increased amount of sugar produced.

"In 1902 the spectacular and extravagant rule of Gen. Wood, having saddled upon Havana for 10 years the infamous gambling monopoly of the Societad Anonima, El Aial gave place to the conservative, economical, sensible and business-like administration of President Estrada Palma, who has proved himself on executive of the very highest order."

After quoting Secretary Shaw, McClellan said: "In other words, under President Estrada Palma the cost of government is over $7,000,000 less per annum than it was under Gen. Wood."

In conclusion Mr. McClellan said:

"And now at last, after years of waiting, after the spectacle of an insolent lobby practically dominating the congress, we propose to partially fulfill our pledge to Cuba by the passage of this tuperdy measure of relief that is warranted not to offend the susceptibilities of the most sensitive trust in existence. We have made a solemn promise to Cuba. If the Republican majority in its might is only willing to partially keep that promise, the blame and the shame rest with the Republican But the bill is unquestionably a breach in the wall of protection."

Colombian commissioners that Gen. Reyes, representing the Bogota government, was coming to the Isthmus to confer with the provisional government of Panama.

Dr. Pablo Arosemena, a lawyer of Panama who will sail for New York on the Seguranca, will act in an advisory capacity with Frederico Boyd and Dr. Manuel Amador, the commissioners of the new republic at Washington.

A dozen marines from the United States steamer Dixie have been ordered to remain ashore to act as signal men for the communication of routine messages between the shore and the United States fleet.

PANAMA, Nov. 17.—At 8:30 this morning the United States flagship Marblehead hoisted the flag of the republic of Panama and saluted it with 21 guns. The Tres Noviembre, a gunboat of Panama, displaying the American flag, answered the salute. The shore batteries also fired a salute of 21 guns, which the Marblehead answered.

At 10 a. m. Rear Admiral Glass, Consul General Gudger and Commander Phelps, accompanied by Lieuts. Philip Andrews and S. P. Treilinwider, officially called on the junta. A military band played "The Star Spangled Banner" on the Americans' arrival at the palace and on their departure from the building.

Ceremonies at Panama.

They were received by the members of the junta, the cabinet ministers and Generals Huertas, Jeffries, Diaz and Varon and their staffs. Admiral Glass said he was glad to officially call upon the government of the republic of Panama. It had been a great pleasure for him to salute this morning the flag of the new republic, for whose prosperity and greatness he made the best wishes.

Senor Arango, a member of the junta, answered, saying that in the name of the junta and of the people of Panama he expressed sincere pleasure at the presence of the gallant fleet in Panama bay, representing the noble people and government of the United States "to whom the isthmus is deeply grateful for the hand of fellowship so generously and promptly extended to them by its great president."

Mr. Gudger proposed a toast to a new Panama canal treaty which was answered by Gen. Varon, who toasted President Roosevelt and the United States army with great cordiality.

PANAMA DELEGATION ARRIVES AT NEW YORK

Come to Negotiate Canal Treaty — Pretty Story of Panama's First Flag.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—Flying the flag of the new republic of Panama, the steamship City of Washington arrived this morning from Colon. She was saluted as she came up the bay and the officers on the bridge were more than once forced to respond to the signals of passing craft. The City of Washington brought the commission appointed to visit Washington and with Bunau-Varilla, the new Panama minister, negotiate the new canal treaty. The commissioners are Frederico Boyd, a member of the triumvirate governing the new republic; Dr. Manuel Amador, minister of finance, and Carlos Arosemena, who has been appointed secretary of the Panama legation at Washington.

The City of Washington's flag was given her by R. L. Prescott, the station agent of the Panama railway at Panama, who was a passenger on the vessel. According to the donor, the flag, which is a very small one, is the first flag of the new republic to be made. The material had been gathered for months. It was gathered by Miss Maria Emelia Ossa of Panama, who ardently hoped for the success of secession.

It was finished the day young Prescott left Panama to take passage on the City of Washington. The vessel had been cleared by the new government, but the officials could not get a Panama flag. They were in a quandary until Prescott arrived with Miss Ossa's flag. He gave the flag to the ship's officers and so the City of Washington came into port this morning flying the first made flag of the republic to be saluted by the United States government in New York waters.

FRANCE RECOGNIZES REPUBLIC OF PANAMA

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—M. Bunau-Varilla, the minister of Panama, today notified all the European powers of the formation of the "independent and sovereign state of Panama."

The French ambassador, M. Jussarand, received the minister of Panama at the French embassy at 11 o'clock this morning. The reception constituted, it is explained by M. Bunau-Varilla, full recognition of the government de jure.

Negotiations of the new canal treaty are well under way already between M. Varilla and Secretary Hay. The commission which arrived in New York is not charged with the negotiation of a treaty. That power, M. Varilla explains, is fully vested in himself. But during the negotiations, should he find it necessary to ask his government for specific instructions on any point, he will save time by turning to the commissioner, which is expected here tomorrow instead of cabling to Panama.

The president laid before the cabinet today the protest of President Marroquin against the action of the United States in the Panama affair. It now appears that the president of the senate will not take original action on the protest. The technical point is made that nations address each other through their foreign offices and that the Marroquin document should have come through the state department. The president cut the gordian knot by taking the protest himself and the question is pending whether "a formal reply" shall be made to it.

TRADE GIANTS HEARD TRUTHS

SHIP SUBSIDY IS URGED

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—The one hundred and thirty-fifth annual dinner of the chamber of commerce was held tonight at Delmonico's, Morris K. Jesup, president of the chamber, presiding, with Secretary of the Treasury Shaw on his right and Gov. Odell on his left.

A letter was read from President Roosevelt expressing his regret over his inability to be in attendance. Secretary Shaw in his address said:

The only unprotected American industry is its merchant marine. If war were to be declared between any two of the great powers of Europe, our foreign commerce would be not only helpless but hopeless. I forbear reference to our military and naval condition in the absence of available colliers and transports were the United States to be involved in such a conflict. The proudest navy in the world is utterly worthless without coal.

As certain as the world revolves the time will come when our people will give more heed to securing a respectable share of the trade of South American republics, South Africa, the islands south of the equator and the countries washed by the Pacific ocean. The establishment of trade in these countries would be followed by American warehouses, American branch offices and American banks. The conflict between the great powers of the world is no longer military, but commercial.

Europe is not seeking to establish naval stations in the direction I have indicated, but she has already established commercial stations there, and out of these are liable to rise complications fully as intricate as vastly more delicate. Fortunately, the Venezuelan matter is being settled by arbitration. God grant that all difficulties of this character that may hereafter arise on the western hemisphere may be solved in the same way.

I am not contending for ship subsidies, if any more feasible course can be devised. But if ship subsidies will insure us a merchant marine then I am for some other measure. If several measures combined will insure a merchant marine, then I am for all such measures.

ENGINE KILLS TWO MEN.

Six Workmen Run Down by a Locomotive in Yards at Erie.

ERIE, PA., Nov. 17.—(Special.)—A frightful accident occurred on the tracks of the Pennsylvania railroad leading to the bay front, this evening. Six employes of the Hammermill Paper Company's works, walking on the tracks, were run into by a yard engine, and two were killed and others seriously injured.

Joseph Stombloski was instantly killed. Thomas Gresch had both legs and arms cut off, but lived long enough to be carried to St. Vincent's hospital where he died an hour later. Stombloski lived at 437 East Fifteenth street, where he had a wife and 11 children. Gresch was naturalized a week ago and is survived by his widow and three children at 629 East Fourteenth street.

"Mellor" Stands for Melody.

IN THE FRONT RANK

This perhaps accounts for the fact that so many Krakauer pianos have been sold in this city and vicinity.

The Krakauer is a piano of distinctive merit. It is noted for its faultless tonal qualities, and the tone as everybody knows, is the principal feature which should be considered in the selection of a piano.

The Krakauer takes its place among the high-class makes of pianos because it has earned this distinction. It has benefited by the improvements which have been made in pianos from time to time and its makers have succeeded in keeping it in the front ranks of the best grade of pianos.

The price of the Krakauer makes it especially attractive, as the cost is easily within the average means.

WILL BE KNOWN AS THE ORPHANS

Christening of the New Political Party Occurred in the Fourteenth Ward.

THEY MET WITH OPEN DOORS

Twentieth Ward Brethren Also Had a Gathering, but They Did Not Have the Lime Light Turned on—General Conference to Be Held Tonight.

Orphans will be the appellation used by the new political party in Pittsburgh. This name was adopted by the Fourteenth ward independents last night and the other wards will do likewise. The Fourteenth is the home of the original orphans, Controller John B. Larkin and councilman W. H. Stevenson.

The Twentieth ward Orphans also held a meeting last night, but unlike their brethren of the Fourteenth, they met behind closed doors. Every man entering the meeting place had to give his name and address and his political affiliation. At Stevenson's christening party, the doors were wide open and the lime light turned on.

About 50 men in sympathy with the Orphans met in the basement of the Bellefield school house last night to make plans for effecting a permanent organization in the Fourteenth ward. W. J. Moore, the original chairman of the Citizens party ward committee, presided. He said that he had made a careful study of the vote in the ward and was satisfied that with three tickets in the field the Orphans would poll not less than 1,400 votes and elect their candidates.

Will Be Called Orphans.

It was decided to call the new organization the "Orphans of the Fourteenth Ward." The Citizens party scheme of organizing was adopted. It provides for a district chairman, vice-chairman, secretary, treasurer and three delegates to the ward committee from each district. A recommendation was made that no city or county employe be named as district officers or ward committeemen.

A set of resolutions outlining the policy of the Orphans was adopted. In a preamble the reasons for the organization of the Orphans were set forth. The framers of the resolutions claim to be reliably informed that the Citizens leaders will try to deal with the Republicans, but give no facts for the basis of this assertion. This is the final resolution:

That the platform adopted by the Citizens party in 1902 is hereby adopted by the citizens and taxpayers of the Fourteenth ward, now called the Orphans, as their platform for the municipal campaign of 1904. That the candidates for the respective municipal offices of the Fourteenth ward be required to subscribe to the same and certify their willingness to abide by its obligations and sustain the pledges and principles therein contained.

It was decided to have the 16 districts of the ward organize before Tuesday night. On that evening the new ward committeemen are to meet in the Bellefield school house, elect permanent officers and possibly nominate the councilmanic ticket. It is probable that Moore will be made the ward chairman, but he told the meeting last night that it might be wise to select a new man.

Temporary Organization.

In order to start the organization in the districts, Chairman Moore appointed the following temporary district chairmen: First district, not selected; Second, P. H. Lynd; Third, W. G. Mahaffey; Fourth, E. Greenawalt; Fifth, P. J. McManus; Sixth, Benjamin Jones; Seventh, Thomas McKee; Eighth, John Badenaugh; Ninth, Joseph Painter; Tenth, George F. Kim; Eleventh, Thomas Stewart; Twelfth, A. W. Black; Thirteenth, C. R. Carson; Fourteenth, Mr. McCauley, if he will serve; Fifteenth, Henry Rosenfelder; Sixteenth, William Barnes. Some of these men were on the original Citizns party ward committee.

Councilman W. H. Stevenson made a short speech, in which he outlined the issues of the municipal election. He placed reduction in taxation and the passage of the railroad ordinances as the most important questions before the voters in February. Controller Larkin was not at the meeting.

The committee from the Fourteenth ward Citizens organization has not called upon Stevenson and Moore to ascertain if they intend to remain in the Citizens party. The action of last night will probably be sufficient answer. The Orphans will name a full councilmanic ticket in the ward and the Citizens will have to indorse it in its entirety or not at all. This policy will be followed in every ward of the city.

Twentieth Ward Meeting.

The Twentieth ward Orphans met at No. 4775 Liberty avenue. It was necessary to have the password to gain an entrance. There were 25 men able to get by the guard. A temporary ward organization was formed by the election of these officers: Oliver McClintock, chairman; S. B. Griffith, secretary; and S. Harvey Thompson, treasurer.

This committee on resolutions and platform was appointed: Oliver McClintock, Otto Herren, W. W. Wattles, Stewart Johnston and S. B. Griffith. When these men have completed their work Chairman McClintock will call a meeting of the ward organization to hear their report.

Speeches were made last night by S. Harvey Thompson, Oliver McClintock, S. B. Griffith, Steward Johnston, Thomas Lane, R. W. Guthrie and P. L. Pfarr.

The Orphans' central committee will meet tonight. These gatherings are secret.

MISTAKE WAS MADE.

Iron Molders' Official Says the Charges Against Manufacturers Were Unfounded.

Upon investigation, the iron molders of this district found the accusations that the National Founders' association had violated their agreement, were unfounded. The Mesta Machine Company was charged with discharging their men to re-employ them at a reduction. The men met Sunday in Old City hall and appointed a committee to confer with the manufacturers. It turned out yesterday that the workmen were mistaken, and so notified the association in the following communication:

Pittsburgh, Pa., Nov. 17, 1903.

I. W. Frank, President National Founders' Association, Pittsburgh, Pa. Dear Sir:—In this open letter I desire to correct a false impression that was printed over my signature in the Pittsburgh papers on the 15th inst., by which I had apparently accused the National Founders' association of violating its agreement.

I beg to say that this accusation was entirely wrong; that the association did not violate its agreement, but that one of the members had apparently violated a certain agreement made with the Iron Molders' union of this city, which I found, however, on investigation, was not the intent of the company, but was a misunderstanding by both the men and the company of their rights under the agreement in question. I further beg to state that at a conference held between the committee of manufacturers and the Iron Molders' union, that the rights of both parties were fully defined and that they are entirely satisfactory. I sincerely regret that this false impression has gone abroad, and beg to remain, yours truly,

JOHN BARNETT,
Business Agent Iron Molders' Union of N. A.

Ashley, corresponding secretary, Mrs. Robert Bryce; treasurer, Mrs. J. E. Williams. Application will be made for a charter and entertainments held to raise money.

LARKIN ADVOCATES USE OF THE WORD "ORPHAN"

Term Applied in Jest Will Be Adopted Permanently by New Political Party—Controller Gives His Reasons.

Controller Larkin said yesterday that name of "Orphan," applied in jest to the seceder from the Citizens party, would be adopted permanently by the new party which the controller and Councilman W. H. Stevenson are organizing for the February campaign.

Mr. Larkin believes the name of "Orphan" to be a good one and he gives his reasons why. The dictionary defines an "Orphan" as "a child deprived of its parents by death." The controller declares that the definition of the dictionary proves the right of his organization to the use of the title, for he claims that the original purpose of the Citizens party, from which his followers have seceded, is dead. He speaks from authority, as he was the first to use the term, applying it originally to himself when asked what party he belonged to. His adaptation of the word to the local political situation is as follows:

The people are the real "orphans." They have no one to represent or speak for them in councils except the men bearing that title, and the term is appropriate. Councils have been drag-netted and importuned to secure votes that were pledged before election to the people's interests, but without avail. The people are angered now at the treachery and are determined to have what they want or know the reason why. That's one reason; and another is that the term "orphan" has from the orginning of time appealed to all that is good and ennobling in men.

It is one of the most suggestive words in the English language, and is the most expressive term a helpless people could use. I like it because it invites help where help is most needed, and is a rallying cry for a cause that promised well and is looked forward to by adult and orphan as the one hope of a betrayed city.

BIG DIKES ALONG TURTLE CREEK

Retaining Walls, Five Miles Long, to Be Built to Keep Floods Out.

Dikes five miles long and about 15 to 20 feet high, are proposed by the people of the Turtle Creek valley to protect themselves from the ravages of the Turtle creek in flood time. Danger from floods has been added by the decision of the government to rebuild Lock No. 2 below the mouth of the creek. A joint meeting of the councils of the three boroughs of Turtle Creek, East Pittsburgh and Wilmerding will be held next Monday night at Turtle Creek to consider the project.

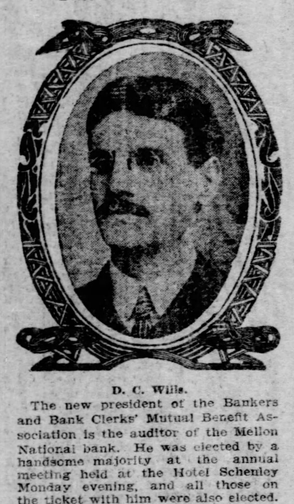
When there is a flood in Turtle creek the stream overflows all three towns and causes great damage. In Turtle Creek borough the stream runs near the main street. The three towns are contiguous to each other and the plan is for each town to build a dike or retaining wall on each side of the stream to connect with each other. The walls are to be similar to those erected at East Pittsburgh by the Westinghouse Company, which are of solid masonry, about 10 feet thick at the base, four feet wide at the top, and about 15 feet high.

While it is believed that the cost of the retaining wall on both sides of the creek for five miles would be great, the three boroughs are in good financial condition and able to stand a bond issue.

It is claimed that the removal of Lock No. 2 to the new site below the mouth of Turtle creek will greatly endanger the property of the valley unless dikes are constructed. Lock No. 2 is now located about 600 yards east of the mouth of Turtle creek and the government intends to move it down the Monongahela river to a point about 300 yards west of the mouth of the creek. This will cause back-water in the creek and, it is claimed, will raise the stage of Turtle creek about 10 feet. The dam was relocated in spite of the strong protests of the people living along Turtle creek.

At the meeting Monday night it is proposed to take steps to employ engineers to make a survey and an estimate of the cost. When this is done another meeting will be called to consider the proposition to issue bonds.

NEW PRESIDENT OF THE BANKERS' ASSOCIATION



D. C. Wills.

The new president of the Bankers and Bank Clerks' Mutual Benefit Association is the auditor of the Mellon National bank. He was elected by a handsome majority at the annual meeting held at the Hotel Schenley Monday evening, and all those on the ticket with him were also elected. The election of Mr. Wills is hailed as being in large part a triumph for the younger element, though it is also a recognition of the high esteem in which he is held by bankers generally.

"Charley's Aunt," originally announced at the Grand for next week, has been postponed, and instead the stock company will present George Broadhurst's comedy, "The Wrong Mr. Wright," which has never been seen in Pittsburgh. Mr. Broadhurst's clever work as a playwright is well known in Pittsburgh, where his previous success, "What Happened to Jones," and "Why Smith Left Home," have enjoyed great popularity.

A STRONG STAFF

The Power of Pure Food.

"Some years ago when we lived in New York City husband and I lost four of our little ones during the hot weather.

"When we moved to Vineland, N. J., we made the acquaintance of the food Grape-Nuts. It was here that our little girl, Majuba, was born but she was so frail and 'skinny' that we feared we would lose her as we had the other babies. When she was eight months old we learned about Grape-Nuts and began feeding her this food and now wherever she goes our friends feel her arms she is so plump and her flesh is so firm.

"I am convinced that Grape-Nuts with a little white sugar and boiling water would save many a poor baby's life during the hot weather when milk is sour and the little ones suffer most.

"After seeing the power of Grape-Nuts upon our little girl my husband began its use and all last summer when we lived at Essington, Pa., he ate Grape-Nuts and no meat. Although he was working at the hardest laboring work, digging ditches all this time he felt strong and well without the meat just so long as he had Grape-Nuts." This lady's name furnished by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

THEY WILL TACKLE ALLEGHENY AGAIN

New developments have led the chamber of commerce to believe that the appropriation for $5,000, once refused by Allegheny select council, may yet be given to the fund for providing an exhibit of the Pittsburgh district at the St. Louis exposition and making the great relief map. The total cost of the map and exhibit is estimated at $25,000. The Allegheny select council will meet this evening and a committee of the chamber of commerce will appear and give reasons why, in the opinion of the chamber, the appropriation should be granted. A. J. Logan, president, and George H. Anderson, secretary of the chamber, are the committee.

The committee is encouraged to renew the request for the appropriation by certain favorable developments. Mr. Anderson declined yesterday to say what they are, but it is surmised that after examining the legal aspect of the case, the stumbling block which caused the select branch to refuse to concur in the appropriation as passed by the common council, the councilmen who opposed the appropriation on the ground of illegality and the municipal officers who were of the same opinion, have come to the conclusion that such an appropriation may be legal.

As the select branch rejected the resolution adopted by the common council, the manner in which the matter can again be taken up is by reconsideration of the vote by which the resolution was lost. That that action may be reconsidered is the request which the committee intends to prefer tonight.

When the resolution was originally presented the committee in charge of the proposed exhibit had already secured subscriptions aggregating $14,000, including an appropriation by the Pittsburgh councils. Allegheny was expected to increase the amount to $19,000, which would have left only $6,000 more to be raised. Of course, Allegheny's refusal knocked out the committee's calculations, and while $6,000 could be secured without difficulty, the raising of $11,000 would have been much harder.

The preparations for the chamber of commerce banquet, to be held at the Hotel Schenley next week, are progressing. Already one-third of the seating capacity of the banquet hall has been sold out, and it is expected that before the banquet night all the seats will have been sold. The tickets cost $10 each.

"Moneybak" Black Silks to Be Seen in the Loom.

Very interesting is the sight of "Moneybak" Long-Wearing Black Silk being woven by an electric loom, which is now in operation the day long in the basement of our East Store. It is an object lesson to women, for they can see how it takes 9,488 threads of pure silk, with a filling of double pure silk thread, to make one yard of these famous silks. That number of threads makes a yard of silk which the manufacturer and the retailer can stand back of. It makes a silk which you can afford to wear better than any "cheap" silk that was ever placed on the market.

"Moneybak" Black Silks are of two weaves, long wearing taffetas and long wearing peau de soie. These "Moneybak" silks appealed to us so strongly as being away and beyond what black silks usually are, that we accepted the sole agency for Greater Pittsburg, and the wisdom of that acceptance is to be seen in the large quantities sold at our silk counters.

Prices for "Moneybak" Black Taffetas.

27 inch "Moneybak" long wearing black taffeta, $1.50 a yard.

While "Moneybak" is the trade mark of these fine silks it is also shorthand way of saying "money back without any quibble whatsoever if the silks are not as represented."

Nearly Half Prices for Rugs From Turkey and Persia.

It will be seen that these rugs are extraordinarily large, and it is only fair to say that our reason for selling them for such small prices arises from the fact that the rugs are somewhat mussed. That is the only blemish that can be found in them. They are fine rugs in every way. They are rugs that any owner may be proud of. It is doubtful if such another opportunity was ever presented for getting handsome rugs from the Orient for such a remarkably small price.

The Bric-a-Brac Side of the Third Floor, East Store.

Under this generic head we are enabled to show the costliest of wares as well as the least expensive wares, literally from every country under the sun. There are wares there made by people who have very little knowledge of civilization and whose ideas are of the most primitive kind; over against these are wares made by some of the most enlightened people of the world.

As we are now about opening the doors to Christmas buying we do not know of any department in the store where more interesting study in the matter of gift things is presented. In buying gifts of this nature, or we might say among the class of wares exhibited in this beautiful dapartment—the bronzes, the marbles, the many different varieties of glass, the intensely interesting collection of fine China, every description of pottery that can be named—some time must be given to discussing the merits of the different art objects. To buyers of Christmas gifts of this nature we advise an early inspection. It will give us great pleasure to lay aside any piece chosen and hold it for delivery at any time the word is given. This advice is the more important seeing that some of the foreign lines are limited, and when they are closed there is no possible way by which they can be duplicated.

Save your eyes and save money by using the Block Light. We will show you its efficiency any time you can spare some moments to stop in our Housefurnishing Department, basement.

If everybody in Pittsburg only knew the advantage of this light we would not be able to keep up with the demand—as it is we were constantly re-ordering until we foresaw that to meet the rapidly growing sales it was necessary to get an extraordinary large lot. It is the most inexpensive light anyone ever used—it puts the cost of gas down to a mere nothing.

An Extraordinary Purchase of Flannels.

Bought for Astonishing Underprices and to Be Retailed on the Same Basis.

30c a yard for the 65c grade.

Nothing could show better the place this store holds in the business world of today than these heaping piles of Flannels, just in yesterday from the noted weavers of Koechlin & Baumgarten, Alsace, and which will be ready in the Basement Flannel Department, West Store, bright and early this morning. It will be observed they are and that they are to be sold for the common prices usually charged for common flannels.

The head of the department says he could sell most of these at regular prices and no one would be any the wiser. Why not let him do it?

No, the concessions we receive in any large deal must also be shared with the customers of this store.

Regarding these imported French Flannels, and speaking specially of the patterns, it is entirely out of the question to attempt any description, there being entirely too much diversity to go into details. There are flannels for every conceivable purpose for which flannels are used, and the purchase consists of some 6,800 yards. In closing we may say that the flannels are all of the same quality, the difference in price arising from the different printings, one tone, two tone and three tone effects.

Wednesday, November 18, 1903.

The heavy November rains will be of material advantage to Pittsburgh coal and river interests, and will be welcomed by coal consumers of the southern ports. The boating stage on the rivers will let out a very large coal fleet, and the clearance of harbors will, in turn, enable full operation of the mines. Pittsburghers are quite accustomed to these movements and sometimes overlook their importance. A mid-November shipment, however, is duly appreciated by those intimately connected with the business.

A bill introduced in congress yesterday proposes to apply to certain insurance companies the laws prohibiting transmission through the mails of any business pertaining to lotteries. The bill needs to be made the object of close scrutiny to see that it contains nothing injurious to legitimate business. If found applicable only to bogus insurance, or get-rich-quick schemes, it is worthy of support. These catch-penny frauds ought to be suppressed, as they are fully as mischievous as the lotteries, but such legislation must be enacted with care to avoid exceeding its righteous intent.

The point is being urged against the proposed treaty with Panama that the Spooner act provides that a treaty shall be negotiated with Colombia prior to the adoption of the Panama route. The president does not require the authority of any act of congress to enable him to negotiate a treaty; he has that power at all times, but whether or not the treaty shall become law depends upon confirmation by the senate. The Spooner act is ancient history now and the Panama enterprise is a thing of the present and it is moving along in great shape. Objecting senators had better get out of the way of the locomotive or it will run over them.

In the Chicago street railway strike the singular spectacle was presented yesterday of the members of one union mobbing members of another. It is not so long since the Chicago teamsters were on strike and their strike was marked by violence. Assaults upon non-union drivers were frequent. Now the traction men are striking and they have assaulted the teamsters driving wagons loaded with supplies for the non-union street railway men. The incident is instructive and the most cogent moral to be drawn from it is that violence ought not to be countenanced under any circumstances. As a matter of fact the strike that cannot be won in peace cannot be won at all.

Exhaustive investigations carried on by the department of commerce and labor disprove the oft-repeated statement that the cost of living has increased disproportionately. The cost of food has increased a little over 16 per cent since 1896, but the general advance in wages has kept pace with the increase and in the machine trades has exceeded the increased cost of living. In the western states the cost of living has actually decreased and in general the enhanced cost is due to the fact that the farmer and cattle raiser are getting better prices for products than before. This is a normal charcteristic of good times. It costs more to live, but the people have the means to do it, whereas a reduced cost of living is met with difficulty in hard times.

The movement started by the Civic club to promote public cleanliness has been favorably received by the authorities. In this respect the present administration is entitled to a credit which The Gazette has accorded. The cleaning of the streets is carried on systematically and special efforts have been made to stop the accumulations of paper and other litter in the streets. The assistance of the Civic club in educating public opinion on the subject and securing public support will doubtless be welcomed by the department. There is plenty of law upon the statute books against throwing litter into the streets and other practices opposed to tidiness and health, but the difficulty is to enforce it, and the Civic club can help greatly by addressing its efforts in that direction.

The London detectives have just made a big haul of jewelry robbers by methods which recall those of Sherlock Holmes, while incidentally demonstrating the value of the system of records kept by the London police department. In that system the personal measurement system of Bertillon is improved upon by a record of thumb mark impressions, Galton's studies having demonstrated the individuality of the pattern of every one's finger prints. Some $60,000 worth of valuables was stolen from jewelry stores and the burglars left no clues, except finger prints upon a piece of candle. Comparison with the records showed that the prints resembled those of a professional thief and he and his confederates were traced and haunted. Detectives disguised as milkmen arrested the culprits without previous alarm and the correctness of the identification is shown by the fact that part of the stolen jewelry was recovered.

The Road to Party Ruin.

The Democratic party is entering upon a course of factious opposition resembling that into which the old Federalist party fell to its ruin. It appears a mystery how a party which framed the Constitution, founded the national government and which had Washington as its leader, would have fallen into such complete discredit with the people that it died out altogether, but when the details of its behavior are examined the mystery disappears. It was not because it lost control of the national administration that the Federalist party died, but because in becoming an opposition party it degenerated into an anti-national party. It kept up a spiteful and factious opposition to the administration, even when the administration was acting upon Federalist principles and was pursuing objects in direct accordance with the original aims of Federalist policy. The Louisiana purchase was a stroke of high national policy such as Washington and Hamilton would have rejoiced to accomplish, and Hamilton tried to dissuade the congressional leaders of the Federalist party from opposing it, but such was their venom against Jefferson that they kept up a noisy and rancorous opposition, whose only practical effect was to destroy all respect for the party organization. Instead of a national party pursuing national objects, but differing with the party in power as to the means of obtaining them, it became a malignant faction, ready to sacrifice national interests to gratify its spleen. Hence it sank into impotence and eventually disappeared altogether.

The present situation affords some parallel to the period of Federalist degeneracy. The bitterness of New England against Jefferson gave the Federalist party a sectional strength so firmly based as to encourage indifference about the general movements of public sentiment. Now the Democratic party has in the south a sectional strength that similarly tends to mislead it. The Federalist party had a preponderance of literary talent, and assumptions of moral superiority were current on the Federalist side similar to those which such papers as the Springfield Republican and the New York Evening Post now make in opposing national interests. National policy was indicted upon abstract grounds of morality then as now, and if such arguments as are now urged against the annexation of Hawaii and the Philippines, and the Panama policy of the administration, had prevailed in the past, this nation would still be confined to the Atlantic seaboard. Every step taken in national expansion or in what Jefferson referred to as the spread of "American empire," was vehemently opposed by self-constituted moral censors with arguments to the effect that upon abstract considerations of right what was being done could not be allowed, even if manifestly to the national advantage. In ethical basis such arguments are as weak as in practical logic, but they are necessarily fatal to any party which identifies itself with them. A party arrayed in opposition to the vital necessities of national development is an ailment which the healthy activities of national life tends to suppress.

Such a scene as that which took place in the Democratic senatorial caucus is strikingly similar to that of the Federalist period, when the party had dissolved into discordant groups, unable to agree about anything and having nothing in common but hostility to the administration. Without any alternative policy of its own to offer as a party organization, the party kept up a persistent nagging and a senseless obstruction to the national government until the very name of Federalist became a term of reproach. The present tendencies of the Democratic party expose it to far greater peril as a party organization than that to which it was exposed by Bryanism. In effect Bryanism was a process of party conversion, changing the character and principles of the Democratic party, but temporarily infusing new elements of popular support, as the election returns plainly demonstrated. Events have shown that the Democratic party has lost much more than it gained through the new recruits. The waning of Bryanism leaves the party without an authoritative program of action or any settled principles of conduct. The force which now chiefly energizes it is a sectional resentment against President Roosevelt, as sentimental in character as the New England abhorrence of Jefferson, and unless a more rational and practical spirit prevails, like processes of degeneracy will ensue.

The Ethical View of the Case.

In order to make out a case against the administration's Panama policy, hostile critics rest upon conceptions of property rights, the inapplicability of which to the case are immediately apparent upon consideration. There are no property rights apart from those of individual creation like the stone ax and other hand-made implements of paleolithic man that are not of social origin, subject to social control. The legal right of the community to interfere with individual use of property rights when necessary has never been renounced by any society. It is a familiar principle of law that individual ownership is subject to the right of eminent domain. These fundamental principles are the basis of the Cass doctrine, which expressed the policy of the Democratic party before the war.

The application of these principles to international affairs abounds with practical difficulties, as there is in that field no fixed and regular embodiment of eminent domain, while there is a constant pressure of national ambition to which it would be dangerous to make concessions of privilege, but rights superior to actual ownership do exist, although international law has yet to attempt their definition. In a general way it may be said that every people is under obligation to make the most of their country or else yield possession to a superior race. While not susceptible of legal statement, the doctrine has always received practical recognition, and it is by virtue of it that we are here where we are now instead of the Indians, who were here before us.

Such abstract considerations never really control action, and they are entered into simply to show that the high moral grounds upon which the administration is being condemned really do not exist. It is a foolish perversion of the ethics of the case to treat as a case of ordinary property rights the Colombian claim to the isthmus, and to exclude the behavior of Colombia from consideration. Even looking at the matter from the narrowest possible point of view, the Colombian claim is subsequent to our own protectorate under the treaty with New Granada, and it is just as competent for this country to recognize Panama as successor to the original sovereignty as to recognize Colombia. The truth is that the course of the government is as ethically sound as it is practically sensible, but we have in this country a class who display marked ability in putting their own government in the wrong, even when rival countries see no ground of complaint, and who have sufficient literary influence to disturb the public conscience by their sophistry. The propriety of the course of the government is not to be decided upon abstract grounds, but upon the circumstances of the case, which afford ample warrant for what has been done.

Von Plehwe's Cruelty.

Russia's attitude toward the Jews is further illustrated by the order of Minister von Plehwe forbidding them to visit the health resorts of the Crimea and elsewhere, and prohibiting them from going to Moscow for expert medical or surgical attendance. It would be difficult to conceive of a more cruel restriction than this in a civilized state. It is an attack upon the infirm and a sentence of death upon those in need of immediate surgical aid. Its very indirection renders it more vicious.

After such an order as this no one can doubt that the Kishineff massacre had the sanction of high authority at St. Petersburg. It may easily be understood why no adequate measures were taken to punish that attack upon inoffensive and defenseless people. No further explanation is needed why the American petition would not be received by the council of ministers, or why transmission to the czar was denied. This von Plehwe is doing all he can to drive the Jewish population out of Russia, and he cares not what barbarities are practiced to that end.

In some matters Russia has made rapid progress toward modern standards in late years. Czar Nicholas is personally responsible for efforts to liberalize the government policy, and M. de Witte, as minister of finance, rendered the empire excellent service. But while reactionaries of the von Plehwe brand are dominant in Russian state affairs the empire cannot be fully classed among the civilized and progressive nations. The dark record of Russian cruelties cannot be banished from human vision as long as von Plehwe has power to decree the suffering of a race numbering millions within Russian territory.

Relief may be found in the Zionist movement, now directed toward Africa, but the task of removing four or five millions of persons from the land of their nativity to another continent is one of huge proportions. It might hardly be undertaken by any other race, though we doubt not the Jews will prove equal to it once they undertake it in earnest. We doubt not they will make their colony a prosperous and happy one under the free laws of Great Britain. But, meantime, the Russian persecution of citizens whose only crimes are thrift and industry must prove a lasting disgrace and a refutation of the claims of the czar's empire to being a civilized, Christian nation.

Benefits of Protection.

Canada is a protectionist country. It puts a heavy tariff upon products imported from the United States, but, as we have often noted, it is not sufficient to prevent the growth of trade between the two. To Great Britain it gives a preference of 33 1-3 per cent, and this concession has apparently proven fatal to one of its industries. The Bailey Cutlery Company, at Brantford, Ontario, has closed its works, assigning as a reason insufficient tariff protection to make the business profitable. As a result the Canadians may get their cutlery from Sheffield.

This item may be of interest to Mr. Chamberlain. Just such considerations will operate against his scheme of imperial federation with preferential tariffs. No doubt his plan might benefit the agriculturists of the colonies, as it is intended to benefit the British manufacturers, but it cannot, at the same time, work to the advantage of manufacturers in Great Britain and those in the same line in the colonies. The colonies which desire to build up diversified industries need protection against the mother country as much as against the United States and Germany.

Another item of some interest is the report of Special Commissioner Birchenough on trade in South Africa. He notes a gratifying increase in exports from Britain to that region, but finds British engineers less enterprising in meeting South African demands than those of the United States and Germany. The United States in particular is a strong competitor for South African trade. The indication of the report is that preferential tariffs would inure to the advantage of the mother country in this case, though they would not assist in awakening British engineers or manufacturers to the best modern methods.

It is said the litigation over the United States Shipbuilding Company will be discontinued without giving Schwab and Pam a chance to be heard on the witness stand. Pretty good evidence that those gentlemen are able to tell something interesting.

While the Democratic-Citizens have not a clear majority of the whole number of members elected to select council, they will find no trouble about getting another vote or two to abolish the rump committees or to advance the ordinances held up by them.

Once more the announcement is made that King Leopold of Belgium is coming to this country. He shows good judgment. This is a far better example of freedom than the Congo Free state.

Here is where the money gives out. Controller Larkin has an explanation and we presume Director Bigelow has one, but neither of them looks like a 10-mill tax.

Director Hamerschlag will start elementary classes while he is starting the buildings. That is the spirit of enterprise that should go with technical education.

One United States senator has been indicted for selling public appointments. Pshaw, that is such a mild offense as compared with the legislative hold-up.

President Marroquin's declarations concerning the dispatch of troops to the isthmus are adding something to the gaiety of nations.

Yesterday the new Panama flag had a salute of 21 guns from an American man-of-war. The government is fully recognized.

Fritzi-Scheff could find many willing substitutes for Victor Herbert, though they probably couldn't compose anything.

Though the cold wave has been delayed in transit, it is coming, so the preparation for warm fires will not be wasted.

A rise in the rivers is worth millions and the cold wave following will stimulate the consumption of coal.

As to the Shipbuilding case, what is the use of locking the stable door after the horse is gone?

Von Plehwe would probably order all the Jews in Russia massacred if he had the power.

IN THE EYE OF FAME.

Israel Zangwill is writing for a London weekly called Today, a series of articles apropos of passing events and to be called "Without Prejudice."

Joseph G. Fulton, for over half a century a forage master in the United States army and one of the best-known men in Virginia, died at Old Point Comfort a few days ago.

The Rev. Charles W. Winchester, who has accepted the presidency of Taylor university at Upland, Ind., has a long record of active service in the Methodist church.

Frau Cosima Wagner, widow of the great composer, is believed to be drawing about $120,000 a year in royalties from her late husband's operas, in spite of the fact that he squandered his copyrights in many cities.

The Rev. John Sinclair, the eighteenth earl of Caithness, has just been installed pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Brookline, Mass. The earl, as long as he lives, will be entitled to the title. A former earl willed the estate away, but the title can never be included in a will.

The Duty of Democracy.

The past should suffice for folly, but we fear that an appalling superfluity of Democratic error is to be wantonly augmented, says the Buffalo Eagle (Dem.) There is nothing more Democratic, by the true definition of that word, than to plant and to maintain freedom and civilization in the isthmus of Panama, and to secure those blessings thereby utilizing that nexus between oceans for a waterway which will make an unbroken passage for commerce within and around the world. There is nothing more un-Democratic, in reality, than opposition to what will bring such results to pass. There is nothing more depressing to those who would make organized Democracy a factor for progress, for freedom, for commerce and for peace than to find the party of that name lined up against a duty so plain, and an opportunity so grand.

A Canadian Lament.

All these movements point to an effort to obtain maritime control of the North American continent for the United States, and we are bound to say they have so far been reasonably successful. The coast line of the Gulf of Mexico and the Atlantic is, for the most part, controlled by the United States. The possession of Alaska gives them the Pacific coast all the way from the Arctic circle to Mexico, with the exception of the strip of shore of British Columbia, left to us by the "grotesque travesty of justice." The arms of the United States are about us, and if the process goes a little farther we need not worry about the question of coast defense. It will be as hard for an enemy to get in as for us to get out.—Toronto World.

Fair Play in Business.

It is of vast importance to the future manhood of this country that scorn of unfairness should be universal. Above all, let it be applied strenuously to unfairness in business. We are a commercial people. Our boys must go into commerce. Our professions are so mingled with commerce that it is often hard to distinguish if they be professions. If we are to wink at unscrupulousness in commerce, then we are doomed to become a race of tricksters and manhood is dead within us.—McClure's Magazine.

The Educational Test.

It is said that Mr. Watson of this state, will again press upon the attention of congress his immigration bill requiring an educational test. The measure passed the house at the last session, but died in the senate for lack of time for consideration. The safety of the republic lies in the intelligence of its people, and it is a very grave question if we are not at present accepting a mass of ignorance too great to safely digest, even with our splendid school system.—Indianapolis Journal.

HAIL COLUMBIA.

Down in the city of Bogota
Lived a gang who thought that Panama
Was a graft for them, and they'd flim-flam
Twenty millions out of your Uncle Sam,
Because he wanted to dig a canal
That was good for him, Colombia, et al.

He offered to give ten millions, but they
Were after ten more to come their way
As a nice little rake-off, a small per cent
To go to the private government—
It was merely one of the gilt-edged tricks
Prevailing in South American politics
By which the grafters could make a pile
And give Uncle Sam the ha-ha smile.

But the gang down there at Bogota
Weren't onto the curves of Panama,
And before they knew what was up—kersiap,
A new republic was on the map.
Somebody had cut it out of the herd,
But Uncle Sam wasn't saying a word;
He was getting ready to dig the canal
For the good of himself, Colombia, et al.

And what of the gang at Bogota,
Who lost the canal and Panama
And likewise the ten? What say they
Of the loss they've brought to Colombia?
Of the chance of a lifetime, now passed by?
This is the burden of their cry:
"Of all sad words of tongue or pen,
The saddest are these: 'We lost that ten.'"

The Quiet Observer.

By ERASMUS WILSON.

The first marriages of which we have written accounts were practically the sale of women to men for so many head of cattle or sheep, or a stipulated amount of salable property.

The sacredness of marriage, or the moral obligations incurred by the contracting parties, is a modern feature, but it has become the chief and most important. The father who sells his daughter to the man who has the most money, or is in position to benefit the family socially or financially, is denounced as an old brute or a heathen.

No one denies that this is slavery, and a species of it that brings a great deal of unhappiness into innocent lives.

But, when you come to think of it, what is the difference between such contracts as these and many of the contracts made in this free and enlightened land.

About the only difference is that under the old regime the girl's parents proposed to the man, while they now manage by hook or crook to get him to propose to her. Knowing the will of her parents she accepts, even against the protests of her own heart, and hopes their judgment may be better than her warning instincts.

Possibly she may be mercenary, and in order to shine among stylish and wealthy people accepts a man for whom she has no love or affection. This is a voluntary slavery, it is true, but that does not make matters better. The curse is the same.

* * * * *

We hear a great deal about the holy bonds of wedlock and the sacredness of marriage vows. But do we really understand what these are? Don't we know that many of these are anything but sacred and everything but holy?

Even our state laws countenance the rankest perjury, and in some instances almost compel it. Nearly every week, and sometimes more frequently, men consent to marry rather than go to jail or pay a fine. The officer who administers the holy rite knows the parties are taking false vows when they promise to love and cherish each other. He mumbles over the ceremony, the man goes scot free and the woman imagines her good name has been saved.

If marriage vows are as sacred as we believe, is not the perjury equally heinous when they are taken in this way and for this purpose?

* * * * *

The law says to such men: "You can either marry this woman and go free or go to jail." You need not live with her if you don't want to. All you have to do is to stand up and falsely swear that you will love, cherish and protect her and then skip the town.

The only questions usually asked by the minister of the gospel when a couple comes to be married are whether they have a license, and if they are as old as the law requires. He says it is none of his business whether they are fit to marry or not. He loses sight of the sacred feature and looks upon the call to perform the ceremony as mandatory.

There are ministers who are careful in this matter, yet it is seldom they refuse the holy bonds to any, whether they are deserving or not.

* * * * *

Who shall decide when couples wish to marry? This is an important question, and it is not at all improbable that the time will come when an effort will be made to prevent the diseased, the debased and the vicious from marrying.

It is conceded by medical scientists and observing people generally that various diseases, vicious traits and immoral tendencies are perpetuated by marriage. "Like father, like son," is an old and true saying. Some have gone so far as to say that the bulk of the crimes, the prevalence of loathsome disease and much of the misery extant are due to improper marriages.

Who shall decide as to what is proper and what is improper?

Are parents always competent to decide as to whom their children shall marry? Evidently those who look upon money or social position as of more importance than happiness are not.

A father who is anxious for his daughter to marry a man of means naturally objects to her accepting one who is dependent upon his own efforts for support, although they may be specially suited to each other. He forgets that all happy families begin with happy marriages; also, that an unhappy family cannot prosper. Success in life depends more upon hearty, earnest, united effort than upon the possession of dollars and cents to begin with.

It is the part of wisdom, therefore, to see that the girl is happily married, even if her husband has no other capital than a good name and a reputation for industry.

* * * * *

To marry means more than to really join or unite, and this further meaning is the one that applies specially to individuals uniting for the purpose of establishing a happy home.

Dictionaries define the term as it is generally accepted, and without going into the inner meaning. The French use the term in its fuller and deeper meaning. They say, for instance, that two colors do not marry, which signifies that they do not harmonize. Two ingredients in a sauce or drink are said not to marry when they do not mix or blend. In speaking of persons who are not congenial, or of servants who do not suit, they say they are not married to them.

This is certainly the sense in which the term should be used generally, and especially when applied to wedlock.

The question that naturally arises, if we accept this definition, is whether persons are really married if not mated. This, of course, is a purely moral question and one that cannot be settled by our laws as they now stand.

It is quite probable, to say the least, that we have attached too much importance to the mere ceremony; if indeed we have not mistaken the sign for the thing itself.

Holiness relates solely and exclusively to the affections; therefore holy matrimony can be nothing short of a union of affections, of interests and purposes. No form of ceremony, no manner of vow, nor no human power can add the element of holiness where there is no reciprocity of affection.

The vows taken may be held sacred, as a promise or pledge is sacred, but sacredness and holiness are entirely different conditions.

* * * * *

Who is to blame for the prevalence of unholy matrimonial alliances and the consequent domestic infelicity, individual unhappiness and widespread misery? Is it because the youth of the land has not been properly educated, or is it due to inherited depravity?

Are the young men and women of the land given any special instruction in this important branch of social science?

As far as known is it not taught in any school, academy or college in the land except in a general way, and then only by indication. There are no special lecturers on the subject, although it is more important than physical culture or physiology.

The simple truth of the matter is that the people are densely ignorant on this subject, besides being shamefully, if not criminally, indifferent.

What do we hear from the pulpit concerning this great source of happiness, and of sin and misery?

Unfortunately it is almost silent. Occasionally we hear marriage referred to as a sacred institution, a holy state. Those who are in it are warned against breaking their vows, and commanded to love one another.

Can you love at will? Is it possible for you to love the man whom you don't love just because the preacher who sealed you to him commands you to do so? What matters it if he does keep you well, enable you to move in good society and to make a creditable show in the world if you have no affection for him?

Wouldn't it have been more to the point if your pastor had taught you what marriage really is, explained the difference between it and matrimony and warned you of the penalties that are sure to follow the violation of that great law of nature and of heaven?

Patriotism of Gen. Sickles.

Gen. Sickles is one of the old-time Democrats who does not believe in sacrificing the interests of the nation to pander to party prejudices. The Roosevelt administration, he says, only performed its obvious and imperative duty in recognizing the de facto government of Panama. He ridicules the unfounded and unpatriotic assertion that the United States instigated the Panama rebellion; and he holds that Panama should be annexed to the United States before the canal is begun. If Panama applies for annexation it will unquestionably be admitted; but that is not necessary for canal purposes.—Philadelphia Press.

Talked of in New York

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—Can rainy weather injure the horse show? That is the question which was asked many times yesterday morning before the public was admitted to Madison Square garden. Today it is answered with a loud negative. It has rained for 24 hours and the streets are full of pasty mud which makes white spats of mockery and their owners raging. But it has not interfered with the attendance at the horse show, except perhaps to make it greater than it would have been if the streets were dry and the sky cloudless. It is remarkable that all New York seems to have a personal interest in the horse. Even men and women who never handled the reins in their lives and whose only idea of a horse in private is that it lives in a stable which smells loudly and is too small for a timid human being to enter in company with a spirited horse, talk learnedly on equine matters this week. It is in the air. Stores are arranged as to their show windows with especial reference to the horse show and people walking along the streets look critically at cab horses and have shrewd comments to make on the contour of Percherons drawing brewers' trucks. The horse show is a success. The only class of people who do not join enthusiastically in the general declaration that this is an unusually successful horse show are the uptown hotel managers. They say the overflow from the Waldorf, Holland and Imperial is not so large as it should be in great horse show week.

Hammerstein Taken Unawares.

If Oscar Hammerstein had known at the time that it was a process-server hustling through his private box at the Belasco theater last night there might have been a badly tattered young man flying into the street when Oscar had got through with him. That is what Broadwayites are saying tonight. Mr. Hammerstein says nothing except that he could not comprehend the possibility of such insolence and that the process-server escaped before the Hammersteinian intellect had resumed its normal state of lightning activity.

River Pirate's Desperate Chance.

It takes physical courage to be a river pirate. The pirate should always be a good swimmer. "Spot" Odlum, who is in the business of robbing barges and dodging the police, is an accomplished river pirate. He was wanted at Perth Amboy and a policeman ran toward him on a ferryboat just as it pulled out of its slip at that place for Staten Island. He dived overboard, swam under the overhang, which is large on all New York ferryboats, and clung to the rudder chains, so that he was towed to Staten Island. He is on the island still, waiting for a chance to get to the mainland. It took nerve to make that dive. That was proved by the fact that a partner of Odlum's in the piracy business was afraid to make the jump and is in jail as a consequence of his faint heartedness.

Looking for the Union Label.

The "camera squad" of the cigar maker's union is enjoying itself in the streets of this city. The object is to get a snapshot of any union man who may be smoking a non-union cigar. As union cigars bear labels which can be distinguished across the street the camera committee is not obliged to depend on its sense of smell when a non-union cigar in process of combustion is passing. They look for the label and if it is not there, or, being present, is of the wrong color or design, snap goes the shutter of the camera and the miscreat is caught. The "camera squad" is said to be drawing good union wages and its members admit they like the work better than rolling cigars for a change.

Seventh Avenue Being Beautified.

Seventh avenue, which, uptown, has been called the "boulevard du people," is week by week becoming more worthy of its appellation. Hotels of magnificance are going up along the thoroughfare, the most stately and beautiful of all being the York, which is simply a marvel of modern beauty and comfort. It is the latest one to open along Seventh avenue, although others are in course of construction. Theaters there are in the avenue and soon expensive after-theater restaurants will boil over from Broadway to this sister "white way." Seventh avenue has long been associated with second-hand clothing stores and colored society, but the day of its redemption has arrived beyond all question.

Officers All Millionaires.

The Automobile club of America is officered by multi-millionaires almost entirely now. At the annual election yesterday Albert R. Shattuck was dropped from the presidency with a vote of thanks, and Winthrop E. Scarritt took his place. Harry Payne Whitney is second vice president; William K. Vanderbilt, Jr., third vice president, and Jefferson Seligman, treasurer.

Herbert Is a Much Envied Man.

Of all the envied men of whom upper Broadway takes cognisance today Victor Herbert is the one whom everybody would like to congratulate tumultuously. That kiss bestowed on him by Fritzi-Scheff last night was the apotheosis of his career as a musician. If anyone doubts this, let him ask Mr. Herbert himself.

Multitude Honors Andrew H. Green.

Although the arrangements for the funeral services of Andrew H. Green at the Brick Presbyterian church today were extremely simple the crowd which gathered in the gallery and flowed over into Fifth avenue was so large as to make the occasion a most impressive one. It was a quiet and reverential multitude. There was little noise and when the casket was borne in and out hundreds of hats went off and remained off until the coffin had passed out of sight. There is no doubt that Mr. Green's memory will be held tenderly in the general regard for a long time to come. The interment will be at Worcester, Mass.

Paterson Afflicted With a Ghost.

Paterson, N. J., having had fires, floods, tornadoes and other violent visitations, is now calmly enduring the presence of a somewhat turbulent ghost. The apparition is amusing itself in the traditional, supernatural way, by crying down chimneys, rattling doors, shrieking through keyholes and walking with heavy footfalls in rooms over the heads of the family it has elected to disturb. The name of the family is Bowman. It has just been relieved to some extent of its mental distress by a notification that the ghost can be laid on payment of 20 cents to a bum named Homer. The family refused the money and the ghostly Homer ran. There have been no manifestations since, say the Bowmans.

Boundary Dispute Causes Worry.

Old settlers of Manhattan are worrying themselves about the boundaries of "New Harlem." It is said on apparently sound authority that the town of "New Harlem" is that part of Manhattan Island divided from the rest of it by a line extending from Seventy-ninth street, East river to One Hundred and Twenty-ninth street, Hudson river. This is interesting as a matter of record, although its correctness has already been questioned by other old settlers and there may be a terrifying geographical controversy imminent.

Capital Stories.

Went Prepared.

Washington Correspondent New York World.

John Sharp Williams of Mississippi, the newly elected leader of the Democrats in the house of representatives, was asked how he would keep the Democrats in line if they should become obstreperous.

"Easiest thing in the world," Mr. Williams replied. "I shall be prepared for any emergency, like a justice of the peace down in my country when he was called on by a gathering of citizens who had it in mind to hang a man without due process of law.

"The justice was told of the gathering, and was asked to come down and see what he could do. He appeared with a copy of the statutes of Mississippi under one arm and a repeating rifle under the other.

"'Gentlemen,' he said, 'I am the servant of the people. I can apply the law of the great state of Mississippi to this case, or I can help you shoot the culprit—just as you elect.'"

Too Many Richardsons.

From the Washington Post.

Judge Richardson of Alabama, is fearfully exercised because there are other Richardsons on the house roll who monopolize the mail coming to that name. Yesterday he approached a telephone trying to impress his identity upon the official at the postoffice.

"I am Richardson of Alabama. I can't get my mail," he said.

"Or Tennessee; of Tennessee?" interposed Representative Wachter of Maryland.

"No, no. Thunderation no!" roared the Alabaman, exasperated that his name was not Nokes, or Stokes, or some thing else than Richardson. "Don't I know who I am? Richardson of Tennessee is getting all my mail; he's getting all my maps, and he really knows more about my business than I do myself."

The postoffice people are going to try to smooth matters out for the Alabaman and to make his existence a little freer from mental perturbation.

Surprised Representative.

Washington Correspondent New York World.

Representative P. P. Campbell is the "red-headed representative from Kansas" and knows a great deal of agriculture and other Kansas industries. When he came to Washington the other day he saw a fire engine go tearing down the street. He knew about the fire engine, but a hook and ladder truck followed.

"Look at those horses running away with those drunken painters!" shouted the Kansan to a colleague.

"I see," said Col. "Ike" Hill, the Democratic whip, "that there is a lot of howling over in New York because them reform fellers didn't get in. I tell you, gentlemen, reform never succeeds itself. It's like introducing the Ten Commandments into a gambling house. As soon as you establish the principles you break up the business."

An Aged Joke.

From the Washington Post.

Representative Lacey of Iowa, claims to have discovered the longest bearded joke ever recorded. It may be a surprise to a multitude of lawyers over the country that this bewhiskered lingerer is the one about the attorney who appeared in court without his chief witness.

"Why did you not bring your witness?" demanded the judge, sternly.

"I have 16 reasons," replied the lawyer.

"The first is he is dead."

"You need not give the other 15," replied the court.

Mr. Lacey says there is hardly a court in the country where that story in some form cannot be heard, and there are hoary old lawyers who will say they were present when the quip was originally perpetrated.

"This last summer," added Mr. Lacey, "I was reading the works of Suetonius, the Latin historian. You can imagine how keenly I was interested to read this same joke there. The historian puts it on the Emperor Claudius. Whether it was original with the Emperor Claudius or whether it was handed down to him by the Assyrians or some other more ancient people I, of course, do not undertake to say."

"Onto" His Job.

Washington Correspondent New York World.

Neal, the negro messenger at the speaker's room in the capitol, has changed his residence again. He is now from Danville, Ill.

Neal came to Washington as speaker's messenger with Samuel J. Randall. He was then a resident of Pennsylvania. The speakership cannot shift too quickly for Neal. He was a Kentuckian with Carlisle, a Maine man with Reed, a Georgian with Crisp, an Iowan with Henderson, and now he talks of the "mighty corn crops we are having out in Illinois."

There is a lock on the door to the speaker's private room. Speaker Cannon is opposed to locks. He wants the door to swing in to everybody. Neal will not have it that way. He locks the door and takes in the names of visitors.

"Uncle Joe" has given up fighting against the dictates of the messenger.

"I guess Neal knows more about the job than I do," he announced today.

Similar Ambitions.

From the Washington Post.

Representative Cushman of Washington state, generally called plain "Cush," tells a new anecdote on himself, which incidentally illustrates how bravely he has fought the battle of life. When he first went west he was seeking his fortunes in the new country. Traveling as far as Omaha, with his face still toward the setting sun, he found himself stranded. Although fairly well grounded in the law, it did not suffice to bring him ready money for a living.

Casting about for something to do that would assure him a few dollars, Cushman engaged to take charge of an Omaha restaurant. The salary was small, but he saved every cent of it. One of his associates in the Omaha place was an old-time waiter, who had been trained to his calling in the effete east.

In the course of a few weeks Cushman had money enough in hand to push still farther on across the Rockies and into the teeming state of Washington. He hung out his shingle, prospered in law and politics, became known as "the Abe Lincoln of the west," and was elected to congress. Then he traveled east. Stepping off the train in Nebraska, he entered a railroad eating house.

"Why, Cush. How are ye?" were the words that greeted him the moment his angular form showed within the door. It was his old Omaha friend, the waiter.

"What are ye goin' east fer, Cush?" inquired the Nebraskan, in the course of their reminiscent conversation.

"Going to Washington, Member of congress now," said Cushman, with a show of much pride.

"Well, I declare," exclaimed the waiter, really glad at Cushman's success. "Do you know I used to think I would like to go to Washington as a member of congress, too."

Hanna at the Helm.

For the sake of the nation, no less than that of the party, it is to be hoped that the Ohio leader will accede to the president's desires. With Roosevelt as the candidate and with Hanna in charge of the practical end of the campaign, the Republican party can in 1904 repeat its performances of 1896 and 1900, no matter how greatly rejuvenated the Democracy may be.—Baltimore American.

BURNED TO DEATH IN FRONT OF FIRE

Albert H. Bates Buried Beneath Almost Molten Mass of Metal.

FATAL FUN WITH MATCHES

Miner Electrocuted While at Work—Two Men Run Down and Killed by Trains. Inquest into the Murder of a Policeman at Donora.

While replacing a cooling plate in the side of furnace F at the Edgar Thomson steel works, Albert Harry Bates, 19 years old, of No. 814 Washington street, Braddock, was almost instantly burned to death yesterday. The cooling plates, connecting with the interior of the furnace are about midway up the bosh. Bates, who was a bricklayer's helper, was working on a platform about six feet from the ground. He had taken out the old plate and inserted a new one. All that remained to be done was to replace the brick work. The blast had been shut off, but it was turned on again with full force while Bates was completing his task.

More than two tons of the almost molten charge burst from the furnace, carrying the cooling plate with it. Bates was knocked from the platform on which he was working and buried beneath the mass of incandescent coke, ore and limestone. Before help could reach him he was burned to death. The flesh was burned from his bones. The wooden platform was reduced to ashes in a twinkling.

Joseph C. White, 2 years old, son of Joseph White, died at the home of his parents yesterday afternoon at No. 6940 Kedron street, East End, from burns received in the morning by his clothing catching fire while playing with his sisters with matches in the back yard.

John Neland, 43 years old, a carpenter of Jacks Run, Allegheny, died at the St. Johns General hospital yesterday from injuries received Monday at Verner station on the Pittsburgh, Ft. Wayne & Chicago railroad.

William Ryneski, 29 years old, was electrocuted in No. 2 mine of the National Mining Company at Sygan yesterday afternoon.

August Clever, 71 years old, died at the West Penn hospital yesterday from injuries received by being struck by a train on the Allegheny Valley railroad at Verona Monday.

Peter Bolac, 17 years old, of Stewart station took a train for the Union station, Pittsburgh. Upon his arrival he became ill and died of heart failure in a few minutes.

Deputy Coroner Huchel held an inquest yesterday into the death of Isaac Johnston a policeman of Donora, who died in the McKeesport hospital on November 8. He was shot the day before by some one of a number of Italians in Donora, five of whom were sent to the Washington county jail, in which county the shooting occurred. The jury recommended they be held for trial there.

GATHERING PICTURES FOR ST. LOUIS FAIR

Charles M. Kurtz Deeply Impressed by the Paintings in Carnegie Galleries.

Charles M. Kurtz, assistant chief of the art department of the Louisiana Purchase exposition, visited the art gallery at Carnegie institute yesterday. Mr. Kurtz is making a tour of the principal cities of the east to get a large list of pctures for the world's fair. After gong through the gallery here, he said:

"I will be disappointed if there is not at least a dozen pictures at our exhibit from this gallery. It has a higher average of merit than any exhibition of American pictures I have ever seen. It is quite often that I see where a gallery could be improved by omitting about one-third of the pictures; but not so here. I would not remove a single one here."

Mr Kurtz was connected with the Chicago fair in the same capacity as at present, and since that time he has visited every annual exhibition of art of importance in the United States, besides many in foreign countries.

Pictures for the St. Louis exhibition will be secured by juries selected to pick masterpieces from lists to be furnished by Mr. Kurtz. The juries are at New York, Boston, Philadelphia and St. Louis in this country, and at London and Paris.

Mr. Kurtz was particularly impressed with the pictures of James Whitcomb Riley while at the Carnegie gallery. He said: "I am so well acquainted with Riley that I am in a position to judge well of the merits of the production."

It is probable that this picture and "The Woman Reading," both in the west gallery, will be at the exhibition at St. Louis next year.

TURKEYS WILL BE SCARCE.

They Have Been So Active That They Are Skinny and the Price Is High.

—Few people realize, as they enjoy beforehand the great Thanksgiving dinner, that the turkey that is to go with the cranberry sauce, will be thin and in many cases won't be at all. In other words, turkeys will be scarce and skinny. Such is the information which has been coming in from Kentucky and other places noted for the production of the Thanksgiving bird.

Local poultry dealers all declare that turkeys will be scarce. This has been the outlook for some time. It is said that there are fewer turkeys this year than for many years back, and as Thanksgiving day draws nigh, people are beginning to realize this. The price of turkeys, wholesale, advanced from 14 to 15 cents a pound yesterday. A letter from Kentucky to a local poultry dealer stated that turkeys were selling at 13 and 14 cents a pound at the farm, and that the price would probably advance.

The good weather during the past fall has allowed the turkeys to roam so much that they are very lean. No bird or beast is noted for its roaming inclinations as much as the turkey, and it cannot be fattened during an open fall. With Thanksgiving day only one week ahead, the housewife is beginning to question the poultry dealers, and the above information is generally what is given for an answer.

MISSION CONFERENCE ENDED.

Work in Home Field Retarded by Lack of Money.

Lack of money for mission work is given as the reason that greater progress is not being made in spreading Christianity in the United States. This point was made during the discussion of missions at the second day's session of the conference on missions and stewardship in the Fourth Avenue Baptist church. The conference, which was held under the auspices of the committee on home and foreign missions and Christian stewardship of the Pittsburgh association, closed last night with a rally by the young people's societies and consecration services.

The morning session was opened by the Rev. John Snape, the subject for discussion being "The Missionary Situation." The Rev. C. A. Sears, the Rev. Dr. E. E. Chivers and J. J. Moore spoke. The Rev. C. W. Fletcher followed with a prayer for missionaries.

At the afternoon session the Rev. E. B. Palmer of Philadelphia, spoke on "The United States; a Nation in the Center of the World." After a discussion of "Woman's Work in Missions," the Rev. E. H. Dutton of Waynesburg spoke on "The Coming Force in Missions." The Rev. Dr. J. E. Darby closed the session with a prayer for increased resources.

BURGLARS ARE BUSY; NORTH SIDERS SCARED

Daring Robberies Are Reported Daily in Allegheny City—Police Officials Deny Knowledge of the Crimes or Criminals.

Despite the denials of Superintendent Campbell and his assistant, John Glenn, of the police department, thieves are working throughout the city in a manner so daring and successful that the residents of Allegheny have become greatly alarmed. With robberies reported every day from every part of the city, and particularly in Woods Run, not an arrest has been made for burglary within the past month. The entire front office force, under the supervision of Assistant Superintendent Glenn, is at work, but so far have failed to make a single arrest.

Thieves entered the residence of George Bardonner, No. 1325 Locust street, on Sunday afternoon when the family was absent. Silverware and jewelry valued at $410 was carried away and no trace of the burglars has been found.

Yesterday afternoon Superintendent Campbell declared he had not heard anything of the robbery and knew nothing of it. Mr. Bardonner said last night that he had reported the job to the superintendent of police on Sunday night and that he was assured that detectives would be put to work. The detectives have caught no one yet.

Early Monday morning burglars ransacked the residence of Charles Malafee, No. 1120 Chartiers street. They got away with a gold watch, $200 worth of silverware, $15 in cash and a large quantity of clothes. They were gone and on the floor a table cloth, containing over $100 worth of gold and silverware, wedding presents, most of it, was lying where they had left it. Detective John King is working on the case.

Philip Lasseor, an Italian shoemaker, of No. 1028 East Ohio street, Allegheny, was robbed of about $70 in cash early Saturday morning by two men who smashed the front window and robbed his till while he slept.

JAPAN AND ITS ART WILL BE DESCRIBED

Receptions of Art Society This Month Have Prof. Tenollosa as Lecturer.

Illustrated lectures on Japan and Japanese art will be the features of the three receptions of the Art Society of Pittsburgh, in the lecture rooms of the Carnegie institute on the evening of next Saturday, Wednesday, November 25 and Saturday, November 28. The lecturer will be Prof. Ernest F. Fenollosa. The photographs from which the lantern slides are produced were made under the direction of the lecturer.

The subjects of the three lectures are as follows: Saturday evening, "The Five Periods of Japanese Art." This lecture covers in synopsis the whole historic course of Japanese art for 13 centuries. Wednesday evening, November 25, "A General Comparison of European and Asiatic Art," following lines of parallelism in subject and treatment. Saturday evening, November 28, "The Universal Laws of Structure in Art and the Way to Teach Them in Modern Art Education." The series of slides covers masterpieces of all historic pieces of European, Chinese and Japanese art and includes some striking photographs from nature.

RESIDENCE FOR PASTOR.

Congregation's Novel Project for the Celebration of the Christmas Holidays.

The congregation of the Church of St. Mary of Magdaline, Homestead, is preparing to celebrate during Christmas week by presenting their pastor, the Rev. J. J. Bullion, with a $10,000 parochial residence.

Mr. Bullion has been pastor of the church for 23 years, and on December 9 will celebrate his 50th birthday. He started working in Homestead when the church was small and has built it up until now it is one of the largest churches in the county and the largest in Homestead in point of membership which now numbers between 2,500 and 3,000, and is still growing rapidly.

The present church building is worth $80,000 and a parochial school has been erected near it. The residence, which will be presented to the Rev. Mr. Bullion, will be near the church and school and will cost $10,000, all of the money to be raised in Homestead. The greater part of the amount has already been raised, and it is expected that the entire amount will be secured before Christmas week, when the presentation will take place. The combined value of the church buildings will then be about $130,000.

Three Taken in One Week.

Death has taken three members of the family of Mrs. Ewan Edwards, Jr., of Pleasant Valley, O'Hara township, within the last week. Mrs. Edwards' husband contracted smallpox and went to the home of his father at 922 Tenth street, Sharpsburg, where he died on November 3. After her husband's death Mrs. Edwards took her two children to their grandfather's home and they contracted whooping cough. Monday night Bertha, aged 3, died, and yesterday morning the other child, Evan J., died.

Dr. Shoop's
Rheumatic Cure
Costs Nothing if It Fails.

Any honest person who suffers from Rheumatism is welcome to this offer. For years I searched everywhere to find a specific for Rheumatism. For nearly 20 years I worked to this end. At last, in Germany, my search was rewarded. I found a costly chemical that did not disappoint me as other Rheumatic prescriptions had disappointed physicians everywhere.

I do not mean that Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Cure can turn bony joints into flesh again. That is impossible. But it will drive from the blood the poison that causes pain and swelling, and then that is the end of Rheumatism. I know this so well that I will furnish for a full month my Rheumatic Cure on trial. I cannot cure all cases within a month. It would be unreasonable to expect that. But most cases will yield within 30 days. This trial treatment will convince you that Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Cure is a power against Rheumatism—a potent force against disease that is irresistible.

My offer is made to convince you of my faith. My faith is but the outcome of experience—of actual knowledge. I know what it can do. And I know this so well that I will furnish my remedy on trial. Simply write me a postal for my book on Rheumatism. I will then arrange with a druggist in your vicinity so that you can secure six bottles of Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Cure to make the test. You may take it a full month on trial. If it succeeds, the cost to you is $5.50. If it fails the loss is mine and mine alone. It will be left entirely to you. I mean that exactly. If you say the trial is not satisfactory I don't expect a penny from you.

I have no samples. Any mere sample that can affect chronic Rheumatism must be drugged to the verge of danger. I use no such drugs for it is dangerous to take them. You must get the disease out of the blood. My remedy does that even in the most difficult, obstinate cases. It has cured the oldest cases that I ever met, and in all of my experience, in all of my 2,000 tests, I never found another remedy that would cure one chronic case in ten.

Write me and I will send you the book. Try my remedy for a month, for it can't harm you anyway. If it fails the loss is mine.

Address Dr. Shoop, Box 565, Racine, Wis.

Mild cases not chronic are often cured by one or two bottles. At all druggists.

RIVER ALIVE WITH TYPHOID GERMS

Source of Pittsburgh's Water Supply Is Painted in Black Colors.

FILTRATION IS DISCUSSED

Engineers Society Delves Into Problem. Reflection on Municipal Officials by One of Speakers—Dr. Watson Makes an Address.

"Municipal officials have a desire for graft greater than their care of the public's health."

Thus began Dr. W. H. Ingram last night before the Engineers' society in reading a paper showing the results of an extensive study of Pittsburgh's water supply. Dr. Ingram's subject was "The Allegheny River, a Bacteriological Problem." He showed up in black colors the river which supplies both Pittsburgh and Allegheny, declaring that the stream was alive with typhoid germs. The end of the river between Pittsburgh and Allegheny, he said, was a pool of bacilli that breeds typhoid in its most malignant form.

Addresses on filtration were also made by Dr. E. G. Matson, city bacteriologist; Morris Knowles, the city filtration engineer, and others.

Dr. Ingram denied the Allegheny river contained the first elements of self-purification, and said that its rapidly flowing waters, while passing over the smooth stones, might have the effect of preventing the multiplication of the germ en route from higher up the river, it did not encounter a purifying obstruction.

Typhoid from Seven Causes.

Taking up the question of typhoid fever, he ascribed its dissemination to seven causes, or mediums of infection. These included raw vegetables, oysters, crabs and fish, atmosphere, milk and water. He then described the source of contamination of Pittsburgh's water supply.

The Allegheny river, with its 11,400 square miles of watershed, averaging a population of 24 to each mile, he said was a drain for all that territory, and owing to the precipitous topography of its hills and valleys, the filth and offal from above were quickly on their way down towards Pittsburgh.

Dr. Ingram condemned the rural method of disposing disease-bearing refuse by dumping it into tributaries or sewers in an unsterilized state. This was a general practice and the greatest portion of typhoid was due to such careless disposition. In telling of the lack of natural purification elements in the river, he said that the scientific deduction was that matter containing bacilli dumped into the river at Oil City would reach the Brilliant pumping station in 15 hours during flood stages and in three days during low water.

Danger from Claremont.

This period was not sufficient to kill the bacilli, but six days at least are necessary. Pools and mud or sand-covered bottoms are means of natural filtration in rivers. Claremont was mentioned as an institution that was contributing largely to Pittsburgh's supply of bacilli.

Ingram gave statistics showing the number of thousands of bacilli taken from the Brilliant pool and counted by microscopic examination.

Dr. E. G. Matson talked on "Filtration From Hygienic Standpoint" and during his remarks showed a number of charts indicating stages of the disease in cities before and after the installation of filters. The comparison showed a result favorable to the filtration process.

He said the susceptible age of typhoid fever was from 15 to 25 years and a possible extension with modification to 35 years. Cases above the last age occur but are not common.

Some people he said were not at all susceptible to the disease and he said he believed he was not, as he was a regular user of the city water in its natural state.

James O. Handy read a technical paper on "The Art of Water Softening."

Morris Knowles showed a number of lantern views of different filtration plants and Frans Engstrom read a paper on "Opened or Covered Filters" which he favored the open.

Owing to the lateness of the hour no discussion followed the papers but it is likely a special meeting will be arranged for the purpose.

FAIR RIDER WINS RIBBON FOR PONY

Miss Bloodgood Gives Pretty Exhibition at New York Horse Show.

HACKNEYS ARE THE FEATURE

Gloomy Weather in the Metropolis Detracts from Attendance at Great Society Function—Women Win Ribbons and Applause by Dextrous Riding.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Herald Building, Herald Square,
NEW YORK, Nov. 17.

Another November day of fog and rain and gloomy skies had a depressing effect on the horse show and the attendance at the garden during the morning hours was decidedly small. After luncheon there were more arrivals and by 4 o'clock the crowd was fairly large. No records in the matter of attendance were broken, however, and although the evening brought a few more spectators than on Monday, the day, like Monday, must be called an "off" one.

The feature of the day in the ring was the display of Hackneys. The classes of these horses had not filled well this year, but the quality of the animals shown was superior. Groups of horse lovers surrounded the rails at all times during the judging and commented upon the points of the horses shown.

The preliminary exercising in the ring was also very interesting in the morning. Mrs. James Grosvenor, among others, was exercising her gelding, Petrolium, who has won so many ribbons for his proud owner. Mrs. M. B. Fuller drove her pony, Ruby, to a pretty little cart, and Mrs. E. F. Hayley showed her little Shetland, Aberdeen. But the ponies all yielded the palm to Thomas Watts' shaggy skewbald Monte Carlo, whose amusing actions made the many children present shout with glee.

The feature of the afternoon was the judging of the ladies' hunters and small ponies with amateur woman riders and the judging of four-in-hands. In the class for ponies under saddle, Miss Vera Bloodgood, daughter of Hildreth Bloodgood, who is a judge at the show, took the garden by storm by her dextrous riding. Each time the little girl made the round of the ring she received a storm of applause and when the judges gave her mount the blue ribbon she was again wildly cheered. The second and third ribbons also went to ponies ridden by women, Mrs. W. E. Woodend winning the red ribbon with The Master, and Mrs. John Gerken third prize with Imp. One man, Edwin H. Weatherbee, won a ribbon, a white one, for his pony, Spokanetta.

Among the awards were two second prizes won by entries of W. D. Henry of the Irvington stock farm of Sewickley, Pa.

BIG INCREASE IN BUSINESS.

Growth of Pittsburgh's Registry Department.

The registry department of the Pittsburgh postoffice shows an increase of 204.98 per cent over 1898, according to the report of Postmaster Holliday for the fiscal year ending November 1. The report shows that the receipts for 1902 amounted to $12,979.52, an increase of 27.51 per cent over 1898. The receipts for the year just closed amount to $15,403.76, an increase of 204.98 per cent.

Postmaster Holliday received a notice from Washington yesterday stating that hereafter postal cards of all sizes will be received in the United States mails. Heretofore the size of postal cards has been restricted to a minimum of 2 5-16x4¼ inches and a maximum of 3 9-16x5 9-16 inches.

MISS ANTHONY'S EFFORTS PROFITED HER BUT LITTLE

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Nov. 17.—Miss Susan B. Anthony today addressed the National Grange and submitted resolutions favoring recognition by the grange of the right of suffrage for women. Miss Anthony was given a cordial greeting, but when it came to taking a vote on the resolution the grange insisted on remaining in open session so that the vote might be complimentary to Miss Anthony, and not binding upon the organization. No record or declaration of the vote was made.

NEW ITALIAN CHURCH TO BE BUILT IN RANKIN

The Italian congregation of St. Mary of Caremalo's Roman Catholic church of Rankin yesterday concluded the purchase of three lots, each 25x80 feet, fronting on Holland and Swissvale avenues, from Robert Holland of Braddock, on which to build a $25,000 church next spring.

American Artist Dead.

PARIS, Nov. 17.—Edward Lord Weeks, the well-known American artist, died here today. He was born in Boston.

CONVINCING EVIDENCE

Michael D. Shelack, Ellwood City, Pa., a well-known machinist and lathe hand, voluntarily states that Doctor Tucker's treatment has entirely and completely cured him of severe bronchial and lung trouble.

In his own words he says: "For a long time I had been troubled with my nose, as well as the dropping of mucus from my head into my throat, which kept me constantly hawking and spitting and which made my voice coarse and husky. Eventually these symptoms extended to my bronchial tubes and to my lungs until I was almost in despair and believed I had consumption. I read Doctor Tucker's statement in the paper and decided to try his treament. I had been using a great many patent medicines and had tried several doctors, but all in vain, so I was almost discouraged. When I received the medicine from Doctor Tucker I began to use it, and, while I did not receive much benefit the first week or ten days, it was not a month until every symptom of my disease had disappeared. I am now entirely cured and the total cost of that cure was five dollars. I take great pleasure in recommending this treatment to bronchial and lung sufferers, feeling confident that it is the best that can be procured."

Mr. Harry J. Coons, 6841 Frankstown Ave., E. E., Pittsburgh, Inspector and Foreman in the Electrical Department of the Westinghouse Works, East Pittsburgh, Pa., states:

"Fully ten years ago I began to experience some difficulty with my head and ears. I first had dropping of mucus from the nose to the throat, blowing scabs and scales from my nostrils, and feeling as though I constantly had cold. It next extended to my ears, which became dry and itchy, and gradualy my hearing was impaired. Later the ears began to discharge and the discharges were so profuse and acrid that they made my ears and even my face sore. I had terrible head noises and could not hear common conversation. They grew gradually worse and worse in spite of the fact that I tried several different methods to have them cured. I at last determined to place myself under the care of Dr. J. Alfred Tucker, knowing him to be a specialist who for years had been treating these troubles successfully and whose reputation was such as to give me confidence in his ability. I was thoroughly discouraged until I consulted Dr. Tucker, but I placed myself under his care and almost immediately began to improve. The discharges ceased, the noises were all gone and in fact every symptom of my disease had disappeared in the marvelously short time of three months. If any person who reads this statement is afflicted with any or all of the symptoms that I had, I would say they were foolish if they did not give this skilled specialist an opportunity to treat them."

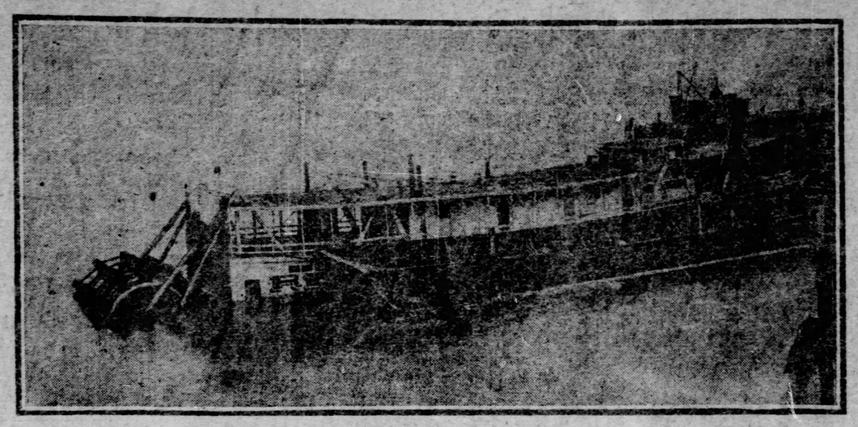
Steamer Return Sunk at Herrs Island Dam



Boat Being Rapidly Covered By the Rising Waters.

The steamer Return, owned by the Iron City Sand company, sank at Herrs Island dam about 3:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon as a result of a great hole stove in her hull, near the knuckle. The steamer was towing six empty flat boats to a sand digger at Forty-third street. The wickets of Herrs Island dam had been let down on account of the coming rise. One of the other wickets failed to fall into its proper place when the other wickets were lowered. This wicket was submerged. Capt. James McDonnell is commander of the steamer, but First Mate Bailey was on watch. He attempted to take the steamer over the dam as usual when the wickets were down. She struck the wicket and bounding back, began to sink slowly. She was steered toward the nearest bank and now lies submerged near the lock on the Pittsburgh side of the river. It is impossible to raise the boat now on account of the rising river. The water was over the Return's boiler deck yesterday, and by tomorrow she will be completely out of sight. The damage will reach several thousand dollars, but the steamer can be recovered. She was built many years ago and recently was rebuilt. She was in good condition and valued at about $10,000.

MAY CLOSE OPTION TODAY.

Control of the First National Bank of Allegheny About to Change.

It is probable that the control of the First National bank of Allegheny will pass to the new interests which seek the institution inside of another day. The option on the majority of the stock has another day to run and will likely be closed today.

It is understood that practically all of the stock under option was secured at the same price paid for the holdings of the Federal National bank interests, $125 a share. As the Federal interests owned in excess of 1,000 shares out of the bank's 3,500 shares, there was needed only a small block in addition to the Federal's, to swing the control to the new owners.

When the new interests are in control they will ask the permission of the comptroller of the currency to reopen the bank. It is known to be good shape and the permission will undoubtedly be given.

STILL LOCKED OUT.

Difference of Opinion as to the Number of Men Not Working.

There is a wide difference of opinion as to the number of men effected by the lockout inaugurated by the Builders' Exchange league of Pittsburgh. While officers of the league say more than 10,000 men are idle, the workingmen claim that no more than 1,500 are out of work.

No steps have been taken to bring about a joint conference. The Building Trades council met yesterday morning, but no statement regarding any action taken has been given out. It is stated that no action will be taken looking toward settlement until the officers of the Builders' exchange are certain that sympathetic strikes have been called off.

In order to make the lockout more effective, a committee to have charge of the entire situation was appointed yesterday, as follows: J. Charles Wilson, chairman; E. J. Detrick, secretary; S. Keighley, John Strouss, Joseph A. Weldon, E. T. Graham and P. LeGullon.

ENGINEER'S ACTION PREVENTS BAD WRECK

Two Hurt by Derailment of P. & W. Train Near Bakerstown Tunnel.

An open switch on the Pittsburgh & Western railroad a short distance west of the Bakerstown tunnel at 6:30 yesterday evening resulted in the injury of several passengers, two of whom were taken to the Allegheny General hospital. The injured are:

MRS. A. T. SCOTT, of Brown avenue, Butler; cut about face and body; taken from hospital to the home of a friend in this city last night.

MRS. C. C. ARMSTRONG of Grove City, Pa., cut about face and hands, and body bruised; taken from hospital to home of a friend in Bellevue.

These were the most seriously injured. The names of others injured could not be learned.

Had the engineer not noticed that the switch was open it is likely the disaster would have been much more serious. The brakes were applied and the speed of the train considerably reduced. The smoking car and one passenger coach jumped the track and ran into a bank close to the track. The engineer and fireman jumped and were uninjured.

PEOPLE WANT TO KNOW AT CARNEGIE INSTITUTE

All Kinds of Curious Queries Passed Up to the Reference Librarian—Keeping Records of the Inquires Made Daily.

Any kind of information, from the manufacture of pearl buttons to old-fashioned modes of travel, is sought for daily at the reference library of the Carnegie institute.

By a new arrangement Miss Willard, the librarian, and her assistants keep a daily record of the various subjects concerning which there is inquiry. The great variation of the subjects as well as the rapidity with which the desired information is furnished shows well the work that is accomplished by the institution.

On Saturday of last week people of all classes and conditions were on hand. It was first, "something new about China," and no sooner had the school boy left than a man of advanced years appeared just to satisfy himself as to the "salaries of the members of the British cabinet."

"Birds," "Indians," "Lafayette's visit to America," something about "immigration laws," "Pittsburgh's art and artists," followed. Then came men, women and children who wanted to know about "Virginia soldiers in the Revolutionary war," "the birds of Pennsylvania," something of the "habits of quail," the "industries of American Indians," the latest work on "living musical composers," information about "Victor Herbert," a treatise on the "genius and spirit of Methodism," facts about "Joseph R. Woodwell and his daughter, Mrs. Hallman," Pittsburgh artists, theories about "protective resemblances of animals," a complete story of the "life of Andrew Carnegie," the "Ohio Canal," "ancient modes of travel," the meaning of the Scotch word, "Gleyd," the "present price of iron and steel in Germany," something about "Kali, the bloody goddess and Taj Mahal, the great Mohammedan temple."

Other subjects listed by the librarian were, the "manufacture of pearl buttons," "musical instruments in use in India," information about "spires and towers," "pictures of Abbey's paintings," something about the lives of "Lincoln, Charminad and Paganini," a biography of "Ralph Waldo Trine," something of the author of a book of Persian poems, recently published, resembling Omar Khayam, "missions in Africa," all about "Ralph Waldo Emerson" and "the best possible training for statesmanship."

While nearly all questions deserve much attention, many are trivial such as "how can we get to Amber street" and "what is the German equivalent for the word plum."

Pentecostal Congregation Organized.

The Pentecostal congregation was organized in West Park tabernacle last night. Evangelist Ralph Elliott was ordained as a minister. Mr. Elliott has been preaching to a large congregation at the tabernacle every Sunday through the summer and autumn and it is largely due to his efforts that a $14,000 church building will be erected.

JOHN S. LAMBIE LAID IN GRAVE

CITY OFFICIALS WERE PRESENT

The body of the late John S. Lambie, president of Pittsburgh select council, was consigned to earth late yesterday afternoon in Allegheny cemetery. Despite the exceedingly disagreeable weather, hundreds of mourners attended the funeral, among whom were members of both branches of council, city and county officials, relatives and many friends. Among those in attendance were Mayor Hays, Assistant Controller Morrow and Postmaster Holliday.

The councilmen met at the city hall and went in a body to the Eighth United Presbyterian church, at Van Braam and Locust streets, where the body lay in state for an hour and where services were held. Many floral tributes were placed in front of the pulpit and altar, where the casket lay draped in the American flag, under which the deceased had served during the civil war. The offering from councils was a huge basket of American Beauty roses. From the Hays Post, No. 3, G. A. R., was a star of white and red roses. There were bouquets of roses from the Sabbath school and the associates of Mr. Lambie in the legal profession, and many individual offerings.

Policemen Kept Children Out.

An incident that marred the occasion was the refusal of policemen to allow children to enter the church. Mr. Lambie was greatly beloved by the children, to whom he had been a great friend and benefactor. The pastor in his address referred to Mr. Lambie's affection for children and of his originating children's day. Many a boy and girl, who had known Mr. Lambie well in his lifetime, sought to get inside the church to pay their last tribute to their dead friend, but were rudely driven away by the blue-coated guards at the door.

The services began at 2 o'clock with prayer by the Rev. M. M. Patterson, pastor of the First U. P. church of Wilkinsburg. The church choir sang the twenty-third psalm. The Rev. J. M. Wallace, pastor of the Eighth U. P. church, pronounced the eulogy upon his deceased parishioner, taking his text from the second verse of the seventh chapter of Nehemiah, "For he was a faithful man."

He said that Abraham's crowning virtue was faithfulness, and in that manner Mr. Lambie resembled the patriarch of old, and that he was faithful as a soldier, a lawyer, a public officer, a member of his church and to his home and kindred.

"He had a comprehensive knowledge of the law," the Rev. Mr. Wallace said, "he was industrious in preparing his cases, as all of his opponents as counsel well know, and he was true as steel to his clients. He was the dean of the Pittsburgh councils, having served in the capacity of councilman in this city for 27 years.

He Loved His City.

"He loved his city and planned and fought manfully for its welfare. And above all he was faithful to the end to God. He originated Children's day in the church, which was first called Flower day. Mr. Lambie having started it by having the children bring flowers to the Sunday school on a special day in the year. He was my friend and was instrumental in bringing me here from my charge in Youngstown, over 21 years ago. I knew him better than any of you and I know he was honest, conscientious and God-fearing to the end. He was one of God's noblemen."

At the close of the Rev. Mr. Wallace's address the choir sang another psalm, after which the Rev. J. W. Witherspoon, pastor of the Fifth United Presbyterian church of Allegheny, delivered the closing prayer.

Services at the Grave.

At the grave George Sands, commander of Hays Post No. 3, G. A. R., had charge of the services. He was assisted by Senior Vice-Commander C. W. Wood and Adjutant A. F. Dalzell. Chaplain Theodore F. Brown read the ritual of the post and delivered the prayer.

The pall bearers were James J. McAfee, W. H. Leahy, S. B. Charles, Julian Morrow, Edward Prichard, Thomas Armor, Nathaniel Green, Frank Johnsten.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE VICTORY IN OHIO COURT

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 17.—The supreme court today rendered a decision which is taken to mean that Christian Science may be practiced in Ohio. Sometime ago a family by the name of Bishop, in Hamilton, O., was tried and acquitted on a charge of manslaughter, for having permitted a child to die without giving it medical aid. The state carried the case up on exceptions and today the supreme court overruled the exceptions.

Old Barrett Homestead at Sherman and Montgomery Avenues, Allegheny.

The board of trustees of the Presbyterian hospital yesterday afternoon closed the deal for the old Barrett homestead at Sarman and Montgomery avenues, Allegheny, as a site for a new hospital. The property was secured from George B. Barrett, the wholesale jeweler, for $45,000. It has two park frontages, 80 feet in Sherman and 110 feet in Montgomery avenue. The old gray brick house is a landmark in Allegheny, having been built 40 years before Mr. Barrett bought the property, about 1880. The hospital is now in Ridge avenue. Preliminary plans have been drawn for a new four-story hospital to cost $50,000, which the board of trustees hopes to start next March.

LECTURE COURSES MAY START TECH

BETTER THAN RENTED HOME

Many Applications for Information Now Being Made—Contract for Carnegie Institute Work Not Let—Mrs. Mills Still Occupies Property.

Courses of lectures have been suggested as the plan which Director Arthur A. Hamerschlag of the Carnegie Technical schools will use to introduce the work of the schools to the people of Pittsburgh and the people of Pittsburgh to the work of the schools. This plan is the one understood by at least one of the members of the technical schools committee of the Carnegie Institute board of trustees as the one contemplated by the new director. It may be put into effect this winter.

The plan of starting instruction in rooms temporarily rented for the purpose with great lack of facilities compared with what the schools will furnish when completed, is regarded by some as far from a good scheme.

With a course of lectures including the various departments of the work of the schools, the sailing would be far smoother, it is argued. To secure a lecture room would be easier than to secure and equip them with class room apparatus sufficient for the attendance which may await to almost any figure and swamp the enterprise in its very start, if regular classes were formed now.

Fully a year's work lies ahead of the new schools before any of its departments can be opened with an approach to completeness, and it may require two years to finish the construction of the schools. In the meantime it is the purpose of the management to obtain as much as possible of the benefits. What plan will be adopted lies almost entirely with the new director, as he is the recognized expert whose opinion is most valued. As exclusively announced in yesterday's Gazette, Mr. Hamerschlag will be here Friday.

Applications for information regarding the schools are becoming plentiful now, President W. N. Frew receiving letters almost daily from all sections of the country. Requests for catalogues, prospectuses, and general information about the institution come regularly. He said yesterday that he supposed the total requests would number 100. These are largely from outside this section, from places where the knowledge of the delays in the construction of the home for the schools has not extended. The answer is regularly that sufficient progress has not yet been made to allow detailed replies to the questions asked.

It had been expected that the contract for the excavations and foundations for the Carnegie Institute addition would be let Monday or yesterday, but they have been delayed. It is now expected that a couple more days will see them awarded.

Mrs. E. L. Mills, who insists upon staying with her lease on the Mahoninney street house not yet taken for the institute addition site, has so far shown no sign of a compromise. Regard for the work of the institute has been suggested to her, but does not seem to have any effect and the offer of compensation for removal made by President W. N. Frew was rejected. The offer of compensation for removal was made in order to hasten the vacation of the property. It is possible that legal proceedings will be instituted to investigate the validity of her claim.

GROCERY STORE ROBBED.

Burglars Ransack Center Avenue Store and Get $23.

Burglars broke into the grocery store of F. E. McCreary, at 2250 Center avenue, yesterday morning and stole $23 from the cash register. The living rooms in the building were also ransacked.

Frank Brandusa, aged 22, and Gay Foster, aged 21, both colored, were each fined $50 at No. 7 police station yesterday. The men are suspected of being implicated in a number of recent burglaries on the South Side hilltop.

At No. 3 police station Joseph Morrell and Louis Gella were each sentenced to the workhouse for 30 days, by Magistrate J. J. Kirby. They are charged with holding up and robbing Andrew Oliver of $12, in Mulberry alley, Monday night.

TWO SCHOOLS NEEDED.

Wilkins Place May Get One and McKeesport the Other—Immediate Action Expected.

Two new suburban school houses are likely to be built soon. One of them is wanted by the residents of Wilkins place, who now have no convenient school home for their children. If built it will be located near the borough line of Wilkinsburg and Swissvale.

The Wilkinsburg board of education meets today to take action on the matter, and if favorably reported, it is said a site will be chosen at once.

The other school house will be in McKeesport, where the city schools are greatly overcrowded. Several of the buildings need immediate relief, according to Supt. J. B. Richey. Bids for a new site will be advertised for shortly and funds for at least one new building will be provided soon.

This new remedy was discovered by John A. Smith, Milwaukee, Wis., who is generous enough to send a trial free to every sufferer who writes at once. It is a home treatment and will not keep you from your work.

As you know, if you've tried them, every so-called rheumatic remedy on the market today, except this genuine cure, will cause you violent stomach pains, and some of them are so dangerous they will cause heart trouble. And the worst of it is they never cure. When a person has rheumatism the constitution is so run down that he should be very careful what he puts into his stomach.

It therefore gives me pleasure to present a remedy that will cure every form and variety of rheumatism without one single unpleasant feeling. That remedy is

"GLORIA TONIC."

Before I decided to tell the world about the discovery of "Gloria Tonic" I had it tried on hospital patients, also on old and crippled persons, with perfect success. But some people never will believe anything until they know it from experience, so the best and quickest way is for you to write me that you want to be cured, and I will send you a trial box of "Gloria Tonic" free of cost. No matter what your form of rheumatism is—acute, chronic, muscular, inflammatory, deformant, sciatic, neuralgia, gout, lumbago, etc., "Gloria Tonic" will surely cure you. Do not mind if other remedies have failed you, nor mind if doctors say you are incurable. Mind no one, but write me today sure. "Gloria Tonic" will stop those aches and pains, those inflammations and deformities, and cure you so that life will again be worth living. This offer is not for curiosity seekers, but is made to rheumatics only. To them I will send a trial box of "Gloria Tonic" free.

Never before has a remedy been so highly indorsed as "Gloria Tonic." It has been indorsed by such world-noted men as Dr. Quinlere of the University of Venezuela, Hon. E. H. Plumacher, United States Consul, Maracaibo; Prof. Macadam of Surgeons' Hall, Edinburgh, the famous magazine, "Health," London, and a column of others.

If you are a sufferer send your name today and by return mail you will receive a trial box of "Gloria Tonic," and the most elaborate book ever written on the subject of rheumatism, absolutely free. This book contains many drawings from actual life and will tell you all about your case. You get "Gloria Tonic" and this wonderful book at the same time, both free, so let me hear from you at once and soon you will be cured. Address JOHN A. SMITH, 2849 Germania Bldg., Milwaukee, Wis., U. S. A.

DR. KOCH WILL BE HERE TOMORROW!

Consultation and Examination Will Be Free.

Dr. Elward Koch, the inventor of the Koch Inhalation, will arrive in this city tomorrow morning and will be at the Koch Lung Cure, 321 Penn avenue. The doctor asserts that bronchial catarrh of the lungs is often mistaken for consumption. Do not fill the stomach with medicine, which does more harm than good. The doctor says:

"Nothing but a direct application of healing vaporized medicine, antiseptics and germicides to the very seat of the disease will effect a cure of this or any other lung disease, and they can be applied only by inhaling them in a vaporized state. The lungs constitute an air cavity, and can be reached medicinally only by medicated air. This treatment was discovered, perfected and first successfully applied by me. It is the only natural, scientific and common sense treatment ever applied for bronchial consumptive diseases. If it fails nothing else could possibly succeed. But it never does fail, unless mortal injury to the lung structures has taken place before it is applied.

"I will positively assert that Bronchial or Catarrhal Consumption can be cured by my healing, oily vapors that reach the seat of the disease, laden as they are with the Robert Koch germ-killing Tuberculine. It can be given at your own house. Send for a book explaining the treatment and giving testimonials of patients cured.

"After years of careful observation and examining the sputum of 3,100 cases, I am convinced that fully three-fifths of all deaths charged to consumption are really catarrhal bronchitis, associated with dyspepsia, which is brought on from severe dosing.

"While I am in Pittsburgh I shall be pleased to examine the sputum and consult with any patient free who will call upon me at my office, 321 Penn avenue.

HEALTH RESORTS CLOSED TO JEWS

INVALIDS ARE THUS EXILED

Hebrews Residing in Provinces Also Forbidden to Visit Moscow to Procure Medical Aid—Czar Promised Better Conditions, but Is Overruled.

[SPECIAL CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

BERLIN, Nov. 17.—A letter from St. Petersburg states that the Russian government has evidently decided to drive out the Jews from Russia. Minister of the Interior Von Plehwe has just issued an order which prohibits Jews from visiting the health resorts of the Crimea, the Caucasus and along the Baltic under pain of severe penalties. The authorities at these resorts are ordered to keep a sharp look out for Jews and to arrest any intruders. Invalid Russian Jews are literally driven into exile.

In many cases where the patient is unable to bear a long journey the prohibition is equal to a sentence of death. The same order prohibits Jews residing in the provinces to visit Moscow to obtain expert medical aid. For Jews of southern and central Russia requiring dangerous operations to be speedily performed this order is equivalent to a death sentence.

Von Plehwe's latest variation of Jew baiting is one of the worst acts of persecution yet perpetrated in Russia. This seems to put an end to the hope which the Jews of Russia have had since Dr. Marx, the chief rabbi at Darmstadt, succeeded in calling the attention of the czar to the terrible conditions under which the Jews were living in Russia, and especially to put the Kishineff affair in the right light before him. The czar during his sojourn at Darmstadt promised Doctor Marx that the Kishineff affair would be probed to the very bottom and added that he heard of the many horrifying details for the first time.

The czar also had many talks on the subject of the Russian Jew with his brother-in-law, the Grandduke Michel of Hesse, and Doctor Marx was informed by letter from the grandduke that the czar was now in possession of all the facts regarding the massacre and that he would do all in his power to see not only that the guilty were punished but that all property taken away from the Jews at the time of the massacre was restored to them or their heirs. There is no doubt here that the czar has the best intentions but his will is not strong enough to break down the web of intrigues which surround him. The prospects are then that Von Plehwe will make it impossible for the Jews to live in Russia.

MILLER CONCEALED UNFAVORABLE REPORTS

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CINCINNATI, Nov. 17.—(Special.)—In the trial of D. P. Miller and Attorney Johns of Rockville, Ind., today for alleged conspiracy to extort bribes from persons doing business with the postoffice department, the government is thought to have made a better showing than heretofore. Among the witnesses today were Joseph T. Watson, secretary to Fourth Assistant Postmaster General Bristow, who made stenographic notes of Miller's statements when confronted by his superiors with the charges against him.

The principal witness was George A. Christiancy, who was first assistant attorney in the postoffice department when Miller was the second assistant attorney. Christiancy described the circumstances under which he had dismissed the Ryan case. He said Miller had referred to the Arnold and other cases where the use of the mails were allowed, after investigations had been ordered, and thought the same should be done in the Ryan case. Christiancy said that Miller had not advised him fully about the character of the latest reports of the postoffice inspectors, which were unfavorable to Ryan continuing the use of the mails.

UNCLE SAM DEFRAUDED.

Faulty System of Invoicing the Goods for Import Proves Very Extensive.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—(Special.)—Frauds in the declaration of goods exported to the United States which cost the United States $1,000,000 a year are laid bare in the report of Third Assistant Secretary of State Peirce of the American consul service in Europe. Under the present system the fee for certifying an invoice is $2 50. It matters not whether the invoice is for $100 or $100,000 worth of goods. No charge is made for certifying an invoice of less than $100. The large shipments of goods are frequently listed in invoices of less than $100 and scores of distinct involves are often combined in one invoice to avoid the payment of more than one fee.

Thomas W. Peters, the United States consul at Plauen, Germany, reported one case in which a manufacturing American merchant combined 107 distinct invoices in one. Mr. Peirce recommends a complete revision of the method of certifying invoices. He would have a certification of every invoice worth more than $25. He would have a minimum fee of 25 cents and a maximum fee of $50.

WANT A RECEIVER.

Stockholder and Director Make Grave Charges Against the Compressed Air Company.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—Application was made today by Madeline Hughes, a stockholder of the Compressed Air Company, to have a receiver appointed for the corporation. She alleges in her petition that the company is insolvent and unable to pay its debts. The company has a capital stock of $8,000,000.

Judge Lacombe signed an order requiring the defendants to appear in court on November 20. Attached to the application was an affidavit of Thomas Clark, a director, which states that certain directors have been endeavoring to wreck the Compressed Air Company in order that its assets might be sold either through the bankruptcy courts or by foreclosure of mortgage on the property, that they might acquire it through such sale.

The machines picked up in the raid last night "paid money," as well as cigars. The machines will be destroyed.

CHINESE LOVER TAKEN FROM HIS SWEETHEART

In Despair He Jumps into River, but is Rescued and Tells Story.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—Charley Wing, who says he is employed in a laundry at Newark, N. J., attempted suicide today by jumping in the North river from a ferryboat. When rescued he told the following story:

"I work at No. 98 Magazine street, Newark. Sunday I go over to Mott street, New York, to spend the day with my sweetheart, Yo King. Last Sunday, after leaving Yo King, I called at my cousin's laundry, No. 86 Bowery. He told me Yo King was no longer in love with me but with Fong Ho, who is rich and that I would be killed if I did not keep away.

"Today I got order from laundry worker's boss in Mott street to go work in laundry at Washington, D. C. I stopped work and went over to Mott street. Three of my countrymen told me I obey orders or I would be killed. I said I would go to Washington. Then one of the men punch me and black one of my eyes. They told me that I would suffer more if I did not go to Washington and let Fong Ho win Yo King. While crossing river I think that if I was going to be killed I do the job myself. Then I jumped in river but was pulled out."

At this point Wing became violent and begged for a weapon to kill himself. Nurses were called and they strapped the Chinaman to his cot. He will be arraigned tomorrow on a charge of attempted suicide.

SCHENLEY WILL BE DELAYED.

London Barristers Seem to Be Undetermined Just How to Proceed.

It was expected that the will of Mrs. Mary E. Schenley would reach this city this week, be filed and probated, but the indications now are that the interesting paper will not be received for two weeks or more. By reason of the fact that the will was executed in England and that the bulk of the property bequeathed is in this country, certain legal technicalities have arisen which are sorely puzzling the English barristers. They have communicated with the Commonwealth Real Estate & Trust Company agents for Mrs. Schenley's property in this country, but the nature of the communication is not known.

Lawyers in Pittsburgh say that the case is a very unusual one and that before the will is proved in England it may require the assistance of Pittsburgh talent to unsnarl the legal tangles. The opinion has been expressed by attorneys familiar with orphans court practice that the will should first be filed in London, and that then either the original will or a certified copy sent here.

NEW DEATH DEALER.

A Frenchman Invents Weapon Which Will Sweep Large Circle With Rain of Lead.

PARIS, Nov. 17.—(Special.)—The war department is interested in the new machine gun invented by Eugene Du Mortier. It is claimed that this gun will completely sweep a given zone, leaving no intervening space in which it would be comparatively safe wor any body of troops to move. While one battery of the gun is firing at a range of 2,400 yards, another will simultaneously fire at 300 yards, increasing or diminishing its range as may be necessary.

The gun rests on a four-wheeled carriage and works on an adjustable swivel steel platform, so that it can be turned in any direction. Each of the two batteries has 10 barrels and the magazine is loaded automatically. It is said that 450 Lebel balls can be fired in a minute.

HARRISBURGH, Nov. 17.—Gov. Pennypacker today fixed the following dates for executions in Western Pennsylvania: Tomasso Alello, alias John Battisti Alello, and Michael Pallone, Jefferson county, January 12, and Charles Cruger, Westmoreland county, January 14.

PERSONALS

"Timber scouts out our way say we are going to have a hard winter," said Henry Q. Conover of Minneapolis at the Seventh Avenue hotel last night. "The farmer may swear by the quills of his goose as weather indicators, the huntsman may watch the probabilities by observing if the squirrel stores an extra large supply of nuts, but the timber scout has full faith in the pines and hemlocks of the north woods. Just before leaving Minnesota I met several of my timber scouts who had been in the upper part of the state and over the line in Canada. They told me of signs that in their opinion portend a cold winter. The lichens on the north side of the tree trunks are thick, indicating that old Boreas will land it over his brothers from the three other points of the compass, in other words that the north wind will blow long and loud during the winter, the lichens being a kind provision of nature to temper the wind to the northern tree. The pine needles are holding on longer than usual, while ordinarily at this season the ground is carpeted with the fallen leaves. Usually the booming of the forest from the bursting of the cells containing sap, that rise when the mild air at night is not heard until the middle of winter, but this summer scouts tell me that waking in the primeval woods is like marching to the sound of heavy cannonading. My advice to everybody is to lay in a goodly quantity of fuel, for I have found my timber scouts to be good weather prophets. Timber scouts? They are the fellows whom lumber operators employ to go through the woods far away from civilization and pick out likely tracts for their employers to buy."

"Croakers who point to the example of Chicago and predict that St. Louis will suffer a serious setback in business after the excitement produced by the exposition are not getting much attention out our way," said John Gayer, a St. Louis merchant, at the Union station last night. "The croakers confound cause and effect. I assert that the dullness which characterized commercial, industrial and financial circles in Chicago the years following the exposition were not the effect of the general conditions there prevailing. It was general all over the country, and Chicago was no worse off than other cities. We of St. Louis anticipate no panic, believing that the present flurry in financial circles was produced by Wall street and that the slump in the iron and steel business is merely temporary and natural, but that business will pick up after awhile. Suppose there should be one? In fact what reason for thinking a world's fair a bad thing. If times should be hard in St. Louis after the exposition, every St. Louisian is willing to wager now that the depression will be general all over the country."

Dr. A. J. Barchfeld, who was one of the principal Republican spellbinders during the recent county campaign, so sprained his voice that he has been unable to speak above a whisper since. Unable to obtain relief here, he has made arrangements to accompany a friend in the woods of North Carolina and will leave for there Friday night. In hoarse whispers and eloquent signs he is telling his friends what he will send them in the way of haunches of venison and bunches of quail and pheasants after he and his trusty Winchester get into action along the pine-clad ridges and valleys of the Parker's State. Dr. Barchfeld always looks on the bright side of things.

The Rev. Dr. David Gregg, who has been offered the presidency of the Western Theological seminary of Allegheny, did not arrive in this city yesterday as was expected. Dr. Gregg was to have conferred with the board of trustees of the seminary regarding his possible acceptance of the position. No word has been received from him and it is supposed his daughter is still very ill. It is likely Dr. Gregg will arrive this morning.

Francis J. Torrance, chairman of the Allegheny Republican city committee and president of Allegheny select council, is confined to his home, No. 946 Western avenue, suffering with a severe cold. Mr. Torrance contracted cold last Friday and since then has been unable to leave his home. His condition yesterday was much improved and Mr. Torrance said over the telephone that he expected to be out in a day or two.

RIVAL FOOTBALL MANAGERS ALMOST COME TO BLOWS

LIE IS PASSED BY RIVAL MANAGERS

Tuit, of W. & J. and Stuart, of State Almost Come to Blows—Bonds Signed.

AT THE PREPATORY SCHOOLS

It was a stormy meeting that Manager Tuit, of W. and J. and Chauncy Stuart, representing State college had yesterday when they met to post the forfeit for the football game between these colleges Thanksgiving at Exposition park. The lie was passed and each assumed a hostile attitude. Had it not been for interference on the part of others who were in the room where the meeting took place there might have been a "run in" by them.

Tuit produced his bond signed by business men who are rated in the prominent financial journals, while Stuart has his signed by two local attorneys, who have money, but are not rated. Tuit's bond was accepted, but when Stuart showed his the Wash.-Jeff. manager said that the bondsmen did not "look good" to him. This riled Stuart, who in an exchange of repartee exclaimed:

"Well, I am through with you. W. & J. never yet played a game with a team that had a chance with them, that they did not try to act unfair. Your team robbed Geneva Saturday and——"

"Hold on there," interrupted Tuit. "I know nothing of the affair. I was in the box office, but can produce affidavits that McDonough tackled Thompson."

"What do your affidavits amount to?" yelled Stuart. "W. & J.'s team always try to rob and I——"

"You are a liar," cried Tuit.

"You are another liar," said Stuart, with more force. "The liar and a robber."

But men advanced with clinched hands, but uninterested parties got between them and averted trouble. Stuart left the office still saying, during the time he was through with Tuit, but later both met again and exchanged bonds.

This completed all the preliminary arrangements for the game. Tickets will be put on sale Friday.

A person who says he is impartial writes The Gazette as follows apropos to the W. & J.-Geneva squabble:

Pittsburgh, Nov. 17.

I notice there is a good deal of talk and jangle over the Geneva-W. & J. game. As an impartial spectator, I think that in the interest of the sport in this end of the state a strong effort should be made to bring these teams together again and on neutral ground. It is time to make a statement regarding the tackling of a Geneva player by a W. & J. scrub man, but the truth of the statement cannot be, and it does not appear that any interested parties who were in a position to see. It is a blight upon Washington and Jefferson college, and they would seek to right it not by talk, but by coming forward and offering to replay the game. The teams are well matched and a game in Pittsburgh will not only satisfy W. & J. and Geneva, but will greatly accrue to the financial benefit of both teams. G. N.

Kiski Favors Mosse.

Arthur Mosse, coach of the Western university eleven, is Kiski's selection for umpire in Saturday's game with the Pittsburgh High school at Friendship park, for the runner up championship of the city. Kiski yesterday requested that Mosse be accepted as umpire. He is agreeable to High school, who in turn will name the referee. Either Joe Steen or Bob Maloney, the latter from Fordham.

There was no practice by high school yesterday. The rain made the field very heavy and all over it was ankle deep in mud. The condition of the field and the fact that the players are still sore after Saturday's game with Shadyside, caused Coach James and Capt. Harper to postpone the practice until today. The latest addition to the hospital list is Schmidt, guard. He reported to Prof. Cooper in geometery yesterday but complained of being sick. He was sent home, and when examined by a physician it was found that he had a broken rib.

Coach James will have three days in which to get the team in shape for the Kiski game. This contest is causing much interest among the followers of the schools. The game is looked upon as an open one, each having a good chance to win. High school, however, is not favored so much in the betting because of the big hospital list. Kiski has not had a hard game since it met Shadyside a week ago Monday, and its men are all in fine shape. Even considering this High school is considered the better team and should win.

The attendance at Saturday's game was the largest that ever saw an interscholastic football contest in Western Pennsylvania," said Prof. Cooper yesterday. "The money taken in at the gate will help to defray the expense of the team for the season. The amount realized has not yet been determined, as Shadyside has not made its report."

Coach James, who is very popular with the boys, will be prevailed upon to return for next year and an effort will be made to have Joe Thompson of the Geneva team at the school as his assistant. Thompson will be graduated at Geneva the coming spring and if it is thought a place in the High school faculty can be found for him. There is likely to be at least two vacancies in the faculty next spring and Thompson can be appointed to one of them. Thompson is also a good track man and could coach the High school field and track candidates in the spring.

The Allegheny preparatory school has again rounded its team into fair form for the second game with the Trinity Hall eleven of Washington, which will be decided Friday afternoon at the Colosseum. Tustin, who has been playing a strong game at tackle on the prep. eleven, has been taken from the line to right half, which position was held by Evans before he went south. This new combination makes the back field just as fast and the line equally as strong. Sloan, who has been out of the game with a bad knee, will be at his end Friday.

FACULTY WON'T ALLOW A POST-SEASON GAME

WASHINGTON, Pa., Nov. 17.—The W. & J. college faculty at a meeting this evening refused to sanction a post-season game of football between W. & J. and Geneva. It was at first thought that the game would meet with favorable consideration by the college faculty, but the majority of the members at the meeting tonight refused to give their consent. W. & J. will close the season with the game on Thanksgiving day with State college, and the members of the team will break training from that day on. The faculty athletic committee and the football authorities have decided to pay no more attention to the accusations of Geneva.

GROVE CITY, PA., Nov. 17.—(Special.)—The Grove City College Reserves defeated the Slippery Rock Normal team 25 to 0. The Normals were completely outplayed and they held the Reserves for downs but once. Despite the one-sided score, however, the game was interesting. The playing of Gardiner and R. BLOOMER CAN'T FACE HARVARD

Yale's Big Star Is so Badly Injured That He Will Not Be Able to Get in Game.

CRIMSON'S SECRET PRACTICE

NEW HAVEN, CONN., Nov. 17.—Ralph J. Bloomer, Yale's veteran guard, was undergoing an X-ray examination this afternoon while the other players of the team were playing through mud and rain at Yale field for signal practice, the first time since Saturday. It was not ascertained beyond doubt whether a bone in Bloomer's foot is fractured, but the condition of the member was found to be such that he cannot play against Harvard.

A change was made today in that Batcheider was moved in at center, and Rorabeck went in at left guard. Flanders and Norton took turns at right guard in Bloomer's place. The coachers are experimenting to learn if the center trio will have more life with Batcheider as a snapback. The first subs and the scrubs were given a short but sharp line-up this afternoon. They will be given another scrimmage tomorrow against the varsity, after which the scrubs will disband with a banquet in the evening.

Much practice was taken this afternoon in working a protective formation for Bowman and Mitchell in attempts to drop field goals. Their success was not brilliant.

CAMBRIDGE, MASS., Nov. 17.—(Special.)—The Harvard varsity team put in a hard day's work in spite of a cold rain and a thoroughly soaked field. The players lined up against the second team for a 30-minute scrimmage, but according to the reports given out from the secret practice scored but one touchdown and one safety against the second. The touchdown was after Marshall had failed to drop a goal from the 35-yard line, and the varsity had secured the ball on the second's three-yard line. The varsity later rushed the ball the whole length of the field, only to lose it on a fumble on the second's five-yard line.

Meier and Lemoyne were still unable to get into the work, and although Lemoyne was on his field today and probably will be able to line up tomorrow, there begins to be considerable doubt as to whether Meier will be able to get into condition soon enough to get into the Yale game.

PHILADELPHIA, PA., Nov. 17.—(Special.)—Pennsylvania's overtrained football squad got another day's rest today. Owing to the inclement weather and the condition of the fields coaches deemed it advisable not to call the players out for a lineup, and the men were not disappointed.

The men are confident of winning the annual battle with the Ithacans, for they feel that the short let up in their daily practice stunts has done them a world of good, and when they resume work they expect to show much of the dash that characterized their early practice.

ITHACA, N. Y., Nov. 17.—(Special.)—The Cornell coaches became a little worried today when Davitt, the center rush, was called home by the serious illness of his father. Just when he will return is uncertain, but his absence will surely handicap the team in the work of preparing for the game with Pennsylvania.

Today not enough scrubs appeared on Percy field to give the varsity practice, so the hard program which the coaches had laid out had to be abandoned, much to the disgust of Warner and Farrell. Accordingly, the men were given two hours work in the fundamentals of falling on the ball, tackling the dummy and getting down the field on punts. Coffin, Hunt and Tourison did not take part in this work. Lynch, substitute quarterback, who was injured in the Columbia game, has recovered rapidly enough to allow him to don his togs.

RELIGION AND ATHLETICS.

New South Sharon Church Will Include Fine Gymnasium.

SHARON, PA., Nov. 17.—(Special.)—The idea of the Rev. D. C. Piannette, pastor of the South Sharon Methodist Episcopal church to mix athletics with religion is to be carried out by the erection of a gymnasium in the basement of the new church now being built at a cost of $12,000. Mr. Piannette saw the necessity of securing a place where the young men of South Sharon could spend their evenings. He made his plan known and secured the cooperation of the elders.

In addition to the gymnasium there will be a reading room and bath rooms. It will be conducted along the same lines as a Y. M. C. A.

UNDER WEIGHT LIMIT.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 17.—(Special.)—Robert Fitzsimmons was on the scales yesterday afternoon. The pickled fighter weighed just 165 pounds, three under the weight limit. Considering the fact that only a few months ago he weighed nearly 200, and when training for his New York show his little matches with Joe Grim and the lamented Irish giant, Con Coghlan, balanced the bar at a weight well over 180, this is a remarkable fact.

Fitzsimmons is doing the hardest kind of work for his fight with Gardner on the 25th. He has adopted a regular schedule and is sticking to it day after day.

PIRATES ARE NOT AFTER PITCHER JOE CORBETT

President Dreyfuss Says There Is No Truth in Many Reports. League Meeting Called.

President Dreyfuss of the Pittsburgh club, who returned Monday night from the east, was at his desk yesterday and was ready to talk over the game and the prospects with all comers. The only news that he had to tell was in relation to the rumors concerning Pitcher Joe Corbett, who, according to reports, has been turned over to the Pittsburgh club by Ned Hanlon.

Mr. Dreyfuss says that so far as the Pittsburgh club is concerned there is not one word of truth in the report. The Pittsburgh club has never made any effort to secure the pitcher and what is more the club owner never talked to Ned Hanlon on the subject. Mr. Dreyfuss could not understand where Jim Hart, the owner of the Chicago club, who on his arrival home from the coast announced that Corbett had signed a Pittsburgh contract, could have secured the information, as there is not the least truth in it.

BOWSER AND KENNEDY.

The Local Rivals Have Been Matched to Meet Again.

Eddie Kennedy and Mull Bowser, local welterweights, met last night and signed articles of agreement to meet in a finish fight at the Colosseum on Monday, November 30. Ever since Bowser received the decision last January over Kennedy, the latter has been trying to get a return match, but the managers and principals never could agree on the weight. Finally last night the men agreed to box before the club that would offer the best inducements. They will box at 150 pounds at 8 o'clock.

Played One-Half Game.

The Avalon and Bellevue Tiger team came together Saturday afternoon on the latters' grounds. The game was fast, but owing to the slippery condition of several Bellevue players the game did not get under way until near darkness. After one half of exciting play, in which Gray Bros. scored a touchdown, the game was called by Referee Shaw on account of darkness. The two teams will clash again Thanksgiving morning on the Avalon volunteer grounds, when Capt. Pat Nolan requests all Avalon Tigers, including Harbison and Cowl, to report for practice in full uniform Thursday evening at 7:45 sharp.

WILL KEEP IMP. SAIN.

Capt. Brown's Big Offer Refused by Barney Schreiber.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 17.—(Special.)—Capt. Sam Brown, the Pittsburgh millionaire, who owns a big farm in Kentucky, has offered Barney Schreiber $100,000 for Imp. Sain, his turf stallion, but the Russian government bought the horse and spoiled the deal. Schreiber today turned down Brown's offer and had the stallion insured for $50,000.

In Sain Schreiber has one of the greatest of American stallions. The majority of racers on Schreiber's string were sired by him and Master O. Woodlands. In a short time his get will be entered in all turf classes, having proven its superiority in smaller stakes. Brown says he will find the horse yet.

A special from New York says: "President Harry Pulliam of the National league has issued a call for the annual meeting of the organization, to be held at the Victoria hotel, this city, Tuesday, December 8, at 12 o'clock p. m. The board of directors of the National league will meet on the same day at 12 o'clock at the headquarters of the club in the St. James building, Twenty-fifth street and Broadway. As it is no war on the coming meeting will be in the nature of a love feast.

"The championship pennant will be awarded to the Pittsburg baseball club, who won in time, with the customary festivities, and the annual election of officers will take place. There is no likelihood of any change in the presidency or in the board of directors.

"The chief interest in the meeting will be in the trading of players, and as there are many prospective deals on the tapis, there are likely to be considerable changes in the makeup of several of the teams.

Frank Haller, who Monday signed to manage the Evansville Central league team, yesterday secured the signature of "Buck" Kennoy, the former Pittsburgh High school shortstop, who was with him at Waynesburg college, pursuant to an Evansville contract. Pitcher Ike Collin, another local boy, has accepter Haller's terms and will sign in a few days. Haller is also dickering with Capt. Campbell, an other High school infielder, to play third. Milt Montgomery of East Pittsburgh, who played second at Waynesburg last summer, will also be tried out at Evansville next summer. Montgomery and Konner, who was at Evansville last summer, will fight for the bag next spring. Frank Cross, a brother of Lave Cross, is the only catcher Haller has as yet from McKinley of Bellevernon, who caught at Evansville last year, was let out at the close of the season. Hafer the other first baseman and Goodwin are the pitchers left him from last year. He has no outfield.

Gus Dundon of Allegheny, who was with the Denver Western league, and who finished the season with Burgess Ed Hickey's Millvale troupe, will be a member of the Chicago American league team the coming campaign, according to the ruling of Garry Herrmann of the National commission of the two big leagues. Dundon was claimed by Comiskey, but the American league scout that he belongs to them. He is an infielder and came home from Denver last summer sick. When he regained his strength he joined Hickey's team, playing shortstop.

ALL-SCHOOL TEAM PICKED BY SHADYSIDE STUDENT

All Best Shadyside Players on a Fine Eleven—Harper Would Captain Second.

A Shadyside academy student has formed, what he considers the best school football team in Western Pennsylvania, picking the players from the local schools. Since Shadyside won the championship this is his selection:

Seasor is the only man chosen from another team, he being put on the eleven because of his ability in carrying the ball on tackles back. The second team, which would be captained by Charlie Harper of Pittsburgh high school, is:

The schedule for the Interscholastic Hockey league of which Hosen's will be a member, is announced in a few days. The schedule calls for 16 championship games, beginning December 5 with East Liberty academy and Shadyside academy, and closing March 5 with the same teams. The school boys will in all likelihood play the big eastern university sevens when they come to Pittsburgh this winter. A game with Princeton is an annual event and it is very likely that Yale will again play the locals.

An election will be held soon at Shadyside to choose a successor to Carence Overend as captain of the hockey team. Charlie Ahl, who is Secretary of the league, will likely be elected. He has no opposition.

It is also confidently stated that Mr. Clark be allowed to challenge under the British rating rules or the present New York yacht club rule.

Mr. Clark is a director of Coates Limited and has large business interests on both sides of the Atlantic. The family has led Scottish yachting for a quarter of a century.

WILL NOT RETIRE.

The Keenes Will Stick to the English Turf.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—(Special.)—The report that James R. Keene and Foxhall Keene intend to retire from the English turf is not true. In answer to an inquiry about the matter the following reply was given out at James R. Keene's office today:

"Mr. Keene is simply sending for a number of the older horses and bringing them back to this country. There is no truth in the report that he intends to retire from the English turf."

Say Corporation Will Operate Plants.

The report came from Cleveland last evening that the operation of the constituent companies of the United States Steel Corporation will by January 1 be centered here under the direct charge of the corporation itself, the constituent companies which now compose the big concern being merely subsidiary. The report was incorrectly written, mentioning the American Steel Hoop Company as still separately managed, despite the fact that it has been merged in the Carnegie Steel Company. Very little credence is given the report here, although it is known that the operating headquarters of the greater part of the corporation's enterprises will be removed to this city.

DR. MILES MEDICAL C

SOCIETY

MR. AND MRS. BERNARD SHEAHORNE will be in Pittsburgh for Thanksgiving. Since their wedding, November 3, Mr. and Mrs. Horne have been spending their honeymoon in the mountains of the south, where they are at present. Much interest is attached to their home coming owing to the prominence of both the bride and bridegroom, the former being well-known in golf circles and having won the western and national women's championship this year. Mr. Horne is one of the best known golf players in Western Pennsylvania and a member of an old Pittsburgh family. Mrs. Horne visited here last spring with Mrs. O. D. Thompson at the Allegheny Country club, and made many friends. Some handsome entertainments will be given in her honor.

Two other brides who are being extensively entertained are Mrs. David King Irwin and Mrs. Alexander Rook Carroll, the daughters of Ralph Basgaley. Mrs. Alexander W. Rook and her daughter, Mrs. Helen Rook Carroll of Penn and Homewood avenues will entertain next Thursday afternoon, December 8, in their honor. The hours will be from 4 o'clock until 6, and the assistants will include a large number of friends of the two hostesses. Invitations for the affair will go out next week.

Miss Janette Browne Introduced.

Mrs. Marcellin Cote Adams gave a reception yesterday afternoon which served a double purpose, that of a housewarming and to introduce Miss Janette Browne. Miss Browne is a daughter of George H. Browne of Charlottesville, Va., and a niece of Mrs. D. Jarvis Adams and of Mrs. George Belmain, with whom she made her home. The hostess, the debutante and her two aunts received together in the drawing room of Mrs. Adam's home in Fifth avenue and Woodland road.

Miss Browne wore a gown of white mousseline with trimmings of ecru lace, the hostess, a handmade gown of thin white net, and Mrs. Belmain pink and trimmed with lace; Mrs. Belmain was gowned in spangled black net, and Mrs. D. Jarvis Adams appeared in black lace over silk. In the line of assistants were Mrs. E. E. Scull, Mrs. Thomas Hartley, Mrs. W. Harry Brown, Mrs. Charles Wolf, Mrs. Frank Harper, Miss Rachael Aiken and a number of the debutantes.

There was an almost total absence of chrysanthemums, flowers of almost every other variety taking their place. In the dainty pink and white drawing room were arranged the debutante's bouquets, including roses, violets, carnations and a few chrysanthemums. The clusters of blossoms found places on the mantels and about the doorways and windows. The crystal chandelier sparkled through a wolling of asparagus. Smilax was used in the hall, and in the red-walled library mantel and bookcases were banked with greens. The yellow marguerites formed a centerpiece in the dining room, where the table had a handsome cover of lace. The room is done in delf blue and white, and the yellow blossoms made a bright spot in the otherwise dark apartment.

Miss Browne is a graduate of Miss Dana's school in Morristown. Mrs. Charles Wolfe, who poured tea at yesterday's entertainment, will entertain at cards for Miss Browne on December 3.

Had Three Honor Guests.

Mrs. Alva C. Dinkey, Mrs. E. D. Slick and Mrs. Joseph Stinpson were honor guests at the tea which Mrs. Marshall Reid Ward gave yesterday afternoon from 2 until 5 o'clock. The party of four received in the drawing room of Mrs. Ward's home in Wallingford street, where nearly 300 guests were welcomed during the afternoon. Among those asked to assist were Mrs. D. B. Hutchinson, Mrs. Samuel M. E. Kinsey, Miss Leonora Stewart, Miss Ketura Horne and Miss Catherine Horne, Miss Caroline Benn and Miss Maud Bishoff.

Simple decorations of ferns, trailed over the windows and doorways, giving an especially pretty effect. A large vase of white chrysanthemums was placed at the foot of the stairs in the hall, where the predominating color was red. Asparagus fern adorned the red opalescent shade which hung low over the dining room table, on which a huge centerpiece of yellow chrysanthemums. The table was without cover save a few beautiful lace doyles. Pink and white were the colors which finished the pretty drawing room, where white marguis had bankings of ferns, with a large cluster of white chrysanthemums at one side.

Dr. and Mrs. Ward gave a dinner in the evening for the aids and an equal number of men, following the dinner with cards.

Weds a Cincinnati Girl.

Mrs. C. L. Rose of Fremont street, Allegheny; her son, George Rose, and a son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Anderson, left on Monday evening for Cincinnati to attend the wedding of Miss Gertrude Steadman and Floyd Rose, which takes place today. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kolb (nee Rose), who have been spending a part of their honeymoon at Fortress Monroe, have gone from there to Cincinnati to be guests at the wedding. Mrs. Kolb was Miss Mary Rose until her wedding last month. The marriage today is to be a home affair at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Steadman in Reading road. Mr. Rose, the bridegroom, left for Cincinnati last Friday evening. The wedding rehearsals and supper took place last night and were attended by the out-of-town guests. After their wedding trip Mr. Rose will bring his bride to Allegheny, where they will make their home.

Dinner for Bride and Bridegroom.

Mr. and Mrs. David W. McNaugher of Lafayette street, Allegheny, were host and hostess at a very pretty dinner last evening at which honors were shared by Miss Henriette Frances Cordier and William Johnston Lucas, who are to be married next Friday. Dainty little handpainted cards marked the places for the guests, 16 in number. In addition to the honor guests and the host and hostess, covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. Henry Braun, Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. McDonald, brother-in-law and sister of the bride-elect, at whose home the wedding will take place; Mrs. Henry Cordier, mother of the bride; Mrs. Robert Scott, Dr. and Mrs. Frank Todd, Miss Barber, John McIntosh and Wilson Stewart.

The principal decorations were in the dining room, where the table bore a centerpiece of yellow chrysanthemums. Greens were on the chandeliers and in the other rooms on the first floor were vases of flowers.

Miss Tracy Here for Several Days.

Miss Mary Colden Tracy, who will be the soloist at this week's Pittsburgh orchestra concerts, arrived in the city yesterday and is at the Hotel Schenley. It is expected that she will be the recipient of much social attention during her stay here, as she is not only a fine artist but a young woman of high family position. At the concerts Friday evening and Saturday afternoon she will sing the beautiful "Der Freischutz" aria for soprano and some French songs, an well chosen. Victor Herbert's program for this week abounds in novelty, the symphony by Glazounow is to be played for the first time in the United States, and Mendelssohn, Delibes and Tschaikowsky are each represented by a composition to be played for the first time at these concerts.

Reception for a Son and His Bride.

Mr. and Mrs. Ira F. Brainard of North Highland avenue have cards out for a reception Tuesday evening, December 1, from 8 until 11 o'clock. The honor guests will be the son and daughter-in-law of the host and hostess. Mr. and Mrs. James H. Brainard. Mrs. Brainard, prior to her marriage last June, was Miss Nanning, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Nanning of Andover, Mass.

Relief Club's Entertainment.

The bazar, musicale and dance, for which invitations were sent out some time ago by the members of the Relief club, will take place today in the South Highland auditorium. At the bazar, which will be held this afternoon, there will be a fancywork table, common sense table and the various other features of the usual bazar. Some of the best musicians in the city will contribute to the entertainment, and in the evening there will be dancing. All three entertainments are under the patronage of a number of charitably inclined women, the club itself being composed of a number of young girls who are aiming to provide Christmas cheer for poor children.

Evans—Dickson.

A pretty home wedding was celebrated last evening when Miss Elizabeth Venus Evans was married to William Edward Dickson at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Evans, in Homestead. The ceremony was performed at 7 o'clock by the Rev. H. Walker Vincent of the First Baptist church, Homestead.

Latta, was solemnized last evening in the First Presbyterian church, Johnstown, Pa., by the pastor, the Rev. Dr. C. Hays.

Arrangements are being made by the societies of St. Peter's Roman Catholic church, McKeesport, for a formal reception to the Rev. Father Clestine Fallon, assistant pastor of the church, who is expected home on next Monday from a three months' visit to his home in Ireland.

CONCERT BY A CHOIR.

St. Paul's Cathedral Singers and the Pittsburgh Orchestra Render a Good Program.

An interesting concert was given in Carnegie Music hall last evening by the choir of St. Paul's cathedral and the Pittsburgh orchestra, under the direction of Joseph Otten. This concert, as well as the one given last year by the cathedral choir, was for the benefit of the Home of the Good Shepherd. A large audience was present, and a two-part program was presented.

The interest centered about the polyphonic, a capella compositions, of which the choir, under Mr. Otten's direction, has made much earnest study. Among these numbers particularly pleasing were the "Justorum Animae," by Witt, and the old Palestrina a capella chorus, the "Gloria Tibi Trinitas Papae Marcelli." The choir, which consists of over 40 members, is a well-balanced, well-trained body of singers who sing with true feeling and a distinct seriousness of purpose.

The Pittsburgh orchestra gave several pleasing numbers, and also acted as accompanist for several of the choruses, the Nekes' "O Crux Ave" requiring wood and brass accompaniment, the Mitterer hymn supported by brasses only, Mozart's "Ave Verum" having string accompaniment, and Singenberger "Oremus, pro Pontifice Nostro Pio," having full orchestra accompaniment, the orchestration for which was arranged by Joseph Otten.

LECTURE BY AN EXPERT.

William Metcalf Will Talk on a Subject Pertinent to Pittsburgh Life.

William Metcalf, formerly president of the Engineers' society, will lecture on "Technical Education and Some Post Graduate Courses" before the Academy of Science and Art in the lecture hall of Carnegie Institute tomorrow evening. These lectures are free and the public is cordially invited.

Mr. Metcalf has been closely identified with the development of the iron and steel business in this locality and can give facts connected with the development of the industry which few others possess; and he has also given much attention to education in its different relations to the activities of life. No man can give more on the relation of science to industry and the applications of science to the prosperity and daily life of Pittsburgh than Mr. Metcalf, who needs no introduction to this community.

Are You Sure

that you understand the Room-Renting Bureau of The Gazette? It will pay you to investigate. It's this way: You enroll your name with us. That's one part of the game. Dozens of applicants for good rooms have already enrolled in the bureau. That's the other part. We put you "next" to these room-hunters and you rent your rooms. But it doesn't cost you a cent. That's the beauty of it. Don't wait to try it.

Among the Clubs

H. S. Stevenson Talked on Art.

Art was taken up for discussion at several of the women's clubs yesterday afternoon. Horatio Stevenson spoke before the Woman's club in the assembly room of the Central Young Women's association on "Modern Schools of Painting." He gave a very interesting and clear exposition of the different schools of painting, including the classic and more modern schools, and those identified with different nationalities. He talked of the madonnas of the old schools and the madonnas of modern art. He initiated the club into the studios across the water and told how the great paintings are developed until they hang upon the line. His talked was followed by a free discussion, in which questions were asked and answered. The artist when asked who is the best artist in New York today candidly replied "Chase." The delightful and informal talk was continued over the chocolate and cake which was served under the direction of Mrs. Anna Sowhill, assisted by Mrs. Louis F. Newman, Mrs. G. W. L. Price, Mrs. Frank Whitesell, Miss Caroline Blumberg and others.

Mrs. Robert D. Coard was the appointed leader for the day and the program was arranged by her, but because of illness she could not be present and during the hour of the meeting Mrs. Jane A. Hall presided. Mrs. Charles W. Gerwig also acting as secretary in the absence of Mrs. Coard. The songs sung by Mrs. Sam Brown were a very enjoyable feature of the afternoon.

British Artists.

The Lawrenceville New Century club took up the study of British artists yesterday afternoon. The subject was treated by Miss Kate Neumont and presented in a fascinating manner. She traced the art development of England from William Hogarth and his portraiture down to the present day with Laurence Alma-Tadema and his exquisitely beautiful classic genre paintings. Each brief, biographical sketch was illustrated with the portrait of the artist and a copy of one of his paintings, the collection of photographs, etchings and engravings in monotone and brilliantly colored being a very valuable one and loaned to Miss Neumont for the afternoon by J. J. Gillespie & Co.

Music, violin and piano, was rendered by Mrs. H. E. Ingersoll and her daughter, Miss Wallace. One new member was received into the club, Miss Carrie Evans. The New Century club decided to take part in the reception which the federated women's clubs of Pittsburgh and vicinity will give Miss McKnight at the Hotel Schenley on December 3.

The Colonial Club and Dutch Art.

The Colonial club discussed art yesterday afternoon, the president of the club, Mrs. E. W. Locke, giving an entertaining talk on Albrecht Durer, followed by a discussion in which the club women joined. Mrs. Moore read a sketch of the life of Robert Burns, and several of his best known poems were read by different women. Current Topics were introduced by Mrs. Thorn. The Central club decided to participate in the reception to be given by the club women for Miss McKnight.

Ready to Start.

The educational department of the Civic club, of which Mrs. J. J. Covert is chairman, will meet next week, when arrangements will be completed for the tour of the traveling art collection. The original exhibit, founded about six years ago through gifts of money presented the Civic club for the purpose by Mrs. William Thaw, Jr., and others, has been enlarged and its former weak features strengthened. In about 10 days it will be ready to start on the tour of the different public schools in Pittsburgh and Allegheny. The collection includes many fine photographs and engravings, plaster casts and models. The educational department is also advocating the establishment of a medical inspection of the schools, a plan which has been working successfully in New York for some months.

THOMAS SUFFERS FOR NEGLIGENCE

GEORGE MEIER MAY NOT HANG

Mrs. Nancy Rorison Answers Bill of Anna Leonard, in Which She Charges Fraud.

Shield's Story of a Check Transaction. Donahue Ousted.

Edward D. Thomas was found guilty of involuntary manslaughter for shooting Elmer M. Hart, at the Jefferson hotel, Jefferson township, on June 3. Judge Shafer in charging the jury said Thomas acted as the proprietor of the hotel in repelling intruders, but the jury must consider that there were strangers in the house who might desire to temporarily leave and re-enter during the night. The question in the case was whether Thomas in forming his belief that the man he fired at was a burglar, had acted negligently. The jury was out an hour and a half and brought back a verdict finding Thomas guilty of negligence. Judge Shafer explained that the word was not necessary to the verdict, and it was erased, the finding being entered as "guilty as rendered." A motion for a new trial is expected.

District Attorney Haymaker is preparing a petition asking that commissioners be appointed to inquire into the mental condition of George Meier, who is now under sentence of death.

Widow Makes an Answer.

Mrs. Mary Rorism has filed an answer to the bill in equity filed by Anna Leonard for decree of specific performance of an agreement to sell a piece of Penn avenue property for $8,500. In the answer Mrs. Rorism denies the power of attorney given by her, asserting she was fraudulently induced to sign it.

In common pleas court No. 2 the Assembled Tile and Slab Company, a corporation under the laws of New Jersey, has filed a bill in equity against Mary Chapman and others, formerly trading as Phillip Semmer & Co., which presents a peculiar industrial situation.

Manager Kept Possession.

The bill avers that the plaintiffs, by an agreement entered into in July, 1901, secured the plant, etc., of the defendants located at Sixteenth and Muriel streets, South Side, and retained Phillip Semmer as manager. The agreement shows the defendants were to receive 125 shares of the capital stock of the plaintiff concern, for the transfer. On November 4 last, the bill sets forth, Semmer was relieved as manager of the plant, that is officially; but that instead of giving up possession he retained possession of everything, including books, machinery, etc., and continued using the plaintiff's material, carried on the business, wholly excluding the plaintiff and its agents. He is also accredited with stating that he would continue in the same manner.

The court is asked to enjoin him from continuing in possession and also to adjust the amount alleged to be due the plaintiff for material used and other damages done the plaintiff's business.

Clarence C. Shields was on trial in criminal court on a charge of false pretenses, made by Louis Cohen. Cohen claims that Shields had him cash a check for $760 by false statements as to the amount of money he had deposited in the South Side Trust Company. When the check was presented Cohen said he could get it cashed as the defendant had no such a sum on deposit.

Exchange of Checks.

Shields claims that he did not have a check cashed, but that he and Cohen exchanged checks, so that the defendant could have the use of the money for a few days. An agreement was made, he said, that he was to give Cohen a check for $765 on an out-of-town bank and that when Cohen presented it at the bank they would advance no cash but would take it only for collection. The defendant says, then took advantage of the situation and had him arrested on a charge of false pretense.

It also developed that Shields after he had given Cohen a check for $760 got him to give him another check for $716. The friend had the check cashed, which entirely cleaned out the defendant's account at the Fifth Side bank, leaving Cohen owning the worthless check for $760.

Charles Stimple, Charles Reutzel and C. C. Pfordt each pleaded guilty to selling oleomargarine without it being stamped as such and were each sentenced to pay a fine of $100 and costs. Ben Silverman, W. H. Shaffer and M. Brand also pleaded guilty to similar charges. Brand's case of Brand sentence was suspended, but the other two were ordered to forfeit $50 and costs.

Pleaded No Defense.

George Ferguson, E. J. Dunn, G. H. Wehrle, Jr., A. Levinson and M. Levinson pleaded no defense. The Levinson were ordered to pay $100 and costs, Ferguson was fined $50 and costs, and sentence was suspended on Wehrle on the payment of the costs.

In the case of James W. Critchfield and Robert B. Woodfolk, of 613 Liberty avenue, a nolle prosse was granted. They were charged with selling 50 bushels of peaches that were in a decomposed state.

Eugene Edwards was acquitted of a charge of felonious assault and battery on Hazel Thompson. Edwards was alleged to have broken into the prosecutrix' room at 2450 Fifth avenue and to have threatened her life. She also said that afterwards he snapped a revolver at her on the street, but that the weapon failed to go off.

Judge S. A. McClung made a formal order restraining Peter J. Donahue of the Fourth ward from occupying a seat in Pittsburgh select council. The order was made on the petition of Attorney John S. Weller, who conducted the case against Donahue, asking for an injunction to prevent Donahue from continuing. Nothing was done in the courts yesterday in the matter of Select Councilman James W. Platt.

It is said that there will be no attempt made to have the formal judgment of ouster entered in the case of James W. Platt, who has been nothing as the select councilman from the Second ward, unless Platt should insist on occupying the seat. Platt has said that he will not attempt this and this was the result desired by those who moved against him. Attorney Charles A. O'Brien, who represented the Platt opposition, said yesterday that he would not ask to have any order entered.

LEGAL BRIEFS.

Judge J. W. Over disallowed the claim of the accountant, the decedent's widow, of $2,029 32, in the matter of the estate of R. S. Blecher, and sustained the exceptions filed to the account.

As a preparatory step toward issuing $650,000 of county road bonds a financial statement of the county has been filed in the clerk of court's office. The debt of the county is $4,212,585 77, and the assessed valuation for 1903 is $641,480,160.

The master in the divorce proceedings of John H. Kuhns against Anna R. Kuhns has filed his report, recommending a decree on the grounds of desertion. The wife fought the proceedings and made a counter charge of desertion. The testimony was conflicting, both the plaintiff and defendant laying the blame to the other for their separation.

The following executions were issued yesterday: J. Charles Dickens against Ernestina Hofmeister et al., $4,968 17; R. E. Crowell vs. C. A. Hutchinson, with notice, $6,071 41; H. Superior Court Reverses Judgment in Suit of City Against Martha P. Biggert.

Two opinions handed down in the superior court, sitting in Philadelphia, were received by Prothonotary George Pearson yesterday. Both opinions were by Justice Rice:

In the appeal of Martha P. Biggert from the court of common pleas No. 3 judgment is reversed and, ordered for the defendant. In 1899 the city entered suit against Mrs. Biggert to recover the cost of laying a sidewalk and setting a curb in front of her property on Sylvan avenue. The work was done under an ordinance for placing sidewalks and curbs on Sylvan avenue from Hazelwood avenue to Tredegar street. The defense set up that the city had not notified Mrs. Biggert to do the work. The jury brought in a special verdict finding that the work was done by the city at a cost not greater than it would have cost the owner, and that the work was done without notice to the defendant. The court under this verdict giving judgment for the city, the appeal was taken.

In his opinion Justice Rice says an ordinance requiring lot owners to lay sidewalks is a police regulation. It is not a tax or local assessment in the nature of a tax based on special benefits according to the land owner, although ordinarily these are a full equivalent for the cost. Whatever may be said of the duty of the abutting property owner with respect to the repair of the sidewalks, it surely cannot be contended that it is his duty, in the absence of an ordinance to lay a particular kind of sidewalk and support it with a curb. Such duty arises when the municipality by a valid ordinance has "required" him to make the improvement, and in order that he may have opportunity to perform it, has notified him.

The court says the right to do the work, or make the best bargain for doing it, is a valuable right and cannot be arbitrarily taken away by the city and then hold him liable for the cost.

The appeal of Bernard White from the orphans court of Crawford county was dismissed. Daniel White, father of the appellant, died March 28, 1896. By his will he provided that his wife was to have her living on his farm and sufficient clothing, the estate except a few legacies, going to the appellant. When the accounts were filed exceptions were taken and on June 20, 1900, Mrs. White, the widow demanded her right under the Intestate laws and refused to take under the will. The appellant claimed that it was too late to take this action and that she had indirectly elected to take under the will.

Justice Rice finds that this was not the case. He declares that the law is very careful to guard a widow's right and prevent her from either accepting or refusing to abide by a will until she has all the information required to act intelligently. The lower court is sustained and the decree affirmed at the cost of the appellant.

Two appeals to the superior court were filed with Prothonotary Pearson. In the case of Keller Brothers vs. F. A. Yeager, the latter appeals from a verdict of $300 recovered against him.

John Volk, Amanda Scott and Barbara Sickle appealed from the decision of the court of quarter sessions of Washington county in the matter of the extension of the limits of the borough of Donora.

A MAN CAN'T WORK

He Can't Eat, Can't Sleep, Can't Get Comfort Any Way but One—Pyramid Pile Cure Will Cure Him, Give Relief at Once—Never Known to Fail.

Just a little pain may so distract a man's mind that it will cost him hundreds of dollars. Life is a battle. To succeed one needs all his energies and all his brain force to apply to the question at hand. Even a corn will make him irritable, cross, angry—and an angry man seldom succeeds. The trifling pain of a corn is a pleasant feeling beside the agonizing ache of piles. That is a pain which seems to pervade the whole body. It communicates itself to all the parts near the seat of the trouble and brings on a heavy, dragging feeling in the perineum. Those who have never so suffered do not know what it means. It racks the nerves, prevents sleep, prevents concentrated thought and makes a man lose flesh as fast as he would with a virulent fever.

And yet piles are looked upon as a little thing. They are neglected—allowed to run on from month to month and year to year. By and by comes a dangerous surgical operation. Maybe it cures—maybe it kills.

There is only one sure, safe and quick cure for piles. It is the Pyramid Pile Cure. It is a recent discovery and its properties are such that it cleanses, soothes and heals the inflamed parts, reduces the inflammation at once, and with continued treatment removes all swelling and all trace of the disease. It puts the membranes in a healthy, active condition and cures completely and permanently.

From Samuel Victor, Detroit, Mich., "I had not written you sooner because the first box of the Pyramid Pile Cure I used helped me so much, and I wanted to wait until I was completely cured, and so it was that after using three boxes of your Pyramid Pile Cure, I am entirely cured of the terrible disease from which I have suffered six months; and now I am using Pyramid Pills which help me very much."

From B. H. Palmer, Windsor, Calif. "I have been troubled for fifteen years with piles and have tried different salves and ointments, but never came across anything like your Pyramid Pile Cure. I used two 50 cent boxes three months ago, and they have made a complete cure, and I am recommending them to everyone I know to be afflicted. Thanks for the cure."

From Thomas A. Nixon, 854 N. Banbrey street, Philadelphia. "It is now time I should let you know that I am cured of bleeding piles. If you only knew how I have suffered from them for the last nine years, in pain. Last April I went to the drug store and bought a 50 cent box of Pyramid Pile Cure, and I found at last a good cure. I had spent dollars trying to get cured of my piles; all others have failed to cure me, but now I am happy to have a good sleep and be able to work also."

Pyramid Pile Cure is sold by druggists generally. If yours doesn't keep it, he will get it for you if you ask him. Book on cause and cure of piles sent free. Address Pyramid Drug Company, Marshall, Mich.

EASTERN STOCK MARKET DULL AND PROFESSIONAL

By JOHN O. BAGLIN, Financial Editor.

The net changes at the close of the Eastern stock market yesterday were unimportant compared with the day before, but the decline during the final half hour resulted in wiping out all the gains and closing prices were at or near the lowest of the day. Throughout the session the market was dull and professional, and the sales foot up only 425,000 shares, or 100,000 shares smaller than the day before. London quotations averaged lower, with Atchison and Steel preferred showing the leargest declines. The tone of the foreign market, however, had little or no effect on this side. Pennsylvania and Steel preferred were closely watched, because there was a revival of the rumors that these stocks were to be again attacked. There is little doubt that the bear party is taking advantage of every little circumstance to create distrust, and it is also worthy of note that the articles which have appeared in the eastern sensational press have been known to be in preparation before their appearance in type. This was the case with an article which appeared in a New York paper on Sunday, in which a "staff correspondent," who probably could not distinguish the difference between a steel billet and a piece of pig iron, undertook a revaluation of all the plants of the Steel Corporation. There is practically no moral difference between the tactics of the bears today and the tactics of the bulls a year ago; both were used to deceive the public and accomplish selfish aims, but the public does not appreciate the deception until after it has made the sacrifice. Yesterday, however, it looked as though that part of the public which is easily disturbed by rumor had been shaken out. From the opening until after 2 o'clock the tendency of the market was upward. Steel preferred opened firmer at 51⅝ and advanced to 52, and the bonds were fractionally higher, advancing to 66⅞. Pennsylvania opened at 112⅝, and after hesitating a moment, advanced to 113¾. The other railroad stocks advanced fractionally, while Chicago & Alton advanced from 30½ to 32¼. All the tractions were firm, and Consolidated Gas recovered the loss of the day before, advancing from 175 to 177¾. Amalgamated Copper was steady, advancing slightly in the face of a reported decline in the metal. Late in the session rather heavy selling appeared in U. S. Steel preferred, which declined rapidly to 50⅝, and closed at the lowest. Pennsylvania declined to 112 and closed at 112½. Everything else on the list shared in the decline, and finally closed heavy.

Accompanying the weakness in Steel preferred was a rumor that a cut in the price of steel rails had been reported. There is reason to believe that this rumor was unfounded. At the same time the rate for call loans advanced to 6 per cent old, and there was also an advance in sterling exchange rates which in the opinion of some put further gold imports out of the question for the present. There had been some buying of the general list by professional traders early in the day, on the theory that the years past the money that was usually available for investment in the higher grade of bonds was put into bank and trust company stocks. Many of the old institutions increased their capitalization and sold the new stock at high premiums. In addition to this, many new institutions were organized and the stock sold at high premiums. These transactions absorbed an enormous amount of money and while they were being negotiated the bond market was neglected. The market for bank and trust company stocks became glutted, and it will be a long time before any group of capitalists attempts the floating of a new concern of any considerable size. In the east industrial promotions absorbed the funds of large houses and individual capitalists, the prospective profits in syndicate transactions being more tempting than those in bond transactions. The situation today is entirely different, and if the course of the money market meets expectations, more attention will be devoted to the bond market.

A local broker whose experience embraces many notable stock market panics of the past, talking of the present situation, said yesterday: "Ordinarily the climax in a downward movement in the stock market is reached with a crash in values. Ten months ago I looked for such a crash any day, and again last August I thought inevitable. But it did not occur. Every time the market looked like going to pieces, some influence steadied it, and when the fright passed, the liquidation was resumed. Everything has been exceptional this year that I now think the stock market will be an exception, and that there will be no violent break in prices before the movement ends. This reaction has now been in progress nearly 14 months. It began early in September last year, for while highest prices were made in that month in a number of railroad stocks, the rise was manipulated by the 'Gates crowd.' There has been no interruption whatever in the subsequent movement. But historically the market declines at one time and at the same rate, it has been led by one or two prominent specialists. While these were breaking violently, the rest of the market declined in an almost imperceptible way by comparison. But the liquidation during these 14 months has at some time reached every important element on the list. This is true of Pittsburgh as well as Wall street. You will recall that while the railroads were declining early in the year the industrials held comparatively steady. Then when the industrials declined the railroad list held steady. The result has been that the whole market has been 'let down,' so to speak, by easy stages, until it is now at the lowest average for three years. Compare prices today with those of a year or so ago and you will see such losses as $63 a share in St. Paul, $55 in Pennsylvania, $50 in Baltimore & Ohio, $45 in Reading, $40 each in Southern Pacific and Union Pacific, $30 in Steel common, $47 in Steel preferred and so on. Now, if these losses had occurred within a period of one month, there would have called it the most disastrous panic ever experienced. But they were spread out over the longer period, and I therefore do not look for the usual slump that marks the end of a reaction. On the other hand, the recovery is going to be slow, but it will have been in progress a long time before the general public appreciates the fact."

There was a little firmer tone yesterday for National Biscuit preferred, Brewing, Manufacturers Light and Heat, and Westinghouse Electric. The Coal stocks and Crucible Steel were dull but steady while United States Steel was practically the only weak spot.

The quarterly dividend of 1¼ per cent on American Steel Foundries preferred is payable December 1 to stock of record November 20.

Standard Oil stock closed $5 higher at 670 bid.

The Allegheny Valley statement for September shows an increase in gross earnings of $77,-031, an increase in expenses of $73,052, and an increase in net earnings of $4,000. The net earnings for nine months increased $128,068.

The gross earnings of Brooklyn Rapid Transit are said to be averaging $3,400 a day over those for the corresponding period last year.

The gross earnings of Wabash for the second week in November increased $38,900.

The Lake Shore report for the September quarter shows a decrease in surplus of $1,022,-000.

The fact, disclosed by the Baltimore & Ohio annual report that that road had only about one-fifth of the capital stock of the Reading in its treasury, provoked much discussion. Assuming that the Lake Shore has an equal amount, the two systems together would have only 40 per cent of Reading's total capitalization. The report also shows that only a small amount of the Baltimore & Ohio holdings are of common stock. This fact was variously construed. On the one hand, the fact that the floating supply of common stock was much larger than many had supposed was argued as favoring lower prices. Others took the view that as the Baltimore & Ohio and Lake Shore had only a minority interest, they would be compelled to come into the market some time to secure enough additional stock to give them absolute control. Some critics are of the opinion that such additional purchase may already have been made.

Sterling made a sharp recovery yesterday. Part of the demand was due to purchases of bills against the gold engaged for import. There was said to be large buying of sterling for investment by bankers, the process being to purchase 60 and 30-day sterling bills to hold until maturity for the higher price likely to prevail at that time. This is, in effect, a lending of New York resources aboard for that period and operates to check the further movement of gold or to lighten the present gold requirements to pay foreign debts in New York. The fact is in itself an evidence of an easier money condition in New York. Rates for time loans, even demand for longer periods was wholly nominal.

In the effort to rehabilitate the foreign iron and steel trade to tide over domestic trade stagnation the steel makers of the United States plan to send abroad in 1904 not less than $125,000,000 or iron and steel and the products thereof. At the same time they expect to cut off practically all of the import trade in iron and steel. This year the imports have aggregated $51,617,312 and the exports $95,642,467. To swell the exports to $125,000,000 will require an increase of $28,357,433 over this year, while by reducing the imports to $30,000,000, the record of 1899, would mean an additional increase of $38,000,000 in the prospective volume of trade for home steel men. The reductions in freight for steel and iron intended for export will be a great factor in enabling the successful working out of these plans. In the appended table is shown the exports and imports of iron and steel for a number of years:

	Exports.	Imports.
1895	41,150,277	29,338,150
1899	95,716,031	12,100,449
1900	121,858,544	20,476,524
1901	117,319,320	17,874,789
1902	95,642,467	27,180,247
1903	26,642,467	51,617,312

In these comparisons it is shown that 1903 was the biggest year for imports, 1900 the best year for exports and 1895 the poorest for imports, the total that year failing to $12,100,449.

In one respect Pennsylvania is almost alone among the large railroad systems of the country. No one family or set of men controls it. Atchison is the only other large railroad property that occupies the same position. This fact renders it comparatively easy for professional operators to attack either Pennsylvania or Atchison. The Rockefellers control St. Paul absolutely; Harriman dominates Union Pacific and Southern Pacific, the Vanderbilts control the destiny of New York Central, and its associated lines; Morgan holds Southern Railway and Louisville & Nashville in his hands; Gould controls Wabash and Missouri Pacific; the Moore-Reid interests control the rest Rock Island system, while James J. Hill is undisputed master of Great Northern. If a professional raid was made on any of these roads the financial interests in control of the company would quickly come to the rescue. The Rockefellers would support St. Paul, and the same is true of the Goulds, Moores, Harriman, Hill, Morgan and Vanderbilt, with respect to their particular properties. Pennsylvania, however, has no master. No one person or institution owns a fiftieth part of the capital stock. It is owned by 40,000 separate and individual persons or banking houses. There is no person or single interest who stands ready to support Pennsylvania against professional attacks. It is a somewhat curious fact that the directors of the greatest railroad in the world are not wealthy men. The richest director was Wm. L. Elkins, and he has just died. The only way to stop a bear raid is to buy the stock on a large scale. This requires a great deal of money. No interest connected with Pennsylvania controls sufficient financial resources to protect the stock against such a savage bear raid as was made against it last week.—New York Commercial.

E. Clarence Jones & Co., members of the New York exchange, have issued an interesting sheet on the fluctuations in railroad stocks for 34 years, with changes in the financial and commercial conditions in that period which tend to influence values.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

Under normal conditions bond brokers usually begin to prepare at this season for a good market toward the end of the year and just after the January interest and dividend disbursements. Present conditions are far from normal, and yet there are indications of a better bond market. The bidding on the local list yesterday was better than for some days past, and two or three issues advanced in the bid price over recent sales. Unless all predictions fail, there will be an easier money market early in January, and by February it is expected that rates will be lower than at any time in two years. In Pittsburgh for three years past the money that was usually available for investment in the higher grade of bonds was put into bank and trust company stocks. Many of the old institutions increased their capitalization and sold the new stock at high premiums. In addition to this, many new institutions were organized and the stock sold at high premiums. New Copper Deposit Found.

MARINETTE, WIS., Nov. 17.—A copper deposit, rich in quality and of immense extent has been discovered near Carney, Michigan, about 35 miles north of Menominee. Mining experts familiar with the Calumet formation declare the deposits at Carney are exactly similar.

The Drygoods Market.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—The drygoods market has been characterized by considerable hesitancy on the part of the buyer and seller. Both sides are awaiting developments in the raw cotton market and are not prepared to say what they will do. More business of late has been remarked during the day, but a good many orders for future delivery have been refused.

LONDON, Nov. 17.—Money, 3@3½ per cent; the rate of discount for short bills is 4 1-16@4⅛ per cent; the rate of discount for three months' bills is 4 3-16@4¼ per cent. Consols for money 83 3-16; Consols for account, 83 5-16. Supplies of money rather more abundant in the market today and rates were easier. Discounts were steady on a better supply of bills, a strong American demand for gold and renewed fears of the withdrawal of England's rate of discount on Thursday next.

BERLIN, Nov. 17.—Stocks on the Bourse continued strong today under the influence of the consolidation of the Dresdner bank and the Schaffenhausen bankverein. Favorable reports regarding the steel syndicate negotiations helped the advances.

PARIS, Nov. 17.—Business on the Bourse today opened hesitatingly and there was little activity during the day. At the close the market was heavy. The private of discount was 2 15-16 per cent.

Coffee and Sugar.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—The market for coffee futures opened steady, unchanged prices to 5 points under liquidation, in the absence of pressing demand, and ruled generally quiet during the entire session. Receipts at primary points were small, and the primary markets firmer, but the European markets showed little tendency, and attempts to realize here after the opening caused prices somewhat. Toward the close, however, there was some covering by room shorts and the market was fairly steady, net unchanged to 5 points lower. John M. Montgomery Secures 212 Acres at Gibsonia for $30,000.

HIGHLAND-SEWICKLEY 'VARD

Work Progressing Handsomely on the 20-Mile Driveway—Magnificent Course for Automobiles—Belmar Houses Bring $16,000—Many Medium-Sized Sales.

John M. Montgomery, president of the Consolidated Stock Exchange, has purchased from Charles J. Gibson the well-known Gibson farm and homestead at Gibsonia on the Pittsburgh & Western railroad for $30,000. With the land, which comprises 212 acres are included the mineral rights which are considerable, coal and gas have been found on the property, are quite valuable. Besides the old Gibson residence, there are four good buildings on the farm. In part exchange for this property Montgomery tendered the property at No. 6518 Ellsworth avenue, East End, consisting of a 12-room stone front brick house with lot 31x100 feet valued at $12,000, and a six-room frame house, lot 25x100 feet, in Ontario street, Sheridan, valued at $3,300. The balance of the deal was cash.

The farm Mr. Montgomery secured is only 14 miles from the city and is admirably adapted for laying out in plots of 10 acres or less for summer homes. The purchase was made especially to secure a summer country home for the new owner, but it is probable that a number of such parcels will be sold off next year.

Boulevard Is Being Pushed Rapidly.

The most interesting development that has taken place in the suburbs for some time and affecting suburban real estate is the boulevard from Highland park to Sewickley, on which work is now being pushed at several points. From the park the boulevard will run over the hill to Aspinwall, thence by Spring Hill and East street to Watson park. From here it goes out Termon avenue, along the brow of the hill to Miller street, Bellevue, and Jackman street, Avalon. The remainder of the distance to Sewickley will be along a road paralleling the Brighton road, but about 250 feet north of it. The total distance will be about 20 miles and as the boulevard will be macadamized the entire distance an automobile can start at the court house and going by way of the Grant boulevard and Schenley park have a continuous drive over smooth asphalt to Sewickley.

There will be several bridges on the route, one in half the cost of which will be borne by Allegheny county and the other half by the boroughs which they connect. A force of men is now cutting away the timber in Bellevue and Avalon, and the bridge over the ravine at the foot of Home avenue, Bellevue, is also under way. Through Bellevue and Avalon the boulevard will parallel Lincoln and California avenues, and will afford what has been much needed for years, a 66-foot street running north and south between these avenues and the Ohio river. A large amount of vacant frontage in these boroughs and beyond them will be opened up for the market by the proposed improvement.

The contract for the Nicholas Wolf hotel in Fifth avenue, McKeesport, has been awarded to F. E. Shallenrager of this city, the estimated cost being $25,000. The hotel will be three stories high and will cover a lot 50x60 feet.

Stores in Glassport.

Architect C. L. Phillips has awarded to Thomas Reynolds the contract for two store and flat buildings to be erected by W. J. Boyd in Monongahela avenue, Glassport, at a cost of $20,000.

Plans are being prepared by Architect Edward Stotz for an addition to the plant of the Pittsburgh Brewing Company at Carson and Thirty-third streets, Southside.

Four more houses in Belmar place, Twenty-first ward, have been sold by the Park Land Company for $16,000, the buyer being Henry McKnight. The houses are 10-room bricks on lots 25x90 feet, two or them facing in Hermitage street and two on the north side of Monticello street.

CABBAGE MARKET STRONG; OTHER PRODUCE IS WEAK

Refined Oil Advanced—Today Grapes Dropped About 25 Per Cent.

The produce market in general was weak yesterday. Cabbage was strong and advanced considerably, both the domestic cabbage and the Danish. Parsnips, water cress and egg plant are quoted lower than yesterday; also Kalamazoo celery and home lettuce. The present weather conditions are not conducive to a strong produce market.

Refined oil took a jump of ¼@1½c yesterday. Water white oil is now quoted at 14@14½c. There is a good demand for rice and the market is firm in coffee, flour and sugar at the prices quoted. The market for groceries is growing stronger as the cold weather increases. Shellbarks were the only nuts to change and they have advanced 25c a bushel.

The feature of the tropical fruit market yesterday was the advent of five cars of tokay grapes, which knocked the bottom out of the market in this commodity. Tokay grapes which were selling for $2 00, and the market was strong, too, can now be purchased for $1 50. This was a big and sudden drop and the market was stimulated by the lower prices. It is said that many people, and especially Italians, who had not put up their winter's supply of home-made wine on account of the scarcity of grapes and the prevailing high prices, will now buy large quantities of tokays.

The poultry market is growing firmer as Thanksgiving approaches. The quotations were unchanged yesterday except for an advance of a cent in turkeys. Rabbits are about the only game in the market and the demand for them is fair.

The hay, grain and feed market was dull yesterday. The uncertainty of the present conditions forces the dealers to be wary. The amount of grain coming in daily is about a half of the daily consumption. There is a large amount of oats stored in Pittsburgh. Dealers are of the impression that the market will soon be stronger. Hay continues firm.

Horse Market.

The demand for horses continues to fall off and there is a large supply for sale. The horse market was exceptionally dull yesterday. One hundred horses were offered for sale in the exchange. Most of them were work horses, with a fair sprinkling of roaders. The prevailing prices were low. Horses of good stock have a fair market.

PROSPECT FOR NEW DEVELOPMENTS ARE STILL VERY UNCERTAIN

Developments in the lower southwest fields are still dragging along in a way that arouses no interest. The discovery of any new producing territory is still very uncertain and the field continues to be located as to claim but little attention.

In the Fink Creek district, Doddridge county, the South Penn Oil Company has drilled in its No. 3 on the Brint Maxwell farm and has a small gasser in the Gordon. In the Salem district, Harrison county, the same company has completed its No. 6 on the Thomas Welch farm and has a 10-barrel pumper in the Gordon. In the same district, the South Penn Oil Company has drilled its test on the J. D. Brand farm through the fifth sand and has a duster. After passing through the cap no fifth sand formation was found at this location. When the Gordon was drilled through a little show of oil was developed and it will be shot in that formation and may make a small pumper.

In the old Fairview district in Marion county, the South Penn Company has drilled its No. 9 on the Wilson heirs' farm into the fifth sand and the hole has filled up 600 feet with fluid. It is still drilling and is expected to encounter another pay.

In the Folsom district, Wetzel county, the B. F. Heldreth has been drilled 31 feet into the Gordon and has filled up 1,500 feet with fluid.

On the west side of the Pine Grove extension, the Linden Oil Company has drilled its test on the Wylie Clark farm into the stray 21 feet and the hole has filled up 400 feet with fluid. It is still drilling and stands a good show for getting another pay. In the north end of the same district, E. H. Jennings & Bros. have placed a packer in their No. 2 on the J. N. Crimm farm and the well is producing at the rate of 20 barrels a day.

On Buck run, Green district, Wetzel county, the Linden Oil Company's test on the A. Bridgeman farm is showing for a very light pumper.

In the Marietta district, on the Ohio side in Washington county, R. G. Gillespie has completed his No. 9 on the Cone heirs' farm and has a 75-barrel producer in the first Cow Run sand. In the same district, A. A. Cameron has completed his No. 3 on the J. W. Robinson farm and has a duster. A. A. Cameron has also drilled his well on the J. A. Arnold farm through the Cow Run sand and found that formation barren. This well will be drilled to the Big Injun. In the Wilking district, in the same county, Alexander & Lane Bros. have completed No. 6 on the E. Decker farm and have a 5-barrel pumper. Near Rainbow in the same district, Bogard & Co. have drilled in their test on the H. M. Stein farm and have a show for a 10-barrel pumper.

In the shallow sand territory near Chester Hill, Morgan county, H. L. Koester & Co. have completed No. 5 on the M. Adrain farm and will not have better than a 3-barrel pumper. Carl Patterson's No. 13 on the G. O. Mercer farm is not good for more than 5 barrels a day. In the same district the Todd Oil Company's No. 5 on the Elizabeth Wood farm is a very light pumper. North of Underriffe, Allegheny county, Pa., the American Natural Gas Company's No. 1 on the Leight farm is holding up at 110 barrels a day.

WHEAT AGAIN BRACES ON NEW BULL REPORTS

Closed Higher in the Chicago Pits, as Did Corn and Oats.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 17.—A bullish sentiment pervaded the wheat market, and there was an unusually good demand throughout the session from local traders, which resulted in big advances in prices. The earlier market was easier on selling by scalpers, who were influenced by the favorable weather and lower cables, and December opened a shade higher to ¼c lower at 76¼@76½c, but later a good demand developed from St. Louis houses and northwest traders and the market became firmer. Moderate receipts in the northwest, with higher prices in all outside markets were instrumental in starting the buying movement which resulted in an urgent demand during the latter half of the session. A report that the Manitoba crop had been reduced 35,000,000 bushels induced considerable covering by shorts late in the day as well as buying by commission houses, and closing prices were at the top. Primary receipts were 1,400,200 bushels, against 1,232,100 bushels a year ago. Minneapolis, Chicago and Duluth reported receipts of 990 cars against 1,544 cars last week, and 929 cars a year ago.

Corn was under selling pressure at the outset, especially the December option, and the market for a time showed further weakness. A bear motive was had in the cold weather which prevailed throughout the western and central states. The strength in wheat, however, soon dissipated the bearish feeling, and shorts became active buyers. May was in good demand the entire day from professional buying and the strength of that month helped the December delivery, which was inclined to an easier tone due to lower cables and the unsatisfactory condition of the cash situation. Local receipts were 338 cars, with 28 of contract grade.

After some hesitation at the start the oats market became strong. Good buying by commission houses freed the pit of surplus offerings and local traders, finding that they had oversold the market, covered freely on the advance. Closing prices were strong. Local receipts were 271 cars.

Except from a moderate recovery from its decline of yesterday there was little feature to the provision market. Selling January and buying May lard for the account of a local packer was the feature in trading. January pork closed unchanged at $11 47½; January lard was a shade higher at $6 67½@6 70. Ribs were 2½c higher at $6 10.

SENATOR SMOOT SCORED AGAIN

CLAIM UTAH BROKE FAITH

Text of Resolution Says Smoot as an Apostle of Mormonism Cannot Be a Legal Citizen—Congress Is to Be Memorialized.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

CINCINNATI, O., Nov. 17.—The Women's Christian Temperance Union at its session today elected officers and then devoted the remainder of the day to consideration of the resolutions. The ballots were practically unanimous for the following officers:

President, Mrs. Lillian M. N. Stevens, Portland, Me.; recording secretary, Mrs. Clara C. Hoffman, Kansas City, Mo.; treasurer, Mrs. Helen Morton Barker, Evanston, Ill. Mrs. Clara Parrish Wright, Paris, Ill., was elected branch secretary of the Young Woman's branch, and Mrs. Helen G. Rice, Roxbury, Mass., branch secretary of the Loyal Temperance legion. The president named Miss Anna A. Gordon, of Evanston, Ill., as vice president-at-large. The recording secretary nominated Mrs. Frances E. Beauchamp as assistant recording secretary. Both nominations were confirmed.

Long discussion was given to the polygamy clause and its final form was fixed after an Oklahoma delegate objected to the proposition that no more states be admitted to the union until an anti-polygamy amendment to the national constitution had been adopted.

Mrs. Weed insisted that Senator Reed Smoot, as an elder in the Mormon church, is under the most solemn obligation to uphold the doctrine and purpose of the Mormon church which is the overthrow of the United States government and the substitution of another government which is that of the Mormon church. The resolution adopted was as follows:

We believe that polygamy is both taught and practiced in the United States and that there is abundant proof to substantiate the claims that Utah has broken faith with the United States in this matter. We ask congress to provide for an amendment to the Constitution of the United States forever prohibiting polygamy. We also believe that an apostle of the Mormon hierarchy cannot be a loyal citizen of this republic because of his vows to another organization separate and distinct from the United States of America, and not subordinate to it, but claiming superiority over it.

We therefore ask that Mr. Reed Smoot be excluded from the United States senate on the ground that his highest allegiance is given to a government other than that of the United States. We believe this to be a civil question which should not be obscured by religious or ecclesiastical claims.

Resolved, That we authorize our president and secretary to memorialize congress for an anti-polygamy amendment to the Constitution of the United States in furtherance of which we urge educational methods in every state as looking toward the confirmation of this congressional act.

ORPHANAGE ASSURED.

Legal Obstacles Presented in the Elkins Will to Be Easily Overcome.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 17.—(Special.)—Despite the decision of the register of wills of Montgomery county, declaring illegal the bequest of $250,000 made in the will of William L. Elkins for a Masonic orphanage, Gen. Louis Wagner, with whom the late financial confided his plans, has no fear of the outcome.

He stated today that in due time the wish of Mr. Elkins will be carried out in its entirety. The legal obstacles, if any exist, he said, would be overcome.

THE REV. W. J. HOLLAND

By His Advanced Stand for an Improvement in School Curricula and Methods of Teaching, Confers a Benefit Upon the Community.

Dr. Holland, as chairman of the committee, in reporting to the Pittsburgh chamber of commerce, urges that our schools give more attention to history and geography, "and those studies which will give a more practical knowledge of the world and its peoples." President Wilson of Princeton must have recognized the defect in our school system to which Dr. Holland refers, when he said, "The great trouble with the American people is their provincialism." One remedy for this is suggested by Prof. Koopman, librarian of Brown university, who said, "No one can read the Stoddard lectures and remain provincial." In this connection we reprint a portion of an article which appeared in The Gazette September 24.

"It does not require a very careful study of conditions to convince one that the great natural resources of this section are a guarantee that Allegheny county is to become the great manufacturing center of the world. This means that many new conditions will be created and new social and other problems will arise incident to the cosmopolitan character of men a community. It also means that, to handle these questions properly, the present and future citizens of the section must familiarize themselves with the social and political conditions that prevail in the countries whence will come a great number who will make their home here. It will also be necessary for the business man to know something about the other countries of the world in order that he may take advantage of the markets which they offer for his commodities. The business man can no longer afford to remain provincial. He must possess and build a wonderful and thorough knowledge of the world, which can be obtained only through his own personal experience, gained by long, tedious and expensive visits to other lands, or by utilizing the information furnished by well-equipped and experienced travelers who have made a specialty of the subject. For the great majority of people the latter course is the best, especially since John L. Stoddard, through the medium of his travel lectures, has brought the whole world to our very homes.

"Men of affairs are enthusiastic about the lectures, because they furnish a convenient and needed relaxation from business cares.

"Educators most heartily recommend them because they are broadening and cultural and furnish a wealth of needed information not otherwise obtainable.

"Clergymen of all denominations unite in indorsing them because they appeal to the best that is in human nature, and, by presenting in an interesting and graphic form the wonderful works of God, they inspire a deeper interest in their Creator.

"No other work has received such a cordial reception from our people, which speaks well not only for the merits of the lectures, but for the intelligence of our citizens."

The lectures can be obtained at a fraction of their former cost, and on easy payments. If you have not seen them, do not miss the opportunity. Send a postal at once to "Stoddard Lectures" Room 304, 607 Center avenue, Pittsburgh, for information about them. Do so before the special offer is withdrawn.

WILLIAMS' DELUSION DOES NOT EXCUSE GREEN MURDER

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—In an exclusive interview regarding the criminal responsibility of the negro, Cornelius M. Williams, the murderer of Andrew H. Green, William L. Clark, the noted author of law books and one of the best known authorities on criminal law and procedure in America said today that from a legal standpoint the status of Williams was identical with that of Guiteau, who murdered President Garfield. In discussing the case Mr. Clarke said:

"When people assume that the negro Williams is not criminally responsible as the murderer of Mr. Green, on the ground that he was insane they show ignorance of the principles of law which determine the responsibility of a person non compos mentis for crime. The only ground upon which the irresponsibility of Williams is based is that he was laboring under an insane delusion that Mr. Green had balked his pursuit of a woman who had slandered him, or in other words, had injured him. That is not such insanity as will excuse, if Williams knew that his act was wrong. The case of Guiteau who murdered President Garfield is in point. In that case Guiteau was laboring under the insane delusion that President Garfield should be removed for the good of the country. It was held that this was no defense. Judge Cox said: 'An insane delusion is never the result of reasoning and reflection.'

"When men reason the law requires them to reason correctly as far as their practical duties are concerned. When they have the capacity to distinguish between right and wrong, they are bound to do it. A man may reason himself into a conviction of the expediency and patriotic character of political assassination, but to allow him to find shelter behind that belief, as an insane delusion, would be monstrous.

"So in regard to Williams it can be safely said that he is fully responsible for the murder of Mr. Green, if he had sufficient mental capacity to distinguish between right and wrong as to his act. If he knew that it was wrong for him to kill Mr. Green he is responsible, although he may have acted under a delusion that Mr. Green had injured him."

TOLD WIFE TO PRAY, THEN SHOT HER TWICE

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—Reserves from the Mercer street police station were called out to put back a crowd that seemed on the point of breaking into a tenement today to seize Christian Catisini, an Austrian, who, after shooting his wife Gotrini, cut his own throat.

It was in the presence of their four-year-old son that Catisini, who is 40 years old, shot his 34-year-old wife in their apartments this morning. The man then sat down on the side of his bed and cut his throat. Both were taken to the St. Vincent hospital, where the physicians said that both would probably die.

According to the woman's story, her husband suddenly entered and told her to pray, as she was going to die. She was forced to her knees, she says, and told to pray quickly. Then, while kneeling, her husband shot her in the neck. She jumped up, ran out of the kitchen, closing the door, which has a pane of ground glass in it, behind her. The man then fired again, the shot shattering the glass and striking her in the left breast. The woman snatched up her little boy and tried to carry him down the stairs with. Her strength would not allow her to do it, however, and she ran down by herself.

INSURANCE MEN ASK FOR LEGISLATION

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—Messrs. Cockrell and Dryden today presented to the senate an address from a committee representing the insurance companies of the country asking for legislation looking to the prohibition of the use of the mails by bogus insurance companies by so extending the lottery laws as to make them applicable to those concerns, and Senator Dryden introduced a bill to carry the petition into effect.

In representing his petition Senator Cockrell referred to the insurance companies against whom the proceeding is directed as "get rich quick concerns." The insurance committee in their address say that "the public is being imposed upon to a larger extent by these unworthy concerns claiming to be insurance companies than by any other class of frauds."

Representative Gaines of Tennessee, in the house, introduced a bill aimed at such insurance companies.

MORE RAIL ORDERS.

Between 600,000 and 700,000 Tons Booked for 1904 Delivery.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—(Special.)—It is announced that orders have been placed by the railroads for between 600,000 and 700,000 tons of steel rails for delivery in 1904. This is about one-fourth of the total of the current year's production. The orders are considered as very satisfactory when it is taken into account that the railroads are acting with conservatism in ordering equipment for next year.

It is estimated that the Steel Corporation has orders from abroad for 200,000 tons, exclusive of the orders of the books of the American Steel and Wire Company. A manufacturer is quoted as saying that it is possible that the Steel Corporation and independent companies might export next year 750,000 tons of steel.

SOCIALISTS IN MIDST OF FRAY

Battling for Recognition in the American Federation of Labor.

BIG DEBATE IN PROGRESS

Spectators Cheered the Champion of the Political Theory and Were Ejected from the Convention by President Gompers.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

BOSTON, Nov. 17.—The question of whether the organization should commit itself to the doctrines of socialism came before the delegates to the convention of the American Federation of Labor at its session today. The question was not answered, as shortly before six o'clock an adjournment was taken until tomorrow when the debate will be resumed.

Some nine resolutions favoring public ownership and the organization of a political party to bring about conditions the socialists seek were reported on unfavorably by the committee on resolutions. At once the long arranged plan of the socialist delegates to fight for the adoption of their principles was put into operation by Delegate Hayes of Cleveland. He offered a substitute for the committee's report, but was ruled out of order.

At this point the applause from the spectators led President Gompers to announce that he would order the galleries cleared if the applause was continued. His remark was received with hisses. Thereupon he ordered the spectators to leave. There was a great deal of confusion, and at the end the ejected people, numbering several hundred, assembled outside Faneuil hall and adopted resolutions condemning President Gompers for his action. Meantime the debate was resumed by the delegates.

Delegate Hayes and other socialists spoke at length against the committee's report, while the committee's position was supported by Delegate Lennon, the treasurer of the Federation. Just before adjournment the ejected spectators were permitted to re-enter the hall.

BRAIN FOOD

Is of Little Benefit Unless It Is Digested.

Nearly everyone will admit that as a nation we eat too much meat and too little of vegetables and the grains.

For business men, office men and clerks, and in fact everyone engaged in sedentary or indoor occupations, grains, milk and vegetables are much more healthful.

Only men engaged in a severe outdoor manual labor can live on a heavy meat diet and continue in health.

As a general rule, meat once a day is sufficient for all classes of men, women and children, and grains, fruit and vegetables should consitute the bulk of food eaten.

But many of the most nutritious foods are difficult of digestion and it is of no use to advise brain workers to eat largely of grains and vegetables where the digestion is too weak to assimilate them properly.

It is always best to get the best results from our food that some simple and harmless digestive should be taken after meals to assist the relaxed digestive organs and several years' experience have proven Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets to be a very safe, pleasant and effective digestive and a remedy which may be taken daily with the best results.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets can hardly be called a patent medicine, as they do not act on the bowels nor any particular organ but only on the food eaten. They supply what weak stomachs lack, pepsin diastase and by stimulating the gastric glands increase the natural secretion of hydrochloric acid.

People who make a daily practice of taking one or two of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after each meal are sure to have perfect digestion which means perfect health.

There is no danger of forming an injurious habit as the tablets contain absolutely nothing but natural digestives; cocaine, morphine and similar drugs have no place in a stomach medicine and Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are certainly the best known and most popular of all stomach remedies.

Ask your druggist for a fifty cent package of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets and after a week's use note the improvement in health, appetite and nervous energy.
